U.S. SOCCER CELEBRATING 100 YEARS

As the governing body of soccer in all its forms in the United States, U.S. Soccer has played an integral part in charting the course for the sport in the USA for 100 years. In that time, the Federation's mission statement has been clear and simple: to make soccer, in all its forms, a preeminent sport in the United States and to continue the development of soccer at all recreational and competitive levels.

U.S. Soccer is celebrating its Centennial in 2013, and over the course of a century the sport's exponential growth has been nothing short of remarkable.

From a viewership standpoint, nearly 20 million Americans watched the Round of 16 match at the 2010 FIFA World Cup on television. Soccer-specific stadiums have opened their doors to resounding success. The National Training Center in Carson, Calif., in its 10th year of existence, has been a valuable facility for all levels, including the U.S. Soccer Development Academy, which kicked off at the state-of-the-art complex with much fanfare in 2007.

In 1989, the U.S. Men's National Team had not played in a World Cup in 40 years and the U.S. Women's program was in its early stages. U.S. Soccer was playing games in small stadiums that did not reach capacity, few matches were televised, soccer-specific stadiums were yet to be created and there were no high-level professional outdoor leagues.

Since that time, the state of U.S. Soccer has evolved significantly. Entering 2013, the U.S. MNT played in six consecutive FIFA World Cups and advanced to the quarterfinals at the 2002 event. U.S. Soccer is a world leader in women's soccer at every level, and the U.S. WNT has won two FIFA Women's World Cups and four Olympic Gold Medals – an accomplishment that no other country on the men's and women's side has reached in Olympic competition. The United States has also hosted three World Cups with the support of its members and strong organizational abilities.

Professionally, Major League Soccer continues to grow in popularity and prestige with 19 teams throughout North America, as well as increasing attendance and viewership. Also of significant importance, MLS features 14 clubs competing in 13 soccer-specific stadiums. On the women's side, the U.S. Soccer Federation is administering the launch of the National Women's Soccer League in 2013. U.S. Soccer is subsidizing the salaries of up to 23 U.S. WNT players while the Canadian Soccer Association and Federation of Mexican Football are doing the same for up to 16 players.

From a coaching standpoint in the United States, more classes are continually being offered around the country, and the number of licensed, well-educated trainers and managers is larger than ever. The education level among coaches has been tailored to match the expanding pool of talent in the U.S.

U.S. Soccer continues to set positive trends for referees in CONCACAF, with reinvigorated focus on education and training, including the realm of professional referees. In 2012, U.S. Soccer and MLS created the Professional Referee Organization (PRO) to manage the referee program in professional soccer leagues in the U.S. and Canada. The creation of PRO has been designed to increase the quality of officiating in U.S. and Canadian professional leagues, develop more professional quality officials at a younger age and develop officials who will represent the United States and Canada in FIFA competitions.

Participation in soccer continues at high levels among both youth and adults, with more than 4.3 million registered players among the 24 million participants in the sport, according to the FIFA Big Count.

For more information on all U.S. Soccer programs, visit the official organization website at ussoccer.com.

U.S. SOCCER FEDERATION - HISTORY

Throughout the 100-year history of U.S. Soccer, the organization has been known by three different names:

- U.S. Foot Ball Association – 1913-1944
- U.S. Soccer Football Association – 1945-1973
- U.S. Soccer Federation – 1974-Current

100 YEARS IN THE MAKING

U.S. Soccer's Centennial Celebration in 2013 Chronicles Federation's Rich History and Bright Future

For the past century, soccer in the United States has progressed to new heights with each passing decade. There have been a number of defining moments along the way that have demonstrated the impressive growth of the sport in the United States.

Among the early portion of the history books was Archie Stark, whose goal scoring exploits of the 1920s hold acclaim to this day.

Joe Gaetjens and the U.S. Men shocked the world with a 1-0 victory against heavily favored England at the 1950 FIFA World Cup in Brazil – a win that in some circles was assumed a misprint.

In 1989, Paul Caligiuri's goal from 35 yards out against Trinidad & Tobago clinched the USA's first appearance in the World Cup since 1950.

The U.S. hosted its first FIFA World Cup in 1994 across nine different cities. The 3.5 million that attended the 52 matches is unprecedented in World Cup history and catapulted the game to a new level in the USA.

The U.S. Women's National Team, which was born in the mid-1980s, has showcased its world dominance over nearly three decades with FIFA Women's World Cup crowns in 1991 and 1999, the latter drawing more than 90,000 fans for the championship victory against China PR on July 10. The U.S. WNT has also won an unparalleled four gold medals in Olympic competition, most recently the 2012 London Olympics.

These events barely scratch the surface of U.S. Soccer's history as the Federation moves into its Centennial in 2013. Together with its membership, U.S. Soccer is embarking on a yearlong celebration to honor its history, paying tribute to the progress made and demonstrate a future with unlimited potential.

The yearlong celebration includes the creation of a commemorative book featuring articles, interviews and photos from U.S. Soccer's archives, historic content on ussoccer.com with rare photos, unique videos and engaging interviews, and several unique grassroots activities in conjunction with its membership to help honor the milestone.

Among some of the content on ussoccer.com includes the regular "100 Moments" feature – a handpicked selection of historic feats and events over the past century consisting of articles, audio and video segments. The "Hidden Caps" feature chronicles players who earned only a few appearances during their career, providing the back story of these unknown but interesting stories. Former National Team players will also catch up with U.S. Soccer to chat about their post-playing days in "Where Are They Now."

Fans can look forward to specific Centennial events in 2013, including a celebration of the Federation's 100th anniversary on April 5, 2013, and a weekend during the summer that features a U.S. Men's National Team match, U.S. Soccer's Annual General Meeting and a number of activities for supporters.

"There is an incredibly rich and varied history of soccer in the United States in the last 100 years, and the Centennial offers a wonderful opportunity to honor the achievements of so many, and to look forward as we continue to grow the game," U.S. Soccer President Sunil Gulati said. "The passion, commitment and vision of our membership has been the bedrock of all that has been accomplished here, and we are excited about bringing into focus the stories and people that have contributed so much to our success."

JURGEN KLINSMANN

Head Coach: U.S. Men's National Team

Born: July 30, 1964 in Gingen, Germany

U.S. Soccer President Sunil Gulati named Jurgen Klinsmann as head coach of the U.S. Men's National Team on July 29, 2011, making him the 35th coach in the history of the program.

Klinsmann has been involved in soccer almost his entire life as a player, coach, television analyst and consultant. As a player, Klinsmann was one of the game's premier forwards and enjoyed a 17-year career that included stints in four major European leagues for a number of clubs, including VfB Stuttgart, Inter Milan, AS Monaco, Tottenham Hotspur and Bayern Munich. One of the most well-known international players of all-time, he earned 108 appearances for Germany and scored 47 goals while helping the team win the 1990 FIFA World Cup in Italy and the 1996 European Championship.

Klinsmann also has a famed coaching career and was named manager of the German National Team in 2004. He guided Germany to a 20-8-6 record and a third place finish in the 2006 FIFA World Cup, earning him Coach of the Year honors in Germany. Two years later, Klinsmann took over the head coaching position at Bayern Munich.

Since his time in Germany, Klinsmann has worked in television broadcasting, is a partner in the sports marketing consulting agency SportsSolutions and signed on with Toronto FC as a consultant.

Klinsmann began playing soccer from a young age in his hometown of Gingen. As a 14-year old, he joined the youth program of Stuttgarter Kickers and signed a professional contract with them two years later. He made his debut at the age of 17 for the Kickers in the second division Bundesliga.

In 1984, he was signed by VfB Stuttgart, where he helped the club reach the German Cup final in 1986 and the UEFA Cup final in 1989. In 1988, Klinsmann was the top-scorer in the Bundesliga and was named Player of the Year in Germany.

Klinsmann made his national team debut in 1987 against Brazil. He participated in the 1988 Olympics in Seoul, South Korea, where he helped his team earn the bronze medal. In 1990, Klinsmann also helped his team win the 1990 FIFA World Cup with stellar performances throughout the tournament.

In 1989, Klinsmann joined Internazionale in Italy, and won the Italian Super Cup that same year and the UEFA Cup in 1991. Starting in 1992, Klinsmann played with AS Monaco of the French League 1, and then joined Tottenham Hotspur of the English Premier League in 1994.

In 1995, Klinsmann returned to Germany to play with Bayern Munich, where he helped Bayern win the UEFA Cup in 1996 by notching a record 15 goals in 12 matches. In 1997, Klinsmann played with Sampdoria of Italy and then joined Tottenham of the EPL mid-season, where he would close out his professional club career.

Klinsmann retired as a professional player after the 1998 World Cup. He had played 17 seasons with four major soccer clubs, scoring 226 goals in 506 appearances. Klinsmann also notched 108 caps with the German national team, scoring 47 goals. He represented his country in three European Championships (1988, 1992 and 1996), including winning in 1996. He also participated in three World Cups (1990, 1994 and 1998), including winning in 1990. He was named team captain of Germany from 1994 to 1998.

After retiring as a player, he moved to the United States with his wife, Debbie, and they currently reside in California with their two children, Jonathan and Laila.

Klinsmann was well-prepared to become a coach after his club experiences in the top European leagues. He learned from very successful managers and learned various tactical systems that emphasized different styles of play. In June of 2000, he earned his German Football Teacher License.

In 2004, Klinsmann became the Technical Advisor for the LA Galaxy of Major League Soccer. In July of the same year, the German Football Federation asked Klinsmann to become manager of the German National Team.

Klinsmann melded young players with proven veterans and emphasized fitness and an aggressive, attacking style of play. He led Germany to third place at the 2006 FIFA World Cup and retired with a winning record of 20-6-8 after the tournament. Despite stepping aside as Germany's manager after the World Cup, he left a foundation for ongoing success, including the core of the German National Team coaching staff and players.

In July of 2008, Klinsmann became the head coach of his old club, Bayern Munich where he aided in the design of a new player development and performance center. Bayern reached the quarterfinal of the Champions League that year, going 25-9-9 in all competitions under Klinsmann.

Klinsmann was hired as head coach for the U.S. Men's National Team on July 29, 2011, and made his debut with the team in a friendly match on Aug. 10, 2011, against Mexico in Philadelphia.

ANDREAS HERZOG

Assistant Coach:
U.S. Men's National Team
Born: Sept. 10, 1968,
in Vienna, Austria
Hometown:
Vienna, Austria

Andreas Herzog joins the coaching staff of the U.S. Men's National Team after an accomplished career at the club and international level. In addition to his assistant coaching duties on the field, the most-capped player in Austrian history will serve as the USA's primary liaison to players, coaches and clubs in Europe.

Herzog enjoyed an 18-year professional career that spanned three leagues in Europe and the United States. Beginning his playing days at Rapid Vienna, he moved on to eight seasons in the German Bundesliga that were highlighted by a UEFA Cup championship in 1996 with Bayern Munich, where he played alongside Jurgen Klinsmann. He spent his final season as a professional in 2004 playing for the LA Galaxy in MLS.

Making 103 appearances for Austria and scoring 26 goals from his central midfield position, Herzog is a two-time World Cup veteran. Featuring against the United States in Austria's 2-1 victory in the 1990 FIFA World Cup, he went on to convert a penalty against Italy in France '98.

Herzog served as an assistant coach for the Austria National Team for two years before assuming the role of head coach of the Austria U-21 National Team in 2009.

MARTIN VASQUEZ

Assistant Coach:
U.S. Men's National Team
Born: Dec. 24, 1963,
in Yahualica, Mexico
Hometown:
West Covina, Calif.

Martin Vasquez has an intimate knowledge of soccer in the United States, and brings a wealth of playing and coaching experience at the highest levels to Jurgen Klinsmann's staff.

He played professionally in both Major League Soccer and the Primera Division in Mexico, and also represented both the United States and Mexico at the international level. Vasquez spent three years playing for Universidad de Guadalajara from 1987-90, before moving to Puebla (1990-91) and Veracruz (1991-92). His most successful stop in Mexico was a four-year stay with Atlas, which he made over 100 appearances from 1992-96. Vasquez was allocated to the Tampa Bay Mutiny of Major League Soccer in the league's inaugural season in 1996, and his outstanding play as a defensive midfielder earned him a spot in the MLS All-Star Game that season. He enjoyed two seasons in Tampa Bay and one final campaign with the San Jose Clash in 1998 before retiring from the playing field, wrapping up a 17-year professional career before shifting his focus to coaching.

After his playing days, Vasquez cut his coaching teeth for a handful of years at the high school, collegiate levels and also coached in Women's United Soccer Association (WUSA) before re-joining the ranks of MLS as an assistant on the sidelines of both tenants of The Home Depot Center – the LA Galaxy (2004) and Chivas USA (2005-08).

Vasquez would then have the rare opportunity to expand his coaching horizons in Europe, joining Bayern Munich for its 2008-09 Bundesliga campaign under Klinsmann. In December of 2009, Vasquez got the opportunity to return to Chivas USA, this time as the team's head coach, a post which he manned for the squad's 2010 season.

CHRIS WOODS

Goalkeeper Coach:
U.S. Men's National Team
Born: Nov. 14, 1959,
in Lincolnshire, England
Hometown:
Boston, England

Chris Woods possesses decades of goalkeeping knowledge and brings his expertise to Jurgen Klinsmann's staff, having played and coached at the highest level of English soccer. Woods joined the U.S. Men's National Team staff in October 2011 as the goalkeeper coach.

Woods enjoyed a playing career that lasted more than 20 years and included multiple league championships and two FIFA World Cups. Woods began his career as an apprentice goalkeeper at Nottingham Forest in 1976. He earned the chance to make an impression in the 1978 Football League Cup as Forest reached the final against Liverpool. Woods kept a clean sheet in the first game – which ended 0-0 – and the replay as Forest went on to win the Cup in a 1-0 victory. The 18-year-old became the youngest player to appear in a League Cup final.

Woods left Forest in 1979 to join Queens Park Rangers, where he made 63 appearances before signing with Norwich City. There, Woods established himself as the first-choice goalkeeper, putting in more than 200 performances in his time with the club. At Norwich, he won his second League Cup championship after his side defeated Sunderland 1-0 at Wembley in 1985 and minded the posts as the team earned promotion to the First Division.

Woods signed for Rangers in 1986 and won both the Scottish Premier League and the Scottish League Cup in his first season. During that same season, Woods played 1,196 minutes from November to January without conceding a goal, setting a new British record. By the time he left Rangers in 1991, he had won the Scottish Premier League and the Scottish League Cup an additional three times each.

Woods signed with Sheffield Wednesday and returned to English football for the next five seasons, including a year on loan with Reading, before he came to the U.S. and joined the Colorado Rapids. Woods spent a year in MLS and returned to England to see out his playing career. He retired in 1998.

With the England National Team, Woods became a two-time World Cup veteran, traveling to Mexico in 1986 and Italy in 1990. He was between the posts as England qualified for two European Championships, and Woods was the first-choice keeper for the 1992 tournament, keeping clean sheets in his first two games of the competition. Over his international career, Woods accumulated 43 caps, both his first and last coming against the U.S.

After his retirement from goalkeeping, Woods linked up with his former Rangers head coach Walter Smith, who was then the manager at Everton. Woods remained at Everton, guiding some of England and the U.S.'s top goalkeeping talents including Nigel Martyn, Richard Wright and Tim Howard.

Known for his fearless attacking spirit, Agudelo continues the maturation process as a forward. Injuries and decreased playing time with his club limited his role in the U.S. Men's National Team in 2012 following a year where he made a career-high 14 appearances. The striker was the first product of the U.S. Soccer Development Academy to make an appearance for the U.S. Men's National Team, scoring in his debut when the U.S. defeated South Africa 1-0 to win the 2010 Nelson Mandela Challenge in Cape Town, South Africa. With the goal, the New York Red Bulls Academy alum became the youngest U.S. player to score in the modern era.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Finished second on the team in appearances with 14 in 2011
- Scored a goal on his debut against South Africa on Nov. 17, 2010, becoming the youngest modern-era player to score for the U.S.
- Three-semester alumnus of the U.S. Under-17 Residency Program (Fall 2008, Spring 2009, Fall 2009)
- As a 17-year-old in 2010, started for the New York Red Bulls in both MLS Cup Playoff matches against San Jose
- Became the first player in New York Red Bulls history to join the first team from the Academy

Dempsey's craftiness, unpredictability and fearlessness meshed with his defensive acumen have made him a potent threat for both club and country. Becoming the second U.S. player in history to score in multiple World Cups when he tallied the tying goal against England in 2010, it was his bravery and commitment that opened the door to Landon Donovan's game-winner against Algeria. The dazzling midfielder has consistently shown his mettle as a big-game player, scoring in consecutive matches against Egypt, Spain and Brazil during the USA's historic run to the 2009 FIFA Confederations Cup final. He has amassed 10 career goals in qualifying, good for a second place tie on the all-time U.S. list. After establishing his credentials as a bona fide goalscorer in the Premier League by becoming Fulham's all-time leader with 50 league goals, he welcomed a new challenge by signing with Tottenham Hotspur.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Voted the 2012 U.S. Soccer Male Athlete of the Year, earning the honor for the second consecutive time and third overall
- Led the team in scoring for the second straight year, tallying six goals. His 30 career strikes are good for a third-place tie with Brian McBride on the USA's all-time leaderboard.
- Scored the game-tying goal against England in the USA's opening match of the 2010 FIFA World Cup, becoming only the second U.S. player in history at the time to score in multiple World Cups
- After picking up Man of the Match honors and scoring in both the win against Egypt and the semifinal victory against No. 1-ranked Spain, the crafty Dempsey earned the Bronze Ball at the 2009 Confederations Cup for his outstanding attacking play
- Scored the USA's lone credited goal in the 2006 FIFA World Cup, leveling the score 1-1 against Ghana in the final group match
- Set the goalscoring record for an American in the EPL when he reached 37 career goals surpassing Brian McBride
- His appearance against Hamburg in the Europa League semifinal made him the first American to play in that stage of a European competition since DaMarcus Beasley in the Champions League in 2005 for PSV

U.S. National Team – 2012: Posted a career-high six goals, including five in the Semifinal Round of qualifying ... One of the elite U.S. players and a veteran of three FIFA World Cups, Donovan has played an integral role in the fortunes of the U.S. team. Possessing exceptional skills with both feet and great vision, he has a seemingly endless supply of energy and the ability to unhinge defenses with runs through the midfield. In an international career chock full of records and highlights, Donovan added to the most iconic moments in U.S. sports history when he scored the game-winner against Algeria in the 2010 FIFA World Cup that sent the U.S. into the knockout phase and set off frenzied celebrations across the country. Already the top scorer in U.S. history, he is now the USA's all-time leader in World Cup games played and goals scored. Captaining the LA Galaxy to two consecutive MLS Cup titles, he now has five league championships in the already substantial trophy case.

A box-to-box midfielder, Edu is as comfortable making hard tackles as he is starting and finishing attacks. Edu has earned consistent minutes from Jurgen Klinsmann as either a starter or a reserve, and has been tested at centerback outside of his usual deployment in midfield. In 2008, he captained the U.S. Olympic Team during a successful qualifying run and appeared in all three games during the Olympics in Beijing. The California native joined Toronto FC as the No. 1 draft pick in MLS in 2007 and he justified his selection by earning the award for Rookie of the Year, moving to Scottish giants Rangers a year later. The relegation of Rangers forced Edu to seek a new challenge, and he landed at Stoke City in the Premier League.

A blazing hot goal scoring streak for Puebla in 2010 put Herculez Gomez back on the map for the U.S. National Team, ultimately leading to his participation in the 2010 FIFA World Cup where he saw time in three of four matches. In 2012, Gomez had a standout year that included a career-high three goals for the U.S. MNT, including two goals during 2014 FIFA World Cup Qualifying, and a Primera División championship with Santos Laguna. Gomez became the first player to have earned both a Primera División and MLS Cup crown, and he also was the first U.S. player to lead a league in scoring outside the United States when he tallied 10 goals in 14 games in the 2010 Torneo Bicentenario in Mexico. A seven-year veteran of MLS, Gomez scored the winning goal for the LA Galaxy in the 2005 Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup Final.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

An athletic and intelligent goalkeeper, Howard has cemented his place in the line of great U.S. goalkeepers. He is a commanding veteran personality who is relied upon by his teammates for calmness and the ability to make key saves time and time again. Since 2007, Howard has occupied the No. 1 position for the USA, and his leadership and big-game credentials have continued to flourish year after year. Howard is equally indispensable for Everton, where he has served as the undisputed starter for several years, and has led his team to places in European competition and the FA Cup final. He has more than 200 consecutive starts, the second-most in Premier League history and the most for one individual team.

Johnson's lightning quick first step, overall strength and aerial prowess make him an attacking threat. Regular playing time on loan at Aris in Greece proved timely as he showcased his form and earned a spot on the 30-man preliminary roster for the 2010 FIFA World Cup. Challenged by a slew of able strikers, Johnson had successive loan spells from parent club Fulham, from Cardiff City to Aris and Preston North End in the English League Championship. Now with Seattle Sounders FC, Johnson was an MLS All-Star Selection in 2012, he scored 14 goals in his 28 regular season appearances and helped Seattle advance past the first round of the MLS Cup Playoffs for the first time in club history.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

- Was a member of the USA's preliminary roster for the 2010 FIFA World Cup

A powerful box-to-box midfielder who is strong on the tackle and displays an imposing presence, Jones made his name in the German Bundesliga where he has played for Eintracht Frankfurt, Bayer Leverkusen and Schalke 04. Born to a German mother and American father in Frankfurt, Jones was capped by Germany three times before applying for a change of association granted by FIFA allowed him to become eligible to represent the United States. Dealing with a shin injury for more than a year ruled Jones out of contention for the 2010 FIFA World Cup, but his top-level experience and great athleticism have now been on display in a U.S. uniform as Jurgen Klinsmann has earmarked him as one of the key leaders on the team.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

A hard-working and versatile defender, Spector often displays his attacking instincts going forward and is an excellent long passer and crosser of the ball. A member of the 2010 FIFA World Cup squad, he continues to show his ability to compete against gifted opponents, having started games in 2011 against Argentina and Spain. A seasoned professional at what is still a relatively young age, he displays maturity and quiet leadership skills for both club and country. He has spent his entire professional career in England, beginning with Manchester United and including time at Charlton Athletic, West Ham United and now Birmingham City.

THE US NATIONAL SOCCER TEAM PLAYERS ASSOCIATION

The US National Soccer Team Players Association is the labor organization for all current members of the United States Men's National Soccer Team, the membership organization for all current and former members of the National Team, and an organization dedicated to involving National Team players in community and charitable activities. The Players Association was founded in 1996 by the members of the U.S. National Team to represent them in collective bargaining with the United States Soccer Federation. Until that time, the players were not represented by a unified voice on matters such as the financial and business terms under which players played for the National Team.

The Players Association was founded with a very simple principle: everyone appearing for their National Team should be treated equally. That rationale has carried the Players Association through fifteen years, four World Cups, and negotiation of four collective bargaining agreements. The Players' unwavering interest in building the sport in this country has helped develop the Players Association as a multi-faceted organization serving not just the interest of its members, but the wider community of American soccer.

The Players Association believes that the best way to grow the game in this country is to build meaningful links from the grassroots to the highest level of American professional soccer, the U.S. National Team program.

In 2010 the Players Association started developing programs to improve the youth soccer experience in the United States and to increase the Players' involvement in and contribution to all levels of soccer in the United States.

OUR MISSION

The primary purpose of the organization and its website is to promote soccer in the United States and the US National Team Players and to help everyone interested or involved in the sport in the U.S.

While the Players Association represents all U.S. Men's National Soccer Team members in their negotiations with the United States Soccer Federation, everything the Players are doing is targeted at improving the quality and quantity of soccer in the United States. The Players are encouraging more people to play, watch and involve themselves with soccer at all levels, from the very beginning youth programs, to elite youth soccer, high school and college soccer, adult recreational leagues, professional soccer leagues and the international competitions of the United States Men's National Team and the World Cup.

OUR GOALS

- Reach people interested in soccer
- Encourage, nurture and reward that interest
- Make it easy for those people to expand their connection to the sport
- Give them the information they need to expand their interest and knowledge
- Increase the opportunities for all children to experience the joys of playing soccer
- Improve the quality of youth soccer coaching
- Improve the youth soccer environment
- Partner with other significant soccer organizations in the United States
- Encourage players to experience the benefits of playing, watching and being involved in soccer throughout their lifetimes
- Create a soccer community that shares the Players' goal of increasing soccer's role and significance in the U.S.

We want to do what we can to help all these enthusiasts learn about soccer, coaching, and all levels of the sport – from youth and street soccer and recreational leagues to high school and college soccer to the professional and international levels where the best players from around the world come together to represent their countries and compete in the World Cup.

The Players are committed to supporting soccer to help the United States reap the benefits the game can provide throughout our country.

U.S. HISTORY & INFO

The U.S. Men's National Team has qualified for six straight FIFA World Cups, and nine overall since the tournament's inception in 1930.

Most recently in South Africa in 2010, the U.S. won its group for the first time in 80 years with ties against traditional power England and a talented Slovenia side in the first two matches. In the final minute of the final group match, the U.S. was locked in a scoreless tie with Algeria when Landon Donovan electrified a soccer nation by finishing a full-field counter attack with the most dramatic goal in U.S. Soccer history. The U.S. team would come from behind again in the Round of 16, taking Ghana to extra time in Rustenburg. But the African side prevailed with a 2-1 victory, mirroring the result from Germany four years prior.

The team's most successful recent World Cup experience came in 2002 in Korea/Japan, reaching the quarterfinals for the first time in 72 years before losing to eventual runners-up Germany. After opening group play with a stunning 3-2 victory against Portugal, the USA earned a 1-1 draw against the host Korea Republic, before closing out the first round with a 3-1 defeat to Poland. The second-place finish in Group D was enough to place the team in the Round of 16, where they squared off against arch-rival Mexico. The Americans famously blanked Mexico 2-0 to advance to the quarterfinals, but their run ended with a hard-fought defeat at the hands of Germany, 1-0.

The USA's 2002 success was followed by a disappointing first-round exit in Germany in 2006. But despite a three-games-and-out performance, the USA heroically drew 1-1 with eventual World Champion Italy with only nine men on the field in one of the team's greatest performances.

The U.S. appeared in the first two World Cups in 1930 and 1934, then made an appearance in 1950 before waiting 40 years to return to the world's stage in 1990.

Two of the USA's greatest victories in World Cup play prior to 2002 include a 1-0 win over powerful England on June 29, 1950, on a goal by Joe Gaetjens at Belo Horizonte, Brazil, and a 2-1 win at home against Colombia on June 22, 1994, with Earnie Stewart scoring the game-winner. The victory over England is still considered by many to be the greatest upset in World Cup history.

The 1990 World Cup marked the first time in 40 years that the U.S. team made it through the CONCACAF qualifying rounds. The U.S. squad captured the 24th and final position for Italia '90 by defeating Trinidad & Tobago 1-0 in the final match of CONCACAF qualifying.

As the host nation in 1994, the USA took U.S. Soccer one step further by advancing to the Round of 16, losing a 1-0 match to eventual world champion Brazil. Attached below is a look at the United States' all-time World Cup and results.

WORLD CUP NOTES: The U.S. advanced as far as the World Cup quarterfinals for the first time in 72 years. Their previous best was a semifinal appearance at the 1930 World Cup, where the U.S. advanced straight from group play into the final four.

The U.S. victory over Mexico marked the USA's first-ever knockout round victory in World Cup play. It was also the USA's first World Cup shutout since the team's historic 1-0 victory over England in Brazil in 1950.

Claudio Reyna became the first U.S. Men's National Team player to be named to the FIFA All-World Cup First Team.

Brian McBride became the first player in U.S. MNT history to score goals in consecutive World Cups, scoring two game-winners for the U.S. in 2002.

Cobi Jones and Earnie Stewart each played in four 2002 World Cup games to extend their career totals to a U.S. Soccer record 11 World Cup match appearances.

WORLD CUP NOTES: For the fifth time in eight World Cups, the U.S. failed to advance out of their group.

For the third time in the last four World Cups, the USA's opponents scored an own goal for the United States, this time courtesy of Italy's Christian Zaccarado in a thrilling 1-1 draw on June 17 in Kaiserslautern. That match featured the only World Cup game in U.S. history in which two players from the United States received red cards (Pablo Mastroeni and Eddie Pope).

The U.S. has scored first in just three of 18 World Cup games since 1990.

Brian McBride ended his illustrious career with the United States with a team-best three career World Cup goals.

McBride and Landon Donovan are the only two players to play in all eight U.S. World Cup games in 2002 and 2006.

Claudio Reyna and Kasey Keller are the only two players to be on four U.S. World Cup rosters.

WORLD CUP NOTES: The U.S. won its group for the first time in 80 years while finishing ahead of England, Slovenia and Algeria, respectively.

Clint Dempsey and Landon Donovan became the second and third Americans to score in multiple FIFA World Cups.

Donovan became the USA's all-time leading World Cup goalscorer with his fifth career goal in the Round of 16 against Ghana. With his 12th career appearance against Ghana he also became the U.S. leader in World Cup caps.

The U.S. scored in all of its World Cup matches for the first time since 1950.

The U.S. advanced out of its group for the fourth time and was eliminated in the Round of 16 for the second time (1994).

The U.S. earned a point from every game for the first time, and it was also the first time the U.S. earned a point from the third World Cup game.

U.S. Men's National Team Programs

U.S. UNDER-23 MEN'S NATIONAL TEAM

Major Competition: Olympic Soccer Tournament (2016, quadrennial)

2016 Eligibility: Jan. 1, 1993

Key Events: 2016 CONCACAF Olympic Qualifying; 2016 Summer Olympic Games

The U.S. Under-23 Men's National Team will not have programming scheduled until 2015. U.S. coaches and scouts will have their sights set on finding the top American players born on or after Jan. 1, 1993, as part of early efforts in qualifying for the 2016 Olympic Games in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

U.S. FALLS IN QUALIFYING FOR LONDON

The U.S. Under-23 Men's National Team started the 2012 CONCACAF Olympic Qualifying tournament on a high note, only to see its bid for the 2012 London Olympics come to a halt in the dying seconds of its third group match.

The U-23s opened Group A play of the qualifying tournament with a robust 6-0 win against Cuba on March 22 at LP Field in Nashville, Tenn. Joe Corona scored three goals, Juan Agudelo and captain Freddy Adu each added a goal and the USA benefited from an own goal. But the U.S. came up empty against Canada with a 2-0 loss two days later, marking the Canada U-23 team's first win against the U.S. in 20 years.

Needing a win in its final group match against El Salvador to advance to the semifinals, the U.S. was in good shape to do so with a 3-2 lead late in the second half. Terrence Boyd scored two goals and Corona scored the go-ahead goal in the 68th minute. Then in the fourth minute of second-half stoppage time, the USA saw its potential London Olympic berth come to a screeching halt as El Salvador's Jaime Alas tied the score at 3-3.

A victory would have given the U.S. first place in the group and advancement to the knockout round of qualifying, but the draw dropped the USA to third place and El Salvador and Canada advanced to the semifinal stage.

Corona led the U.S. with four goals in three games and trailed only Mexico's Marco Fabián and Alan Pulido, who had five goals in five matches during CONCACAF Qualifying. Mexico and Honduras would finish first and second, respectively, and both advanced to the London Olympics.

EYES ON RIO

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, is the host city of the XXXI Olympic Summer Games in 2016.

The U.S. hopes to return to the tournament for the first time since the 2008 Olympics in Beijing, where the U.S. posted a 1-1-1 record but could not advance past the group stage. The USA's best showing in the Olympics was the 2000 Summer Games in Australia, when the team advanced past Japan in the quarterfinals and finished fourth in the event.

Qualifying for FIFA U-20 World Cup

Takes place in Turkey

ANOTHER WORLD CUP YEAR

The U.S. Under-20 Men's National Team heads into 2013 with the task of qualifying for the 2013 FIFA World Cup in Turkey after missing out on the previous event two years ago. U.S. head coach Tab Ramos will lead the team through a tough qualifying tournament in Puebla, Mexico.

At the 2013 CONCACAF U-20 Championship, the U.S. will face Costa Rica and Haiti in the group stage. The 12 teams participating in the qualifying tournament were broken up into four groups of three teams each. The top two teams from each group advance to the quarterfinals and the four semifinalists qualify for the 2013 FIFA World Cup in Turkey, which takes place June 21-July 13.

The U.S. U-20 Men's National Team narrowly missed qualifying for the 2011 FIFA U-20 World Cup after a 2-1 quarterfinal loss to host Guatemala after finishing first in the group with a 4-0 win against Suriname and a 2-0 victory against Panama. It was the first time the U.S. did not qualify since 1995.

U.S. HISTORY & INFO

Tab Ramos heads into his second year at the helm of the Under-20 Men's National Team after being announced as head coach in October 2011.

As a former U.S. National Team midfielder and U-20 MNT assistant and interim head coach, Ramos brings a wealth of experience to the U.S. National Team program. He has been a member of the U.S. Soccer Federation Technical Board since 2006, and after receiving his "A" coaching license in 2007, became the U.S. U-20 MNT assistant coach two years later. Ramos served as interim head coach in late 2011, guiding the U-20 Men through training camp and two friendlies in France.

Ramos's first coaching experience came with the New Jersey Soccer Academy (NJSO 04), a U.S. Soccer Development Academy club, which he founded in 2004. He is currently the Executive Director of the program and has won four New Jersey state championships and a national championship, the only U.S. Youth Soccer National Championship for a N.J. boys' club in more than two decades.

Ramos first earned international playing experience with the U-20 Men when he scored two goals for the U.S. in FIFA U-20 World Cup qualifying. He played for the U.S. in the 1983 U-20 World Cup and was also a member of the U.S. team that competed in the 1988 Olympics in Seoul, South Korea.

His first appearance with the full team came on Jan. 10, 1988, against Guatemala, and Ramos went on to play in the 1990 World Cup, where his performance earned him the title of U.S. Soccer Athlete of the Year. By the time he retired from international duty in 2000, Ramos had played in three World Cups, earned 81 caps and scored eight goals, becoming the only U.S. player to score at least one World Cup qualifying goal in three different decades.

A 2001 graduate of North Carolina State University, Ramos studied foreign language and literature while becoming a three-time All American in his four years playing for the school's men's soccer team. He joined American Soccer League side New Jersey Eagles in 1998 before moving to fellow ASL club Miami Sharks the next season.

In 1990, Ramos had a contract to play exclusively for the U.S. MNT as it prepared for the 1990 World Cup, but Spanish Second Division club Figueres took him on loan later that year, before eventually signing him. Ramos was sold to Real Betis in 1992 and helped the team win promotion to La Liga, but a skull fracture suffered in the 1994 World Cup kept him from making any La Liga appearances.

Ramos was the first player signed to Major League Soccer in 1995, and before being allocated to the N.Y./N.J. MetroStars, MLS loaned him to UANL Tigres in Mexico, where his team were 1996 Mexico Cup Champions. In his seven seasons with the MetroStars, Ramos tallied eight goals and 36 assists before retiring in 2002.

Ramos lives in Colts Neck, N.J., with his girlfriend Tracey and his three children Alex, Kristen and Sarah.

TO TURKEY AND BEYOND

The U.S. Under-18 Men's National Team does not compete in any world championships, but instead will serve as a transition for the Under-20 Men's National Team, which competes in its World Cup cycle.

In 2013, the U-18 MNT will be comprised of players born on or after Jan. 1, 1995, which will make them eligible to compete in the 2013 FIFA Under-20 World Cup in Turkey.

Head coach Javier Perez will lead his age group through international tournaments and domestic training camps throughout the year to develop the players and to integrate the U-18 program into the same style as the Men's National Team in terms of style of play, training sessions and fitness testing.

JAVIER PEREZ

Head Coach: U.S. Under-18 National Team

Born: May 16, 1977

Hometown: Valladolid, Spain

Javier Perez was named head coach of the U.S. Under-18 Men's National Team in February of 2012. Perez is currently the Director of Coaching at New York Soccer Club and was previously a coach at Real Madrid, spending six years with the Spanish team as a coach in the club's development center.

Perez holds a UEFA PRO license from the Royal Spanish Football Federation (RFEF) and a UEFA "A" license from the English Football Association. While working in Spain, he was a member of the management team for the RFEF's Master License available to senior coaches.

Perez has a Ph.D. in Exercise Physiology, an M.Phil. in Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, a Master's Degree in Sports Science and a Bachelor's Degree in Physical Education. He is one of three coaches in Spain to hold both an Exercise Physiology Ph.D. and the UEFA PRO license.

Perez has experience with U.S. Soccer, having worked with U.S. Youth Technical Director Claudio Reyna to develop the U.S. Soccer coaching curriculum, which is designed to improve development of players in the United States.

He has also worked with U.S. Men's National Team head coach Jurgen Klinsmann as a member of the staff for a two-game trip in October of 2011, when the U.S. faced Honduras and Ecuador.

Perez currently lives in Manhattan and his wife, who is from France, lives in London.

KEEPING THE STREAK ALIVE

In 2013, the U.S. U-17 Men's National Team will look to keep alive its impressive streak of having qualified for all 14 FIFA U-17 World Cups since the tournament's inception in 1985. The U.S. won the 2010 CONCACAF U-17 Championship with a 3-1 overtime victory against Canada.

The 2013 FIFA U-17 World Cup takes place April 6-19 in the United Arab Emirates and the U.S. will aim to qualify for its 15th consecutive World Cup. The 2013 CONCACAF U-17 Championship will take place in Panama from April 6-19, and will determine the region's four participants at the World Cup.

THE NEW CYCLE

The current crop of U.S. U-17 MNT players in Bradenton was born in 1996, making all 31 players eligible for the upcoming CONCACAF and FIFA events. Many of the players are entering their second year in the Residency Program, continuing the cycle that will culminate with the 2013 FIFA U-17 World Cup.

The U.S. U-17 MNT staff will continue to keep a close eye on American players throughout the country and those who may be playing abroad.

The U.S. Soccer Development Academy continues to have a growing influence on the U-17s, with 24 of the current 32 player Residency roster stemming from Academy clubs. U.S. Soccer Technical Advisors continue to scour the country in search of the best players that are age eligible for the key events coming up in 2013.

RICHIE WILLIAMS

Head Coach: U.S. Under-17 Men's National Team

Born: June 3, 1970

Hometown: Middleton Township, N.J.

Richie Williams was named the U.S. Under-17 Men's National Team head coach in January of 2012, moving into the position just a few months after being appointed the U-18 MNT head coach in October of 2011.

As the U-17 MNT head coach, Williams takes on the task of leading the U.S. Soccer U-17 Residency Program, which has been in place since 1999. Williams has his sights set on the 2013 FIFA U-17 World Cup in the United Arab Emirates.

The former U.S. National Team midfielder recently spent five seasons as an assistant coach for Major League Soccer's New York Red Bulls. During his Red Bulls tenure, he also had two stints as the team's interim head coach. Williams began his coaching career in 2005 as an assistant coach for the men's soccer team at his alma mater, the University of Virginia, where he spent two seasons.

After graduating from Virginia in 1992 with two NCAA National Championships under his belt, Williams joined indoor side Buffalo Blizzard and played 30 games with the team during the 1992-93 National Professional Soccer League season. Williams signed with the Richmond Kickers in the U.S. International Soccer League in 1993. That same year, Williams had a brief stint with Scotland's Ayr United before returning to the Kickers for the 1994 and 1995 seasons.

Williams joined MLS for the league's first season and D.C. United selected him in the fourth round of the 1996 MLS Inaugural Player Draft, where he reunited with his college coach, Bruce Arena. In his five seasons with D.C., Williams helped the club win three MLS Cup titles. Williams also won back-to-back U.S. Open Cups, in 1995 with the Kickers and in 1996 with D.C. United.

D.C. traded Williams to the NY/NJ MetroStars in 2001, where he spent a year with the team. Williams returned to D.C. United in 2002, but went back to the MetroStars the following season. He closed out his professional playing career with the Richmond Kickers and officially retired in September 2005.

Williams made his international debut for the U.S. MNT on Nov. 6, 1998, against Australia. He made a total of 20 appearances for the team between 1998 and 2002, helping the U.S. to 12 wins, including the 2002 CONCACAF Gold Cup. He also was a member of the U-23 and U-20 Men's National Teams during his career.

U.S. SOCCER'S UNDER-17 RESIDENCY PROGRAM

Bradenton, Fla.

Started in 1999, the U.S. Soccer Under-17 Residency Program has become a symbol of U.S. Soccer's dedication to increasing the development opportunities for players and the success of the youth national teams.

After doubling the number of players in the full-time Residency Program from 20 to 40 in 2003, the U.S. Under-17 Men's National Team has reduced its number to further focus on player and team development for the current FIFA U-17 World Cup cycle.

Number of Residency Players

Semesters	Size
Spring 1999-Fall 1999	20
Spring 2000-Fall 2000	18
Spring 2001	20
Fall 2001	18
Spring 2002	20
Fall 2002-Spring 2003	30
Fall 2003-Spring 2007	40
Fall 2007	48
Spring 2008-Spring 2011	40
Fall 2011	32
Spring 2012	32
Fall 2012	31

With 31 players in Residency, the program is able to focus on developing players individually and building a team that will compete at the qualifying tournament for the 2013 FIFA U-17 World Cup.

The U.S. players live on campus at the IMG Academy in Bradenton, Fla., and train in the morning under the guidance of the U.S. U-17 MNT coaching staff. In the afternoon, the players attend classes at St. Stephen's Episcopal School. While in the full-time residency program, the U.S. not only trains daily, but also has access to the IMG Academy facilities. The team regularly uses IMG's state-of-the-art strength-training facilities, as well as some of the nation's best sports psychologists who work at the Academy. The IMG Academies include top-of-the-line soccer equipment, three Bermuda grass fields, newly renovated student housing and dining facilities.

The Residency Program has given players an excellent opportunity to grow and move up the ladder in the world of soccer and become professionals in Major League Soccer, some of the biggest clubs in Europe and even make an impact on the full U.S. Men's National Team. The program in Bradenton provides players with an environment where they can prosper as individual players and gel as a team.

Since its inception, more than 380 players have been through the full-time Residency Program, and more than 100 of those players have moved on to Major League Soccer, or the professional leagues in Europe. Twenty-four players have also registered at least one cap with the full MNT: Freddy Adu, Gale Agbossoumonde, Juan Agudelo, Jozy Altidore, DaMarcus Beasley, Kyle Beckerman, Michael Bradley, Bobby Convey, Landon Donovan, Eddie Gaven, Omar Gonzalez, Eddie Johnson, Eric Lichaj, Justin Mapp, Chad Marshall, Dax McCarty, Oguchi Onyewu, Heath Pearce, Santino Quaranta, Robbie Rogers, Brek Shea, Jonathan Spector, Danny Szetela and Anthony Wallace.

The first full-time U.S. Soccer Residency Program began on Jan. 17, 1999, when U.S. Soccer collected 20 of the country's elite youth players to train year-round. In its first year of existence, the U.S. Soccer Residency Program produced instant success as the Under-17s qualified for the FIFA Under-17 World Championship in New Zealand in November of 1999. On the world stage, the American teenagers rose to the occasion, winning their group and advancing to the semifinals before being ousted in a penalty shootout. The fourth-place finish tied for the best showing by a U.S. Youth National Team in a major international competition. U.S. stars Donovan and Beasley were awarded the Gold and Silver Balls, respectively, as the top two players in the entire tournament. The U.S. has continued its successful tradition at this level by becoming the only country to qualify for all 14 FIFA Under-17 World Cups in history.

A STEPPING STONE

The U.S. Under-15 Boys' National Team – known as the Under-16 Boys' National Team prior to 2003 – serves as a developmental and identification squad for potential future national team players. Based on recent results at the U-17, U-20, U-23 and full Men's National Team levels, the Under-15 program is doing exactly that as numerous players have been able to move on and succeed at the next level.

The players for this pool fluctuate every year in conjunction with the Under-14 program and throughout the U-15 cycle. The U-15 Boys' National Team and the U-14 National Development Program are closely tied in order to streamline player development and become familiar with the core players that make up the age group. Tony Lepore attends the Under-14 National Identification Camps throughout the cycle to evaluate players who eventually make up the core of his Under-15 National Team player pool for the coming year.

PUTTING PLAYERS IN THE BEST POSITION

The Under-15 Boys' National Team program is also used to identify potential talent and prepare players for future involvement in international soccer. The players are introduced to a culture and style of play consistent throughout all of the U.S. National Teams. The U-15 BNT also addresses the importance of character development such as attitude, discipline and commitment. A majority of the players in U.S. Soccer's Under-17 Residency Program in Bradenton, Fla., have come through the U-15 program.

"We have increased our focus to identify and evaluate talented players at the younger age groups at U.S. Soccer Training Centers" said U.S. Soccer Head of Scouting Tony Lepore. "It's an important role because the players are being introduced to the National Team program, being involved in our training centers helps us to evaluate them in a good environment, to get to know them better and helps them prepare them for a youth national team camp, it is all part of the process as they players move up the ladder with the Under-15, 17, 18 and 20 National Teams."

TWO TOURNAMENTS HIGHLIGHT 2012 CAMPAIGN

The U-15 BNT had a hectic 2012 schedule that featured multiple domestic training camps at The Home Depot Center, a trip to Groenlo, Netherlands, for the International Marveld Tournament in late May and early June, followed by the Copa Mexico de Naciones tournament in mid-June at Mexico City.

U-15 head coach Tony Lepore brought a 20-player roster to Marveld Tournament and the USA took fifth place with wins against Real Madrid, FC Twente and Liverpool. The U.S. capped off the event on June 3 with a scoreless draw against Ajax in regulation and prevailed with a 4-2 shootout victory.

On June 18, the U-15s kicked off Copa Mexico group play against Spain, followed by matches against Costa Rica and Colombia. The USA rebounded from a 1-0 loss to Spain with a decisive 3-1 victory against Costa Rica the following day. Needing a win to advance to the semifinal round as Colombia held an advantage in goal differential, the U.S. came up short with a scoreless draw to conclude the tournament at 1-1-1 with four points. The U.S. Soccer Development Academy continues to have a growing influence on the U-17s, with 24 of the current 32 player Residency roster stemming from Academy clubs. U.S. Soccer Technical Advisors continue to scour the country in search of the best players that are age eligible for the key events coming up in 2013.

TONY LEPORE

HEAD COACH: U.S. Under-15 Boys' National Team,

Director of Scouting / Technical Advisor

Born: Feb. 12, 1967

Hometown: Madbury, N.H.

Tony Lepore enters his second year at the helm of the U.S. U-15 Boys' National Team after serving for several years as Director of Scouting and Technical Advisor for U.S. Soccer. The Madbury, N.H., native has been involved in youth soccer at all levels during his coaching career before joining U.S. Soccer.

As Director of Scouting, Lepore has led the U.S. Soccer Development Academy scouting efforts, establishing a premier soccer scouting network throughout the United States. Lepore has been at the helm of creating a web of scouts and coaches as well as a continuing education program to not only find and develop elite soccer players in the United States.

U.S. HISTORY & INFO

In recent years, the United States' play at the Youth National Team level has confirmed its status as the top youth nation in CONCACAF and one of the most improved in the world. In existence since 1997, the U.S. Under-14 National Development Program is a major reason for the increasing quality and quantity of young players vying for spots in the U.S. Youth National Teams program.

In August of 1997, U.S. Soccer started the U.S. Under-14 National Development Program to identify players, knowing that to continue to compete with the elite countries on the international level, the U.S. would have to build a base of soccer players from the youth level up. The Under-14 program introduces young players to a level of soccer they would not otherwise see at such a young age and allows the country's top youths the chance to experience soccer at its highest level and in an international setting.

Hugo Perez has taken over the Under-14 boys' program as head coach along with a full-time technical staff. The Technical Advisors, who evaluate the youth player pool on a regular basis and conduct training centers across the country, are directly involved in coaching the camps.

"By having the Technical Advisors involved with the Youth National Teams, we're also developing coaches in U.S. Soccer," said U.S. Soccer Youth Technical Director Claudio Reyna. "They get the ability to go in and run training sessions and do everything a coach has to do. Now they're in a stronger position to continue to influence the Academy clubs since the teams know the messages are coming straight from the national teams. The Technical Advisors leave the national team camps with a clear picture of the needs for each team, and can then seek those players from amongst the Academy teams and the training centers."

In 2012, the Under-14 program shifted schedules to be more consistent with other Youth National Teams by having more training camps across the year in place of a large, annual Identification Camp. Perez convened with players for the first time in March of 2012 and held four other camps up until November.

The players for the Under-14 Identification Program are selected by technical advisors, national team staff and through the scouting network. At training camps, the players are introduced to the Youth National Teams program where they learn about style of play and have the chance to learn from top coaches and play alongside the most talented players in their age group.

At the Boys' Under-14 training camps the teams hit the field twice a day, training in the morning and playing matches in the evening. The coaches stress problem-solving within the game, speed of play and competing in competitive environments.

Although the program started in just 1997, it has already helped to introduce, identify and develop scores of National Team players and has put many more on the path to professional soccer.

NAVIGATING CONCACAF

The U.S. kicked off 2012 with the intent of rebuilding the team to prepare for the 2012 CONCACAF Futsal Championship in Guatemala City, Guatemala. The team began preparations in 2011 after remaining idle in 2009 and 2010. In 2011 for the first time, the U.S. participated in the Grand Prix of Futsal, an invitation-only, annual tournament considered to be among the most prestigious in world futsal competitions. The USA faced some of its toughest competition to date and came back from Manaus, Brazil, without any wins, but with plenty of experience.

In Guatemala, the U.S. met with seasoned opposition after being drawn into Group A with Canada, Panama and host Guatemala. The U.S. fell short in the first match against Panama but rebounded to win the second game against Canada. The U.S. faced a must-win match in the third and final group game against the home team. The crowd came out in full force to support Guatemala, and the U.S. fell 2-1 in a closely contested match in a packed and boisterous Domo Polideportivo, leaving the U.S. out of the 2012 FIFA Futsal World Cup.

FUTSAL HISTORY

Futsal is a sport that is derivative of soccer and played with five-man teams on a basketball-style court, with no walls and a smaller, low-bouncing ball, unlike the sport of U.S. indoor soccer, which is played with six-man squads and walls. Great soccer superstars such as Pelé, Zico and Ronaldo grew up playing the game and credit futsal with developing their skills.

The first FIFA Futsal World Cup was held in the Netherlands in 1989. In 1992, the U.S. Futsal Team set the mark for highest finish for a U.S. male national team, with a second-place finish behind legendary indoor goalkeeper Victor Nogueira and stars from the indoor leagues like Ted Eck, Jim Gabarra and Dale Ervine. The 1992 team also included Jeff Agoos and Fernando Clavijo, who later appeared in World Cups for the full Men's National Team.

MISL and the other U.S. indoor soccer leagues have been providing the Futsal Team with its player pool since the first games played in 1986. Current U.S. head coach Keith Tozer, an indoor coaching legend in his own right, was a part of the inaugural team.

In the past few years, futsal has experienced a massive growth in popularity, and in 2008, the World Cup was expanded to 20 teams for the first time. Once seen as an amateur sport that players would use to hone their skills before transitioning to the outdoor game, many of the participating nations in the World cup now sport their own professional futsal leagues and play dozens of full internationals a year.

KEITH TOZER

Head Coach: U.S. Futsal Team
Born: April 4, 1957
Hometown: Milwaukee, Wis.

A veteran of indoor soccer since 1978 (when the MISL first began), Keith Tozer is currently the head coach of the Milwaukee Wave and has more victories than any other coach in the history of North American indoor soccer.

In 1996, Tozer led the U.S. Futsal team to its first-ever gold medal in the CONCACAF Championship as the interim coach. Promoted to head coach in 1998, Tozer's squad finished third at the 2000 CONCACAF Championship, missing the FIFA Futsal World Championship.

Four years later, Tozer led an unknown and underrated U.S. team made up of players exclusively from the MISL out of the CONCACAF region as champions. At the 2004 FIFA Futsal World Cup in Chinese Taipei, the U.S. advanced out of group play and earned worldwide respect as the seventh-best team in the world.

In 2008, Tozer once again led the team to the FIFA Futsal World Cup after finishing in third place at the 2008 CONCACAF Futsal Championship. In 2012, the U.S. aimed for its third consecutive FIFA Futsal World Cup berth at the 2012 CONCACAF Championship in Guatemala, but a hard-fought, must-win match against the hosts in the final group game ended in a narrow defeat, leaving the U.S. out of the knock-out rounds as well as the World Cup in Thailand.

Since taking over the team, Tozer has a 28-32-11 international record. He also has five caps for the U.S. with three career goals as a player.

The first pick in the inaugural MISL draft, Tozer played indoors for 12 years, including six as a player/coach. He has stuck to the bench since 1991, and on Jan. 29, 2012, he recorded his 700th win as head coach in a Milwaukee Wave victory against the Syracuse Silver Knights.

BEACH SOCCER HISTORY

Born on the beaches in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, beach soccer has long been played informally on sandy shorelines around the world. Despite its South American roots, the game was codified in 1992 by a group in Los Angeles and one year later the first professional beach soccer competition was held at Miami Beach with the USA hosting Brazil, Argentina and Italy.

In 1994, the first World Championship was held for beach soccer in Rio de Janeiro, and the U.S. team had modest success with a second-place finish in 1995 and a third-place finish in 1997. FIFA recognized beach soccer beginning in 2005, and has staged four FIFA Beach Soccer World Cups. The first three tournaments were staged on the beaches of Rio in Brazil. In 2008, the tournament moved to Marseille, France, with the 2009 edition gracing the beaches of Dubai, United Arab Emirates. After 2009, the tournament became a biennial event, with the 2011 FIFA Beach Soccer World Cup taking place in Rome, Italy.

In 2005 qualifying for the Beach Soccer World Cup for the U.S. was a combined tournament with North and South America. Since then, CONCACAF has hosted its own Beach Soccer Qualifying Tournament, with the U.S. winning both the 2006 and 2007 editions before dropping two of the team's three matches in 2008 and failing to qualify for the 2008 FIFA Beach Soccer World Cup.

In 2012, the U.S. competed in the Beach Soccer Worldwide Copa America, coming away with two respectable draws against Mexico and Argentina despite its opening loss to Brazil. Soto's men would end up fourth in the tournament after falling in penalties to Argentina in the third place match. The team closed out the year with an unsuccessful run at the Intercontinental Cup Dubai, failing to advance past the group stage.

Basic Laws of the Game

Beach Soccer is played on field that is approximately 36 meters long and 27 meters wide. The game is played on sand that is a minimum of 40 centimeters inches deep and players must be barefoot. Five players, including a goalkeeper, are on the field at one time and play three, 12 minute periods.

There are five substitutes on the bench, and like Futsal, there are unlimited substitutions. Games cannot end in ties, and are decided by a three-minute overtime and then kicks from the penalty spot, which is an imaginary mark on an imaginary penalty area line nine meters from the goal.

Other rules include:

After a ball goes out of bounds, it can be thrown or kicked back in play.

Goalkeepers can pick up the first back pass from a teammate per possession

Players taking a free kick can make a small mound of sand to place the ball on.

ABOUT PARALYMPIC SOCCER

Soccer debuted as a Paralympic sport at the 1984 Games in Los Angeles, and the U.S. Paralympic Team first qualified and participated in 1992 in Barcelona. The U.S. team's best performance came during the 1996 Atlanta Games, when the U.S. team narrowly missed the bronze medal.

In addition to the Paralympics, which follow the Olympics every four years, the U.S. Paralympic Soccer Team also competes at the Cerebral Palsy International Sports & Recreation Association World Championship and other international events around the world.

The U.S. Paralympic National Soccer Team faced a challenging schedule after earning a berth in the 2012 Paralympic Games in London. Drawn into a group featuring powerhouses Ukraine, Brazil and host nation Great Britain, the U.S. prepared for the event by earning a respectable third place finish in the BT World Cup before the Paralympics.

Led by team captain Josh McKinney, the U.S. brought a new-look roster and a strong focus on youth to the Paralympics with seven of the 12 players on the roster younger than 25 years old. While the USA ended up placing eighth in the tournament, the valuable experience gained by the young team will undoubtedly aid in future success down the road.

To be eligible for Paralympic soccer, athletes must be ambulatory and have a diagnosis of non-progressive brain damage that is associated with motor control dysfunction such as Cerebral Palsy, traumatic brain injury or stroke. More information about eligibility and the classification of athletes is available at usparalympics.org.

Laws of the Game

Paralympic soccer is played with seven men using the International Federation of Associated Football (FIFA) rules which have been slightly modified to accommodate the disabilities of the athletes. The smaller field is 75 meters long and 55 meters wide, and the smaller goals are five meters wide and two meters tall.

Some of the exceptions to FIFA rules include:

- No offside rule
- Under-arm throw-ins are permitted if a player is physically unable to execute a standard throw-in
- Defenders are required to be seven meters from the ball on restarts
- The game is 60 minutes long with two 30-minute halves

JAY HOFFMAN

Head Coach: U.S. Paralympic National Soccer Team

Born: Jan. 15, 1951

Hometown: Womelsdorf, Pa.

Jay Hoffman has been at the helm of the Paralympic National Team since 2002. In 2012, Hoffman led the USA at the Paralympic Games. The team competed in London by virtue of its eighth-place finish at the 2011 CPRISA Football 7-a-Side World Championship.

He successfully led the team to the 2004 Paralympic Games in Greece. More recently, the team has competed in the 2007 CPISRA International Tournament in the Netherlands, the 2007 Para-Pan American Games in Brazil and the 2007 CPISRA World Championship, also in Brazil.

Along with spearheading the U.S. Paralympic program, Hoffman is currently Director of Coaching for U.S. Soccer Development Academy club Virginia Rush AJ Auxerre.

Hoffman coached at the university level since 1973, joining the U.S. Under-17 Men's National Team as an assistant coach for the 1993 FIFA U-17 World Cup in Japan. In 1997, he led the U.S. U-20 Men's National Team as head coach at the 1997 FIFA U-20 World Cup, known then as the World Youth Championship.

Following the FIFA U-20 World Cup in Malaysia, Hoffman moved over to coach women, serving as head coach of the U.S. U-18 Women's National Team that captured the gold medal at 1999 U.S. Women's Pan-American Games. He joined the coaching staff of U.S. Women's National Team head coach Tony DiCicco for the 1999 FIFA Women's World Cup.

Prior to joining U.S. Soccer, Hoffman was an assistant coach at his alma mater East Stroudsburg University (1972), which honored him in 1999 with the Jim Barniak Athletic Achievement Award. He later served as head coach at Alerson-Broaddus College (1973-75) and SUNY Fredonia (1975-77) before crossing over into the ranks of professional soccer as the assistant coach at the Houston Hurricane (1978-80), Edmonton Drillers (1980-81), New Jersey Rockets (1981-82) and Cleveland Force (1983-88).

Hoffman also was head coach of the Buffalo Stallions (1982-83), the Boston Breakers (2001) of the WUSA and the Virginia Beach Mariners (2005-2006).

Player Development

U.S. SOCCER DEVELOPMENT ACADEMY

Overview: Developing the Next Generation

The U.S. Soccer Development Academy program is driven by the game and its players, coaches and referees. This game-centric approach allows for long-term development to occur through a deep understanding of what makes players successful around the world. As the sport of soccer grows in the United States, young players in our country need the proper environment to compete against the world's elite. The U.S. Soccer Development Academy program provides the optimum developmental environment for the nation's top youth soccer players, coaches and referees by emphasizing development through quality training and limited, meaningful competition.

10-Month Schedule

After receiving overwhelming support from the Development Academy membership, the Academy moved to a schedule in the fall of 2012 that runs from September through June (or July based on postseason play). This creates a format that is similar to those followed by the elite soccer playing nations around the world as the Development Academy and U.S. Soccer continue their goal of closing the performance gap with the top soccer nations.

Meaningful Training

Academy teams spend a greater amount of time focused on training to improve as individuals and as a team. The teams and players receive direct feedback and evaluations from national team staff and ProZone video analysis. A major value in the Academy utilizing a 10-month season format is the importance of additional training as teams practice three to four times per week in preparation for their 30-game national schedule.

Competitive Environment

The Academy program features teams from the top youth clubs from around the country. Each Academy team plays approximately 30 regular-season games to ensure all games are meaningful. Games are also played according to FIFA's Laws of the Game and officiated by a pool of the nation's top young referees in order to prepare players for the next level of competition. U.S. Soccer national team scouts regularly attend Academy games, so players are evaluated over the course of the season and in their natural positions allowing for better player assessment.

Early Success

As the program enters its sixth year, it has already dramatically impacted the player development process in the United States. Since its inception, more than 300 players from Academy clubs have been included in U.S. Youth National Teams, and 15 were a part of the U.S. roster for the 2011 FIFA U-17 World Cup. Several Academy players have attracted interest and signed with professional clubs both domestically and abroad. Virtually all college programs use the Academy program as a scouting vehicle, and the program has received increased attention from professional scouts representing domestic and international clubs. Visit ussoccer.com for more information on the Academy and its teams.

Academy to Launch U-13/14 Program

U.S. Soccer will launch an Under-13/14 division starting in the Fall of 2013. The clubs selected for the U-13/14 age group will follow a model that increases training to four times a week, with fewer but meaningful matches, and the schedule structure will be regionalized to limit the amount of travel.

2012-13 DEVELOPMENT ACADEMY TECHNICAL FRAMEWORK

Age Groups

- U-15/16 = Born on or after Jan. 1, 1996
- U-17/18 = Born on or after Jan. 1, 1994

ACADEMY ALUMNI ON THE YOUTH NATIONAL TEAMS

The ultimate goal of the U.S. Soccer Development Academy is to expand the pool of players for the U.S. National Team Program. Through the end of 2011, more than 300 Academy players have appeared on a roster for one of four U.S. Youth National Teams at the U-15, U-17, U-18 and U-20 level.

In 2009, the first year Academy players could be a part of the FIFA U-17 or U-20 World Cup teams, a total of 17 players from the Academy system answered the call to represent their country. In 2011, the U.S. Under-17 Men's National Team featured 15 Academy players at the 2011 FIFA U-17 World Cup in Mexico.

In 2013, the U-17 and U-20 Men's National Teams will again begin their quest to qualify for their respective FIFA World Cups with Academy players playing an integral role in the formation of the teams. The U-20 Men will begin qualification in Puebla, Mexico with eyes on the FIFA U-20 World Cup in Turkey, while the U-17 Men will attempt to punch their ticket to the FIFA U-17 World Cup in the UAE by qualifying in Panama.

CLAUDIO REYNA

U.S. Soccer Youth Technical Director

Four-time FIFA World Cup veteran Claudio Reyna was appointed as the U.S. Soccer Youth Technical Director on April 7, 2010, and oversees the design and implementation of long-term strategies for the development of youth coaches and players.

Reyna's initial focus as Youth Technical Director has been creating a structure and plan to improve the coaching of 6- to 12-year-old players. He crafted a teaching curriculum that will be used to help educate coaches across the country and provide direction on what their specific focus and goals should be when working with young players.

As a player with more than 100 international appearances and a 15-year professional career in the Bundesliga, Scottish Premier League, English Premier League and Major League Soccer, Reyna combines vast international playing experience with a understanding of the youth system at home, having risen through the ranks growing up in New Jersey and playing for the University of Virginia. His exposure to a wide variety of coaching methods, along with his insight on the American player, provides him with a distinct perspective on how to move player development forward.

Widely regarded as one of the best U.S. field players ever, Reyna utilized his skill, vision and composure as a member of four World Cup squads (1994, 1998, 2002, 2006) and two Olympic teams (1992, 1996). He earned 112 caps for the United States in a 12-year international career, captaining the squad to an historic quarterfinal run in the 2002 FIFA World Cup, where he became only the second American to be named to a World Cup All-Tournament team.

One of the most accomplished American players in Europe, he played more than three years at famed Glasgow Rangers, winning a Scottish Premier League championship and competing in the prestigious UEFA Champions League. He also had stints in the German Bundesliga at VfL Wolfsburg and Bayer Leverkusen, as well as the English Premier League, where he wore the captain's armband at Sunderland before moving to Manchester City.

He was also one of the most gifted youth players in U.S. Soccer history. A two-time Parade Magazine National Player of the Year at St. Benedict's Prep High School in Newark, N.J. (1989, 1990), the 1990 Gatorade Player of the Year led the school to consecutive state titles in his junior and senior seasons. One of the most accomplished players in college soccer history, he helped lead Virginia to three straight NCAA titles in 1991, 1992 and 1993, winning the 1992 and 1993 Missouri Athletic Club's Player of the Year Award.

A native of Livingston, N.J., he currently resides in Bedford, N.Y.

U.S. HISTORY & INFO

U.S. Soccer Technical Advisors work closely with clubs in their respective geographic areas, building a close connection with U.S. Soccer and the national teams by guiding technical programming. Additionally, Technical Advisors are at the forefront of increased player identification programs, including U.S. Soccer Training Centers, which are held all over the country throughout the year.

The group has decades of experience at the youth, professional and international level and hold a major responsibility in assisting with the continued growth of youth soccer in the United States through both coaching and scouting.

Tony Lepore: Director of Scouting / Technical Advisor – Division: Northeast

Lepore oversees scouting for every U.S. Youth National Team on both the boys and girls sides. The Madbury, N.H., native has been involved in youth soccer at all levels during his coaching career before joining U.S. Soccer.

Rodrigo Marion: Technical Advisor – Division: Atlantic/Northeast

Marion joined U.S. Soccer on a full-time basis in 2012 after serving as a part of the scouting network since 2011. His playing career included four seasons as team captain for the University at Albany-SUNY, Bolivia's U-17, U-19 and U-23 National Teams and Bolivian professional team The Strongest.

Chris Brewer: Technical Advisor – Division: Atlantic/Southeast

A former Youth National Team player, Brewer went on to play at Wake Forest before beginning his youth coaching career in North Carolina and serving as Director of Coaching for Greensboro Youth Soccer. He joined U.S. Soccer full-time in 2008.

Juan Carlos Michia: Technical Advisor – Division: Southeast

Michia has been involved at the youth levels of U.S. Soccer in both scouting and coaching roles. Originally from Argentina, Michia has played professionally in Argentina and in the NASL and MISL in the U.S.

Brian Johnson: Technical Advisor – Division: Mid-America

Johnson joined U.S. Soccer in 2012 after serving as an assistant coach for West Virginia University. After a five-year playing career in MLS with the Kansas City Wizards, he served as an assistant coach at Real Salt Lake and Ohio State. Johnson was a member of the U.S. U-20 MNT and competed in the 1993 FIFA Youth World Championship.

Carson Porter: Technical Advisor – Division: Frontier/Mid-America

Porter became a full-time Technical Advisor for U.S. Soccer in 2012 and has served as part of the scouting network since 2008. He was part of North Carolina's ACC Championship squad in 2000, played for USL's Carolina RailHawks and won the Glenn "Mooch" Myernick College Assistant Coach of the Year honor in 2008 at Wake Forest.

David Santesteban: Technical Advisor – Division: Frontier

Santesteban joined U.S. Soccer as a Technical Advisor in 2012. He previously spent eight seasons as the head coach of San Jacinto College's men's soccer team. Santesteban played collegiately at Fresno City College and Fresno State, then competed professionally with the San Francisco Bay Diablos and Santa Cruz Surf of the USISL.

Hugo Perez: Technical Advisor – Division: Northwest

Perez is a veteran of the U.S. 1994 FIFA World Cup team and a 1991 U.S. Soccer Athlete of the Year who was inducted into the National Soccer Hall of Fame in 2008. He began his coaching career in 2002 and has since coached at the youth, college and professional level.

Rob Becerra: Technical Advisor – Division: Southwest

Becerra joined the Academy after five seasons at Stanford. Becerra was a goalkeeper at Cal State San Bernardino and played for the Sacramento Scorpions of the USISL before joining U.S. Soccer in 2011.

U.S. SOCCER TRAINING CENTERS

U.S. Soccer Training Centers are single, invitational training sessions run by U.S. Soccer staff for elite players in key soccer markets. Training Centers are open to the top players from any team, club or organization at no cost to the player. The purpose of the Training Center program is to identify the best players for the U.S. Soccer Youth National Team program.

Building the Player Pool

Training Centers are designed to build the player pools for all youth national teams. Boys and girls ages 12 to 18 have the opportunity to be involved with the program. There are usually 20-30 players at each Training Center session. Each session focuses on a different age group.

The purpose of the program is to identify elite players with national team potential from any club within reasonable distance to key soccer markets. Players can be recommended for the program by U.S. Soccer technical advisors, national team scouts, state associations, local clubs or college coaches. Players can be recommended at any time by contacting scouting@ussoccer.org. The final roster for the Training Centers is selected by U.S. Soccer staff.

The Training Center Session

Local youth or professional clubs, leagues or state associations provide the facility, but U.S. Soccer staff runs the training session with the assistance of local coaches. Each Training Center session lasts approximately two hours and features drills, small-sided games and finishes with 11-vs.-11 play.

U.S. Soccer Training Center Schedule

More than 250 Training Center sessions will be held in 2013 in more than 30 soccer markets around the country. The frequency of the Training Centers varies from one per month in larger areas to two per year in smaller soccer markets.

NIKE INTERNATIONAL FRIENDLIES - HISTORY

Between 2001 and 2007, U.S. Soccer's Nike Friendlies were established to provide top-level competition for the U.S. Under-17 Men's National Team, and evolved into one of the premier annual events on the youth soccer calendar. It was a highly anticipated event by clubs and college coaches due to the emphasis on quality soccer and the top-level competition.

Featuring some of the top club teams in the Under-16, Under-17 and Under-18 age groups from around the United States, the event has now had its format incorporated into U.S. Soccer's Development Academy programming.

Starting with the 2008 Winter Showcase in Lancaster, Calif., the annual event evolved beyond the capacity of the Bradenton, Fla., IMG Academies, with more than 140 teams participating. The tradition of bringing in international opponents for the U.S. U-17 MNT continued – and the Nike International Friendlies were created. Australia and Brazil joined the U.S. Under-17 MNT in 2008, while Brazil returned along with Portugal and the Netherlands in 2009. In 2010, it was Turkey, Brazil and Portugal joining the U.S. In 2011, Turkey and Brazil were joined by France in facing off against the U.S. in Lakewood Ranch, Fla. The U.S. won the 2011 event with a 3-1 win against Brazil.

In 2012, the U.S., Brazil, Portugal and Turkey made up the four-team field, with Portugal winning the event and the USA taking third.

The 2007 edition of the Nike Friendlies featured 54 teams, including the USA's 40-player Under-17 Residency Program and the U.S. Under-15 Boys' National Team, as well as the Under-17 National Teams of Brazil, Russia and Turkey. In 2006, the tournament included 53 teams in three different age groups, including three U.S. National Teams, a youth team from Italian club Juventus and the Brazil Under-17 National Team.

The Friendlies reached a record-high 67 teams in 2005, up from 64 in 2004, 47 in 2003 and 28 in 2002. There were 19 teams at the inaugural 2001 competition.

FIFA WORLD CHAMPIONSHIPS

The Federation Internationale de Football Association (FIFA) currently conducts eight major outdoor soccer world championships played at the international level. Those tournaments are the FIFA World Cup, the FIFA Women's World Cup, the Men's Olympic Football Tournament, the Women's Olympic Football Tournament, the FIFA Under-20 World Cup, the FIFA Under-17 World Cup, the FIFA Under-20 Women's World Cup and the FIFA Under-17 Women's World Cup. Additionally, FIFA also conducts the Futsal World Cup every four years, and the Beach Soccer World Cup annually. A quick synopsis of these tournaments is listed below. More detail can be found on USA performances at each of these tournaments throughout the U.S. Men's National Team Media Guide and the U.S. Women's National Team Media Guide.

FIFA WORLD CUP

The FIFA World Cup has been played 18 times since the first competition in 1930 in Uruguay. The tournament has grown in stature over the years and has become not only the biggest sporting event in the world, but also simply the biggest event in the world every four years. Outside of the USA's third-place finish in the inaugural tournament, the team's quarterfinal run in 2002 is the team's best ever World Cup finish.

FIFA WOMEN'S WORLD CUP

The FIFA Women's World Cup has been contested on six occasions with the USA earning two championships (China '91 and USA '99), Germany two (USA '03 and China '07) and Norway (Sweden '95 and Japan (Germany '11) one each. The 2007 Women's World Cup featured 16 teams for the third time, after seeing 12 compete in both 1991 and 1995. China hosted the most recent Women's World Cup in 2007, four years after the event was moved to the USA following an outbreak of Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome. The U.S. came agonizingly close to winning its third title in 2011, losing to Japan in penalty kicks. More detailed information on the Women's World Cup can be found in the U.S. Women's National Team media guide.

OLYMPIC FOOTBALL TOURNAMENTS

After competing as an exhibition sport at the 1900 and 1904 Olympic Games, soccer became the first team sport included in the Olympics with the first official tournament dating back to the 1908 London Games when the United Kingdom defeated Denmark to claim the gold medal. Since that time soccer has been part of every Olympic Games program except the 1932 event in the United States.

On the women's side, the sport wasn't introduced into the Olympics until the 1996 competition in the United States. The U.S. claimed the inaugural gold medal in women's Olympic football by defeating China 2-1 on Aug. 1, 1996, in front of a capacity crowd of 76,481 fans in Athens, Georgia.

The growth of professional football after World War II meant that some of the best players were not eligible to compete in the Olympics. Nevertheless, the Olympic Tournament retained its vitality as the forum for the amateur game. In 1952, Hungary's great generation with players such as Grosics, Czibor, Puskas and Kocsis won the tournament in Helsinki. After that and until Los Angeles in 1984 all the Olympic titles went to Eastern Europe, a span of eight straight tournaments.

When the Olympics moved into their modern open era, FIFA was obliged to reconsider its position for the Barcelona 1992 tournament, where for the first time the tournament was restricted to Under-23 national teams. In 1996, FIFA altered the U-23 designation slightly, allowing teams to add three overage players into the mix, a rule that was still in effect for the 2004 Olympiad.

Through the 1928 Olympics in Holland, Olympic caps were counted as full international appearances, but that designation changed with the advent of the World Cup in 1930. Although the Olympic Games football tournament actually falls under the realm of the International Olympic Committee, FIFA presides over the event on behalf of the IOC.

FIFA UNDER-20 WORLD CUP

Contested every two years, the FIFA Under-20 World Cup is restricted to players under 20 years of age. The tournament was renamed from the FIFA World Youth Championship in 2006. The U.S. has qualified for the tournament on 11 occasions, finishing fourth in 1989 (Saudi Arabia). At the most recent qualifying tournament in 2011 in Guatemala, the U.S. won its group and kept clean sheets against Suriname and Panama but lost in the quarterfinals to Guatemala and were eliminated. That performance came eight years after forward Eddie Johnson became the first U.S. player to win a Golden Boot at a FIFA World Championship. The U.S. has won its group in four of the last five tournaments. In 2011, Brazil won its fifth title.

FIFA UNDER-20 WOMEN'S WORLD CUP

Renamed as the FIFA Under-20 Women's World Cup in 2006, the tournament was staged as a U-20 event for the first time in 2006, after two initial tournaments were played as an Under-19 tournament. The inaugural FIFA U-19 Women's World Championship was held in Canada from Aug. 17-Sept. 1, 2002, with 12 teams from around the world competing in the event. The inaugural tournament was an incredible success, with the USA capturing the first championship via a Lindsay Tarpley golden goal in a 1-0 victory in front of 47,784 fans in Edmonton, Canada. The U.S. was unable to defend their crown in 2004, losing to Germany in the semifinals in Thailand, and in 2006 finished out of the top three for the first time in their history. In 2008, however, Golden Ball winner Sydney Leroux and Silver Ball winner Alex Morgan returned the U.S. to glory. A 1-0 victory against Germany in the final lead the USA back to first place in 2012 with defender and captain Julie Johnston earning the Bronze Ball as the tournament's third most valuable player.

FIFA UNDER-17 WORLD CUP

The Under-17 World Championship is contested every two years for players under 17 years of age. The U.S. is the only country in the world to qualify for every U-17 World Championship, dating back to the tournament's inception in 1985. The first three tournaments were actually played as U-16 World Championship Tournaments, but FIFA changed the event to its present U-17 status in 1989. The CONCACAF region hosted the tournament for a second time in 2001, when Trinidad & Tobago served as the first-ever Caribbean host for a FIFA World Championship. Through 2009, the U.S. has finished among the top five in the tournament in three of the last six events. Mexico became the first CONCACAF team to win an outdoor men's world championship in 2005 with an impressive triumph in Peru. In 2011, the U.S. advanced to the knockout round for the seventh time but was eliminated after falling to Germany in the first Round of 16 game.

FIFA FUTSAL WORLD CUP

The FIFA Futsal World Cup has been contested six times with Brazil winning the first three tournaments, and Spain winning two championships in 2000 and 2004 before Brazil returned to glory as hosts in 2008. Spain ended Brazil's run in Guatemala in 2000 and then added to their trophy case with a victory in Chinese Taipei in 2004. The Futsal World Cup is the only indoor tournament hosted by FIFA. The 1992 second-place finish was the best-ever showing in a FIFA event by a U.S. men's team, and came on the heels of a third-place finish in 1989.

FIFA BEACH SOCCER WORLD CUP

Beach soccer became a part of the FIFA family in 2005 when the first-ever FIFA Beach Soccer World Cup was staged on Copacabana Beach in Rio de Janeiro. To everyone's surprise, France defeated Portugal in the final, while Brazil fell in the semis. A new location in 2008 and 2009 couldn't keep Brazil from the four-peat. 2011 marked the first time the competition was played biennially, and Russia upended Brazil in the final to win the Championship for the first time.

FIFA CONFEDERATIONS CUP

The FIFA Confederations Cup was contested under FIFA's auspices for the first time in 1997 and replaced the Intercontinental Championship, which was staged in 1992 and 1995. Each of these three tournaments was held in Saudi Arabia. In 1999 the Confederations Cup was held in Mexico and it returned to Asia in 2001, where it was staged as a precursor to the 2002 FIFA World Cup in Korea Republic and Japan. Defending World Cup and European champion France added to their trophy case by winning the 2001 tournament, and would repeat as champions hosting the event in 2003.

Each of these three tournaments was held in Saudi Arabia. In 1999 the Confederations Cup was held in Mexico and it returned to Asia in 2001, where it was staged as a precursor to the 2002 FIFA World Cup in Korea Republic and Japan. Defending World Cup and European champion France added to their trophy case by winning the 2001 tournament, and would repeat as champions hosting the event in 2003.

In 2005, the competition became quadrennial, staged one year before the World Cup in the tournament's host country. Brazil has taken control of the event winning back-to-back events in Germany 2005 and South Africa 2009.

1992 King Fahd Cup (Saudi Arabia)

The U.S. team traveled to Saudi Arabia for the first time in its history in 1992 to take part in the King Fahd Cup, as it was then known. As 1991 CONCACAF Gold Cup Winners, the U.S. earned a birth into the four team tournament, which also included the Ivory Coast, who won the 1992 African Nations Cup, Argentina, winners of the 1991 Copa América, and host nation Saudi Arabia, who were champions of Asia in 1988. In the first game, the U.S. took on Saudi Arabia in the first ever match between the two countries. In front of a crowd of 70,000 in Riyadh, the Americans were beaten 3-0, courtesy of three second half goals from The Sons of the Desert. The third-place match saw the U.S. beat the Ivory Coast 5-2, in what is still the only meeting of the two countries. For the U.S., Marcelo Balboa opened the scoring, and the teams went back and forth before Eric Wynalda eventually grabbed what would prove to be the winning goal in the 56th minute.

1999 FIFA Confederations Cup (Mexico)

For the first time in seven years, the U.S. competed in the Confederations Cup, which was held in the country of local rival Mexico. Because Mexico, as host, was automatically entered into the draw, the U.S. was put into the competition by virtue of their runner-up finish in the 1998 Gold Cup. The first major competition for then head coach Bruce Arena, the U.S. acquitted itself well and matched its third-place finish from 1992. After an opening defeat of New Zealand, the U.S. was beaten 1-0 by Brazil behind a goal from Ronaldinho. Needing a result in their final Group B game, the Americans came through, and defeated Germany 2-0 for the second time in six months, thanks to goals from Ben Olsen and Joe-Max Moore. Through to the semifinal, the U.S. ran into Mexico and a hostile Azteca Stadium crowd of over 80,000. Though they put up a memorable fight, Bruce Arena's side eventually succumbed to a Cuauhtémoc Blanco golden goal in the 97th minute. Despite the heartbreak of defeat, the U.S. rebounded to down Saudi Arabia 2-0, avenging its loss to the Saudis in 1992 and matching its finish of third-place from that tournament.

2003 FIFA Confederations Cup (France)

In 2003, the U.S. returned to the Confederations Cup, which was held in Europe for the first time. Drawn with Cameroon, Turkey and Brazil, the U.S. opened play against the Turks, but fell to a 2-1 defeat. Though DaMarcus Beasley opened the scoring, a resilient Turkey side fought back and eventually grabbed the winner in the 73rd minute. In the next match, the U.S. again met Brazil in the group stage, a rematch from the 1999 tournament, and the result was a similar 1-0 victory for the Seleção. This time, the Brazilians were powered by an Adriano goal in the 22nd minute. With two defeats from the opening two games, the final match was rendered meaningless, but the U.S. put forth a spirited effort to tie eventual runners-up Cameroon 0-0. The tournament was in the end overshadowed by the untimely death of Cameroonian midfielder Marc-Vivien Foé, who suffered a heart attack during the Africans' semifinal match against Colombia. Though France went on to win the championship courtesy of a Thierry Henry Golden Goal, the defining image from the 2003 tournament is undoubtedly Marcel Desailly and Rigobert Song, captains of France and Cameroon respectively, holding the winning trophy together in honor of Foé, who died at the age of only 28.

2009 FIFA Confederations Cup (South Africa)

Winning the 2007 CONCACAF Gold Cup earned the U.S. a spot in the 2009 FIFA Confederations Cup in South Africa – the second consecutive tournament held one year before the FIFA World Cup in the host country. The U.S. started shaky and were dismissed by the two defending FIFA World Cup champions, Italy and Brazil, by a combined 6-1 score in the first two matches of the 2009 event. Needing to score at least three goals and on the verge of elimination in their third game against Egypt, the U.S. overcame incredible odds and advanced to the semifinals on goals by Charlie Davies, Michael Bradley and Clint Dempsey. Once through to the semifinals, the U.S. stunned the world by defeating Spain and ending the European Champions' 35-game unbeaten streak. Tim Howard made eight saves as Jozy Altidore and Dempsey scored, sending the U.S. men to their first-ever final in a FIFA Tournament. In the final the U.S. would again face Brazil, and Dempsey scored in his third straight game with Landon Donovan adding another as the U.S. was up 2-0 on Brazil in the 27th minute. The U.S. would hold on until halftime, but just a minute into the second half Brazil scored and continued attacking in waves, eventually coming from behind for a 3-2 victory. Still, the second-place finish was the best performance ever for the team in a FIFA competition. Dempsey was honored by winning the Bronze Ball, while Howard won the Golden Glove – the first such awards for the U.S. at a FIFA tournament.

COPA AMERICA

The Copa America is the oldest international tournament in South America, dating back to 1916. Since 1993, teams from CONCACAF and Asia have taken part in this biennial event as invitees of CONMEBOL. The U.S. made its debut in the tournament in Ecuador in 1993, but was eliminated in the first round. In 1995, the U.S. returned to Copa America, and advanced to the semifinals in Uruguay, eventually finishing in fourth place. After a 12-year absence from the event, the U.S. accepted an invitation to compete in the Venezuela edition of the tournament in 2007, though they were eliminated in the first round.

1993 Copa America (Ecuador)

After competing in a four-nation international competition three days prior to the event, the U.S. made its debut at the 1993 Copa America in Ecuador but dropped two out of three first round matches and were eliminated from tournament play. The Americans opened the '93 Copa America with back-to-back shutout losses to Uruguay (1-0) and host Ecuador (2-0), but the team's 3-3 draw against Venezuela in their final game was arguably their most disappointing result. Needing to win with a strong goal-differential to still have a chance to advance to the quarterfinals as a third-place team, the U.S. built a 3-0 lead before watching the lowly Venezuelans score three unanswered goals in the final 25 minutes and earn a 3-3 draw.

1995 Copa America (Uruguay)

In their second consecutive trip to the Copa America, the U.S. proved their worth against the South Americans, posting an impressive fourth-place finish. The Americans began the '95 Copa America with forward Eric Wynalda scoring twice in a 2-1 victory over Chile. After dropping a 1-0 decision to Bolivia, the USA earned a spot in the quarterfinals after shutting out defending champion Argentina 3-0 in the final match of group play. The victory vaulted the U.S. past the stunned Argentinians in goal differential and came in Paysandú, a city on the border of Uruguay and Argentina. The U.S. goals were scored by Wynalda, forward Frank Klopas and defender Alexi Lalas. In the quarterfinals, the U.S. faced a familiar foe from the CONCACAF Region: Mexico, whom the U.S. downed in penalty kicks 4-1 after a goalless draw. The USA's run ended in the semifinals as the squad lost a heartbreaking 1-0 match to Brazil. U.S. midfielder John Harkes was named Co-MVP of the '95 Copa America (along with Uruguay Captain Enzo Francescoli), while U.S. goalkeeper Kasey Keller and Wynalda were both named to the All-Tournament Team.

2007 Copa America (Venezuela)

For the first time in over a decade, the U.S. team traveled to South America to compete in the world's oldest soccer tournament. The United States was drawn in a group including Argentina, Paraguay and Colombia, and headed to what would be their home base in Maracaibo just hours after completing their victory against Mexico in the Gold Cup.

The first game was played against regional and world powerhouse Argentina at the Estadio José Pachencho Romero. Though the U.S. jumped out to an early lead courtesy of an Eddie Johnson penalty kick, the Albiceleste fought back to equalize before the halftime break. In the second period, the quality of the two-time world champions was apparent, and they eventually broke the resistance of the U.S. defense to score three goals in the final half hour, winning the game 4-1.

Having lost the opening match of the tournament, the U.S. entered its second game with Paraguay needing a positive result. Played at the Estadio Agustín Tovar in Barinas, the match was an even affair, with Paraguay jumping out to an early lead. The U.S. equalized through Ricardo Clark in the 35th minute after the midfielder slotted home a Taylor Twellman pass. After halftime, though, Paraguay regained their one-goal advantage in the 56th minute and the teams exchanged blows for the rest of the game, with the U.S. coming close to equalizing on more than a few occasions. In the end, however, Paraguay scored a goal against the run of play in injury time to close out the game with a 3-1 victory.

The third match of the group stage was played with the knowledge that neither the U.S. nor Colombia would advance to the next round. Nonetheless, the crowd at the Estadio Metropolitano de Fútbol de Lara were treated to a competitive affair which Colombia won 1-0. In the end, the young U.S. squad, though eliminated in the first round, gained worthwhile experience in one of the world's premier tournaments and showed again their ability to compete on one of soccer's largest stages.

CONCACAF GOLD CUP HISTORY

Although it only dates back to 1991, the CONCACAF Gold Cup has quickly established itself as a top-flight international tournament. Originally staged as a biennial event held in July of odd-numbered years, the tournament was staged from 1996 to 2002 in even-numbered years in the winter. In 2003, the tournament returned to a summer schedule in odd-numbered years with the next Gold Cup now scheduled for the summer of 2013. Below is a quick synopsis of the 10 Gold Cups played since its inception in 1991.

1991 GOLD CUP

Venues: Los Angeles and Pasadena, Calif., USA

The U.S. surprised the region in 1991 when they swept their way to the inaugural Gold Cup championship. In the finals, the U.S. downed Honduras 4-3 in penalty kicks after the two teams went scoreless after 120 minutes of action in front of 39,873 fans at the L.A. Coliseum. It was in the semifinals, though, where the U.S. stunned all observers with a convincing 2-0 victory against Mexico behind goals from John Doyle and Peter Vermes.

In group play, Marcelo Balboa's stunning bicycle-kick goal capped off a last-minute comeback for the U.S. in their 2-1 victory over Trinidad & Tobago in the opening Gold Cup match. That victory was followed by wins against Guatemala (3-0) and Costa Rica (3-2), which set-up the U.S. heroics against Mexico.

Mexico was forced into the match-up with the U.S. when they lost their group to Honduras on goal differential. Honduras would later advance to the finals with a 2-0 semifinal victory against Costa Rica, which set-up a 2-0 victory for Mexico against the Ticos in the third place match.

Venues: Dallas, Texas, USA; and Mexico City, Mexico

The second Gold Cup tournament wasn't quite as successful for the U.S., but the team still advanced to the finals where they fell to Mexico 4-0 at Azteca Stadium. Following three single-goal victories in the first round against Jamaica (1-0), Panama (2-1) and Honduras (1-0), the U.S. squared off against Costa Rica in the semifinals in Dallas. In that match, the U.S. extended their unbeaten Gold Cup run to nine-games with a 103rd minute golden goal from defender Cle Kooiman.

Meanwhile in Mexico City, where the Mexican team would play all their matches, the Tricolores were racing into the finals. Led by Luis Robert Alves (better known as Zague), the ruthlessly efficient Mexican attack produced 28 goals in five matches, overwhelming group foes Martinique (9-0) and Canada (8-0), while drawing with Costa Rica (1-1). Zague's seven goals against Martinique is, obviously, a Gold Cup record.

In front of a capacity crowd of 120,000, Zague scored again in the final as Mexico downed the U.S. 4-0. Zague finished the tournament with 12 goals in five matches, another Gold Cup record. Third place honors were split after a 1-1 draw between Costa Rica and Jamaica.

Venues: Anaheim, San Diego and Los Angeles, Calif., USA

With Brazil competing in the tournament for the first time via a special invitation, most eyes centered on the defending World Champions. But an impressive 2-0 victory by Mexico on a muddy, wet pitch in front of 88,155 rain-soaked fans handed Mexico their second straight Gold Cup victory. With goals from Luis Garcia and Cuauhtemoc Blanco, the Mexicans were able to stymie the Brazilian attack with help from muddy conditions. Nevertheless, the Brazilians impressed throughout the tournament with a young squad using the experience to prepare for the 1996 Summer Olympic Games.

For the U.S., the tournament wasn't as disappointing as their third place finish would seem. Only a third consecutive 1-0 defeat at the hands of Brazil kept the U.S. out of the finals after the team easily handled the rest of their opposition, including an impressive 3-0 victory against Guatemala in the third place match. That match featured Eric Wynalda's tournament-leading fourth goal, which was the 22nd of his international career, setting a new USA goal standard.

The MVP of the tournament, though, was probably former U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. The Nobel Peace Prize winner and lifelong soccer fan helped secure visas for scores of visiting players despite a U.S. government shutdown.

Venues: Miami, Fla., Oakland and Los Angeles, Calif., USA

The 1998 Gold Cup was the most successful yet for CONCACAF, despite bad weather, postponed games and an historic USA-Brazil clash which was played with less than 24 hours notice for both teams.

Preki Radosavljevic was the story for the U.S. on the offensive end, scoring a brilliant late goal against Costa Rica to send the U.S. through to the semifinals. That goal would have been enough to lift Radosavljevic into U.S. prominence, but he did it one better in the USA's next match, an historic 1-0 triumph against Brazil courtesy of a 22-yard bomb from Preki in the 65th minute.

Of course, Preki's goal was only half the story, as goalkeeper Kasey Keller replaced Brad Friedel in the nets (who started the USA's first two matches) and stymied Romario and Brazil with a 10-save performance, widely considered to be the best in U.S. Soccer history. On the strength of that game alone, and a 1-0 loss to Mexico in the finals notwithstanding, Keller was voted the MVP of the tournament for just two games' work.

In the final, Mexican World Cup hero Luis Hernandez scored in the closing minutes of the first half to give the Tricolores a 1-0 victory against the U.S. National Team and the 1998 Gold Cup crown in front of a sold-out crowd of 91,255 fans at the Los Angeles Coliseum. The crowd was the fourth largest to watch the U.S. National Team domestically, and could have included an additional 6,941 paid spectators who watched the game on a giant television screen inside the Los Angeles Sports Arena, adjacent to the Coliseum.

Venues: Miami, Fla., Oakland and Los Angeles, Calif., USA

The first Gold Cup of the new millennium featured nine teams from the CONCACAF and three invited squads (Colombia, Peru and Korea Republic). The 2000 edition also had several surprises, with a new champion being crowned (Canada) and both Mexico and the United States not reaching the semifinal round, a first for the two regional rivals.

The Americans cruised through the first round by capturing the Group B title with back-to-back shutouts against Haiti (3-0) and Peru (1-0). Cobi Jones led the offense for the USA by notching a goal in the win over Haiti and the game-winner against Peru. In the quarterfinals, though, the U.S. faltered. After battling Colombia to a 2-2 draw through regulation and two overtime periods, the U.S. were defeated in penalty kicks 2-1 and were eliminated from the competition.

Colombia would go on to meet Canada in the 2000 finals. The Canadians had surprisingly advanced out of their first round group by winning a coin-flip tiebreaker against Korea Republic after the two teams had finished dead-even on results and goals. After eliminating three-time defending champion Mexico 2-1 in overtime in the quarterfinals and then topping Trinidad & Tobago 1-0 in the semifinals, Canada would pull off yet another shocker, being crowned 2000 Gold Cup champions after blanking Colombia 2-0 in the finals.

Venues: Miami, Fla., Pasadena, Calif., USA

The 2002 Gold Cup once again featured two invited teams (Ecuador and Korea Republic) along with 10 CONCACAF teams. In spectacular fashion, the U.S. won their first title since 1991 by posting a 4-0-1 record with four shutouts on their way to their 2002 Gold Cup crown.

The United States opened the tournament with consecutive wins in the first round against the Korea Republic (2-1) and Cuba (1-0). After easily blanking El Salvador 4-0 in the quarterfinals, the semifinals saw the U.S. defeat the defending champion Canada 4-2 on penalty kicks after both teams battled to a scoreless draw.

The 2002 final had the USA topping CONCACAF rival Costa Rica 2-0 at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif. Forward Brian McBride was named the tournament MVP after leading the Americans with four tallies.

2003 GOLD CUP

Venues: Foxborough, Mass.; Miami, Fla.; USA; Mexico City, Mexico

The 2003 Gold Cup was the first in 10 years to be played in two countries, with games in both Mexico and the United States. Mexico twice defeated Brazil, who along with Colombia was an invited guest to the tournament, by one goal in Azteca Stadium, including a golden-goal victory in the final. The U.S. finished in the top three for the sixth time in seven tournaments with a thrilling 3-2 come from behind victory over Costa Rica in the Orange Bowl.

The U.S. continued its win streak in group play of the Gold Cup, making easy work of El Salvador and Martinique by identical 2-0 margins. Brian McBride continued his Midas-touch scoring in the tournament with three of the first four U.S. goals. The victories extended the USA's standing as the only CONCACAF team to win every one of its first round games since the inception of the tournament in 1991. The U.S. has won 16 consecutive first round games and has outscored their opponents 33-8. The winning streak includes 10 shutouts, nine one-goal victories and four come-from-behind wins.

2005 GOLD CUP

Venues: Carson, Calif.; East Rutherford, N.J.; Foxborough, Mass.; Houston, Texas; Los Angeles, Calif.; Miami, Fla.; Seattle, Wash.

The 2005 Gold Cup was played in a record-high seven different venues in the United States, and was noteworthy as the United States became the first team in the tournament's history to advance to five overall finals. The USA would go on to win their third title, and second in three tournaments since 2002.

The USA's victory would not come easy, though, as the team needed a penalty kick shootout to down Panama in the tournament's scoreless championship game at Giants Stadium in East Rutherford, N.J. To get to the final, the U.S. needed two goals in the game's final moments to overcome a 1-0 deficit to Honduras and win 2-1.

In the 2005 tournament, the U.S. extended their amazing undefeated history in first round play at the Gold Cup with two more wins and a draw. The USA has never lost one of their 19 opening round matches in eight all-time Gold Cups.

2007 GOLD CUP

Venues: Carson, Calif.; East Rutherford, N.J.; Foxborough, Mass.; Houston, Texas; Los Angeles, Calif.; Miami, Fla.

The 2007 edition of the Gold Cup was played with the added incentive of admission to the 2009 FIFA Confederations Cup for the winner. The United States successfully defended its title, its fourth all-time and third in the last four tournaments.

Though the U.S. coasted through the group stage, taking maximum points while not allowing a goal and in the process extending its unbeaten record in the opening round, they ran into some tough opposition in the knockout stage. After defeating Panama 2-1 in the quarterfinals, the U.S. came up against a stingy Canadian side in the semifinals, and ended up holding on for a 2-1 victory to set up a U.S.-Mexico marquee match up in the final.

Played at Soldier Field for the first time, the championship game pitted the two CONCACAF powers against one another in what would prove to be a gritty affair. In front of 60,000 people, the U.S. came from behind for the first time in the 2007 tournament to eventually defeat Mexico 2-1 for its second consecutive Gold Cup title.

2009 GOLD CUP

Venues: Arlington, Texas; Carson, Calif.; Chicago, Ill.; Columbus, Ohio; East Rutherford, N.J.; Foxborough, Mass.; Glendale, Ariz.; Houston, Texas; Miami, Fla.; Oakland, Calif.; Seattle, Wash.; Washington, D.C.

Held in a record 12 venues across the U.S., the 2009 CONCACAF Gold Cup made a national footprint during the 2009 "Summer of Soccer" in the U.S. The U.S. team, however, faced the disappointment of not winning a third-consecutive title, but did have the satisfaction of returning to a third-straight final with a largely unproven roster.

The CONCACAF Gold Cup kicked off just six days after the U.S. played the 2009 FIFA Confederations Cup Final, and Bob Bradley selected an inexperienced squad that saw seven players earn their first cap during the event. The U.S. continued its unbeaten record in group play, and in the knockout stage got past Panama and Honduras.

By the time the U.S. met Mexico in the final, a record 10 different players had scored the U.S. teams' 12 goals in the tournament. In the second-straight Gold Cup title game against Mexico, the U.S. returned only Brian Ching to the starting lineup from the 2007 squad. The teams were evenly matched for a half, but eventually Mexico prevailed by opening the flood gates with five second-half goals for a 5-0 win.

2011 GOLD CUP

Venues: Arlington, Texas; Carson, Calif.; Charlotte, N.C.; Chicago, Ill.; Detroit, Mich.; East Rutherford, N.J.; Harrison, N.J.; Houston, Texas; Kansas City, Kan.; Pasadena, Calif.; Miami, Fla.; Tampa, Fla.; Washington, D.C.

The 2011 CONCACAF Gold Cup shaped up to be another spectacular event, with 13 venues across the United States tagged to host matches in the confederation championship. The U.S. aimed to reach its fourth consecutive Gold Cup Final, while Mexico sought to defend their title and teams like Costa Rica, Honduras, Jamaica and Panama prepared to demonstrate the shrinking gap between CONCACAF nations.

Keen on winning another championship and earning a spot in the 2013 FIFA Confederations Cup, the U.S. started strong with a 2-0 win against Canada. They took a surprise setback with a loss to Panama – the first ever in the group stage – but rebounded to claim the top spot in the group. After an emphatic win against Jamaica in the quarterfinals and taking revenge on Panama in the semifinals, the stage was set for another marquee meeting between the USA and Mexico.

Facing a stacked Mexican team that included one of club football's most prolific scorers in Manchester United striker Javier "Chicharito" Hernandez, the U.S. bounded out to a 2-0 lead with goals from Michael Bradley and Landon Donovan. Undaunted, the Mexicans recovered to score four unanswered goals in one of the most exciting and well-played finals in Gold Cup history.

OLYMPIC HISTORY

HISTORY OF SOCCER PARTICIPATION

The first official men's Olympic soccer tournament dates back to the 1908 London Games, where Great Britain defeated Denmark to claim the first soccer gold medal. Since that time soccer has been part of every Olympic Games Program, with the exception of the 1932 Los Angeles Games. The 1940 and 1944 Olympic Games were canceled completely due to the political tensions surrounding World War II.

The United States has competed in the men's Olympic finals 13 times, including five straight tournaments from 1984 to 2000. In addition, the U.S. qualified for – but did not compete in – the 1980 Moscow Games following a boycott by the U.S. Olympic Committee. The U.S. missed out on qualifying for the 2004 Athens Olympics, but returned in 2008 after finishing second at the CONCACAF qualifying event, which was held in the U.S.

In 2012, the U.S. Women's National Team earned its third straight gold medal and fourth overall when it topped 2011 FIFA Women's World Cup champion Japan on Aug. 9 in front of more than 80,000 spectators at Wembley Stadium in London. The U.S. Men were eliminated in CONCACAF qualifying in March, dropping to third place in their group following a late El Salvador goal in the closing seconds of a 3-3 draw on March 26.

Up until and including the 1988 Seoul Games, the Olympic soccer tournament was an unrestricted event, and thus the U.S. Olympic Soccer Team was essentially the U.S. National Team. However the tournament structure has changed since that time, and the restrictions on age and experience of players involved in Olympic competition has been under review by FIFA, which makes all tournament recommendations to the International Olympic Committee (IOC).

The 1992 Barcelona Games proved to be the turning point in the Olympic soccer tournament, when the tournament was competed as an under-23 event for the first time. Host Spain captured the title at Barcelona's famed Nou Camp Stadium in front of 95,000 jubilant fans. Spain's progress in the tournament aided struggling attendances in 1992, which were far lower than expected. There is little doubt that the poor attendance in Spain played a role in the changes made for the 1996 Atlanta Games.

Not only did Atlanta '96 signify the first time women's soccer was included in the Olympic Program, but the men's tournament was adapted from its under-23 format in 1992 to include three "overage" players. "Overage" players were those players who were either over 23 years of age or had previously played in an Olympic Games soccer tournament. Claudio Reyna (who was age eligible in 1996, but had competed for the U.S. in 1992), Kasey Keller and Alexi Lalas were the USA's overage players in 1996.

In 2000, veteran defenders Jeff Agoos and Frankie Hejduk, as well as goalkeeper Brad Friedel, were selected as the USA's overage players, helping the team on an unprecedented tournament run, which saw the U.S. advance to the medal round before falling in the semifinals to a strong Spanish team.

For the 2008 Olympics in China, Brian McBride agreed to come out of international retirement and captained a team that included Under-23 stars Sacha Kljestan and Freddy Adu, who had paced the U.S. through qualifying. After a 1-0 victory against Japan in the first game, the U.S. was minutes away from upsetting the Netherlands, reigning European champions, but had to settle for a 2-2 tie after giving up a late free kick goal. In the third group game, eventual runner-up Nigeria took advantage of a third-minute red card by Michael Orozco Fiscal and held on for a 2-1 win to send the U.S. home despite earning four points.

The U.S. Women's National Team claimed the inaugural gold medal at the Atlanta Games with a 2-1 victory over China before 76,481 fans on Aug. 1, 1996, in Athens, Ga. The attendance mark, which at the time was the largest crowd to ever watch a women's athletic event, set the stage for the incredibly successful Women's World Cup staged in the U.S. in 1999. The gold medal victory culminated an impressive five-game undefeated run through the tournament in which the U.S. Women played in front of packed crowds.

As they did in 1996, the U.S. Women had a strong run to the medal stand in 2000, winning the "Group of Death" that included China, Nigeria and Norway. In the Gold Medal match, a spunky Norwegian team refused to yield and eventually took home the gold with a thrilling 3-2 overtime triumph.

The 2004 Athens Games were a fitting end for a number of U.S. veterans, including Mia Hamm, Julie Foudy and Joy Fawcett, who went out of the sport as they came into it: as champions. The never-say-die team won both its semifinal and final matches in overtime, courtesy of a Heather O'Reilly strike against Germany and an Abby Wambach goal against Brazil to claim the gold.

Four years later, the U.S. came into the Olympics without Wambach, the team's top scorer who broke her leg in a preparation match. With Pia Sundhage leading the team into her first World Championship as head coach, a new class of players including Hope Solo, Carli Lloyd and surprise leading scorer Angela Hucles led the team to gold with a 1-0 victory over Brazil.

In 2012, the U.S. Women went undefeated at 6-0-0 for the first time at an Olympic tournament. The USA's run included a thrilling come-from-behind victory in the semifinal against Canada, with Alex Morgan scoring the game-winner in the 123rd minute for the latest goal ever scored in a FIFA competition. In the gold medal match, Lloyd scored both U.S. goals against Japan and the USA became the first country – in both men's and women's soccer – to earn a fourth gold.

PAN-AM GAMES

HISTORY OF SOCCER PARTICIPATION

The Pan American Games are held every four years during the summer preceding the Olympic Games. In terms of the number of sports and athletes, the Pan American Games are second in size only to the Olympics. The men's soccer tournament has been part of every Pan American games since its inception and in 1999 women's soccer made its debut.

After scheduling conflicts kept the United States from competing in the 2003 games in Santo Domingo in the Dominican Republic, U.S. Soccer was able to return to the competition at the 2007 event in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. However, conflicts again kept the U.S. out of the event in 2011 hosted in Mexico.

In 2007, the U.S. Men's team was represented by head coach Bob Jenkins' Under-18 Men's National Team, and after opening the tournament with a strong 2-1 win over Venezuela, the U.S. then dropped its next two games to be eliminated. In its second match, the U.S. led Bolivia 2-0 at the half, only to lose 4-2. Against Mexico in its final group game, the teams were tied 0-0 with 15 minutes remaining when the U.S. was reduced to 10 men, eventually losing 2-0.

The U.S. Under-20 Women's National Team had a very strong run into the tournament finals, behind a blistering six-goal tournament from Lauren Cheney (U.S. Soccer's Young Female Athlete of the Year in 2007). After winning their group with a 2-1-0 record, head coach Jill Ellis' U-20s defeated the full Canada Women's National Team 2-1 in the semifinal, then lost to a steamrolling full Brazil Women's National Team 5-0 in the final (Brazil outscored its opposition 33-0 in five games in preparation for the 2007 Women's World Cup).

In 1999, the U.S. Under-23 National Team competed in the men's tournament, while the U.S. Under-18 Women's National Team represented the U.S. in the women's competition. In the 1999 tournament held in Winnipeg, Canada, the U.S. Men captured the second Pan-Am Games Bronze Medal in their history with a 2-1 victory over the Canada in the third-place match.

Carlos Bocanegra and a young Landon Donovan led the USA with goals in that match. The Under-23 Men, which were represented by U.S. stars from the U-23, U-20 and U-17 levels, did well to rebound from a disappointing 1995 tournament by taking home the bronze.

The women's U-18 squad captured gold medal in the first-ever Pan American Women's Final with a hard-fought 1-0 win over an older Mexico squad. The U.S. Women dominated their opponents throughout the tournament, going undefeated in six games (5-0-1) and outscoring their opposition 22-2.

The first Pan American Games were held in 1951, but its history goes back two decades earlier. In 1932, the South American delegation of the International Olympic Committee (IOC) proposed the formation of an organization to promote amateur sports in the Americas. The idea led to the first Pan American Sports Congress in Buenos Aires, Argentina, in 1940. The 16 countries represented at the meeting formed the Pan American Sports Committee, and agreed to hold the first Pan American Games in 1942 in Buenos Aires, but World War II forced their postponement.

The idea stayed alive, and the first Pan American Games finally opened in Buenos Aires on Feb. 25, 1951. The organization governing the Games was renamed the Pan American Sports Organization (PASO) and is made up of nations of North, Central and South America and the Caribbean.

The soccer tournament at the Pan American Games has never enjoyed a very high profile, perhaps because in the past competing nations have not sent their strongest team. The one exception was the 1975 Games in Mexico City, when 110,000 spectators turned out at Azteca Stadium to watch the final between Mexico and Brazil.

Like many of the competing nations, the United States has used the competition as a preparation for the Olympic Games. In 1991, the U.S. won its only Pan American gold medal in soccer in Havana, Cuba, defeating Mexico 2-1 in overtime. Former U.S. Men's National Team midfielder Joe-Max Moore scored a sensational free kick to win that game for the Americans.

LAMAR HUNT U.S. OPEN CUP

WHAT IS THE LAMAR HUNT U.S. OPEN CUP?

Dating back to 1914, the U.S. Open Cup is the oldest cup competition in United States soccer and is among the oldest in the world. Open to all affiliated amateur and professional teams in the United States, the annual U.S. Open Cup is a 99-year-old single-elimination tournament.

In a nutshell, the U.S. Open Cup is very similar to domestic cup competitions popular throughout Europe, South America and the rest of the world. Cup competitions, which usually run concurrent with a country's league season, are open in the early stages to any club that can qualify, giving local amateur teams a chance to compete against the best teams a country has to offer.

In leagues like the Premier League in England, the Serie A in Italy and the Bundesliga in Germany, cup competitions are prestigious tournaments waged between countries' strongest teams like Manchester United, AC Milan and Bayern Munich, and smaller teams like the amateur French side Calais that made it to the finals of the 2000 French Cup only to fall to defending champions Nantes on an injury time penalty kick. Watford F.C. in England, was another small-time club that hit it big in 1984 by making it all the way to the F.A. Cup Final. In the last decade, unfashionable Chesterfield of the Second Division (the third flight in England) advanced to the semifinals of the 1997 F.A. Cup in England before finally losing. The winner of each country's domestic cup competition, in addition to taking home the prize money, is automatically placed into a tournament to compete against neighboring countries' cup winners.

In 1999, the U.S. Open Cup was renamed the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup to honor the long-time soccer supporter and pioneer. Hunt, who died in 2006, was one of the sport's first major ownership figures and is a member of the National Soccer Hall of Fame. His family continues to operate FC Dallas and the Columbus Crew in Major League Soccer.

The winning team of the U.S. Open Cup has their name engraved on the Dewar Challenge Trophy, which has been permanently retired and remains at U.S. Soccer House in Chicago.

In its 100th year in existence, the tournament will feature a larger field of teams than ever before, as the limit for qualified teams has been increased from 64 to 68. The amount of prize money distributed will also see a substantial increase; the winning team will earn a total of $250,000 (up from $100,000 in recent years), the tournament runner-up will receive $60,000 (up from $50,000) and the winner of each lower division will win $15,000 (up from $10,000).

HISTORY OF THE LAMAR HUNT U.S. OPEN CUP

As the oldest annual team tournament in U.S. sports history, the U.S. Open Cup dates back to 1914 when the Brooklyn Field Club of the North American Foot Ball League (NAFBL) won the first national title by defeating the Brooklyn Celtics in Pawtucket, R.I. First instituted as the National Challenge Cup under the aegis of the United States Football Association (now U.S. Soccer), it was conceived as a competition open to all players (amateur and professional) and based upon England's Football Association Cup format.

During the Open Cup's early years, teams sponsored by industry in the East's urban centers dominated the competition. Bethlehem Steel of Pennsylvania (NAFBL) won four Open Cup titles between 1915 and 1919. Bethlehem Steel would make it five overall titles in 1926, while the American Soccer League's Fall River Marksmen (Mass.) won four national crowns between 1924 and 1931. The Marksmen became the New Bedford Whalers in 1932 and captured their fifth Open Cup crown (tying Bethlehem Steel) that same year.

The last team to capture five tournament titles was the Los Angeles Maccabee SC (1973, 1975, 1977, 1978, 1981).

Although there have been numerous back-to-back winners (eight overall by seven different teams), only the New York Greek-Americans, the Fall River Marksmen/New Bedford Whalers, St. Louis Stix, Baer and Fuller/St. Louis Central Breweries FC, and the Seattle Sounders of Major League Soccer have won three consecutive crowns. The Marksmen/New Bedford Whalers did it first from 1930-1932, while St. Louis Stix, Baer and Fuller/St. Louis Central Breweries FC followed them up with treble of their own from 1933-1935. The Greek-Americans won three straight from 1967-1969 and Sounders FC became the fourth team when they lifted the trophy in 2011 after their 2010 and 2009 triumphs.

While teams sponsored by industries in the East's urban centers dominated the Men's Open and Amateur Cups until the 1950s, the teams from the West and Midwest have flexed their muscles in the later years. In fact, California alone has garnered the lion's share of success, winning 12 titles since 1973. Missouri, Illinois and Florida have also appeared regularly on the winner's list.

Although it is now a complete "knock-out" tournament, with a few exceptions the U.S. Open Cup final was a two-leg, home-and-away series between 1928 and 1968.

Despite the prominence of the North American Soccer League from 1967 to 1984, NASL teams rarely showed the inclination to enter the U.S. Open Cup competition. In fact, until the emergence of Major League Soccer, full professional teams were almost non-existent in the competition. That has changed in the last two decades, though, with MLS taking part since 1996, thus helping to make the tournament a true "national" championship.

HISTORY OF THE DEWAR CHALLENGE TROPHY

The oldest trophy in United States team sports history, the Dewar Challenge Trophy was donated to the American Amateur Football Association in 1912 by Sir Thomas R. Dewar, a British distiller, sportsman and philanthropist during an AAFA (now United States Amateur Soccer Association) visit to London prior to the 1912 Olympics. The trophy was originally purchased for $500 and given in the hope of promoting soccer in the United States and in the name of Anglo-American friendship.

The cup was first awarded to the Yonkers Football Club (N.Y.) in 1912 after they defeated the Hollywood Inn Football Club (N.Y.) at the Lennox Oval in New York City. The trophy was officially adopted as the U.S. Open Cup trophy prior to the Brooklyn Field Club's inaugural championship in 1914 in Pawtucket, R.I.

The trophy was retired in 1979, but was refurbished by the USASA in 1997 and was presented to the 1997 and 1998 Open Cup winners, before returning to the National Soccer Hall of Fame in Oneonta, N.Y., in 1999. Starting in 2011, the trophy resides in the main trophy room at U.S. Soccer House in Chicago. When logistics permit, the still fragile trophy can be taken to the site of the cup final to display prior to the event for fans, and also for the winning team to raise for a night.

2012 LAMAR HUNT U.S. OPEN CUP REVIEW

FINAL RECAP: SPORTING KANSAS CITY HALTS SEATTLE'S RUN IN SHOOTOUT

For the first time in 15 years, the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup required a penalty kick shootout to determine a winner. After a 1-1 draw that lasted through 90 minutes of regulation and 30 minutes of overtime, Sporting Kansas City prevailed with a 3-2 shootout victory against the three-time defending U.S. Open Cup champion Seattle Sounders in front of 18,873 at LIVESTRONG Sporting Park in Kansas City, Kan.

Paulo Nagamura's penalty kick proved to be the game-winner in the fifth round after each team had twice failed to convert. Seattle forward Eddie Johnson had a chance to equalize but skied his shot over the crossbar after Sporting goalkeeper Jimmy Nielsen displayed an assortment of chatter and movement to try to disrupt his effort. Kansas City earned its first title since 2004, when the formerly named Kansas City Wizards won the Open Cup. Kei Kamara and Matt Besler tallied the other two penalties in the shootout for Sporting. Kamara also had the game's first goal in regulation in the 84th minute, only to see the lead erased two minutes later by Seattle defender Zach Scott.

The shootout was the first since the Dallas Burn won the 1997 U.S. Open Cup against D.C. United in penalties at Carroll Stadium in Indianapolis. The Burn and D.C. United played to a scoreless draw through regulation and Dallas topped D.C. 5-3 in the shootout.

The 2012 Open Cup saw the end of a phenomenal run by Seattle, which had won the three previous tournaments and had dominated most of the year's field heading into the final. Seattle was in search of an unprecedented fourth straight crown.

2012 U.S. OPEN CUP FIELD

When the 2012 Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup began on May 15, there were 64 teams with the goal of making it to the Open Cup final. The 99th edition of the Open Cup featured the largest field in the modern era (1995 to present), eclipsing the previous record of 42 teams set in 2005 and 2006. All Division I, II and III professional clubs participated in the tournament proper for the first time ever. Below is the list of teams, with the tournament winners and runners-up winning $100,000 and $50,000, respectively and the winning teams in the third and amateur divisions each winning a $10,000 cash prize.

2012 U.S. SOCCER ATHLETES OF THE YEAR

For their excellence at the highest levels of the sport, U.S. Soccer named U.S. Men's National Team forward Clint Dempsey as the 2012 Male Athlete of the Year and U.S. Women's National Team forward Alex Morgan as the 2012 Female Athlete of the Year. U.S. U-17 MNT forward Rubio Rubin and U-20 WNT defender Julie Johnston won the Young Male and Young Female Awards, respectively. The U.S. Soccer Athlete of the Year award is the highest honor awarded to soccer players in the United States.

The Male Athlete of the Year honor is the third for Dempsey, who previously won in 2007 and 2011. Dempsey becomes the second three-time winner of the award, with goalkeeper Kasey Keller also winning three times (1997, 1999, 2005). Landon Donovan, a four-time winner (2003, 2004, 2009, 2010), is the only player to have won more. Donovan and Dempsey are the only players to have won the award on back-to-back occasions. The award is the first for Morgan and it comes in the Diamond Bar, Calif. native's first time on the ballot.

The U.S. Soccer Athlete of the Year awards have a longer history than any major award in American soccer – more than 20 years. They join the FIFA Players of the Year as the only two awards to honor both the top male and the top female in the sport.

As in years past, online votes registered at ussoccer.com counted for 50 percent of the total votes, while the other 50 percent was represented by votes compiled from members of the national media and U.S. Soccer representatives, including National Team coaches and the members of the U.S. Soccer Board of Directors. A player can only win the Young Athlete award once in his or her career.

U.S. SOCCER MALE ATHLETE OF THE YEAR: CLINT DEMPSEY

Dempsey led U.S. scorers in 2012 with six goals, including five in the Semifinal Round of 2014 FIFA World Cup Qualifying. The forward was also a big part of the USA's memorable win against Italy on Feb. 29, tallying the lone goal in the 1-0 victory in Genoa. He now has 30 goals in his career, tied with Brian McBride for third all-time. In England, Dempsey concluded his career at Fulham as the team's all-time leading scorer in the Premier League before moving to Tottenham in August in one of the highest-profile deals ever for an American abroad.

U.S. SOCCER FEMALE ATHLETE OF THE YEAR: ALEX MORGAN

The Female Athlete of the Year award is the first for Morgan and it comes in the Diamond Bar, Calif. native's first time on the ballot. The forward became only the second player U.S. history to record at least 20 goals and 20 assists in a calendar year, following Mia Hamm in 1998. She also led all U.S. scorers with 28 goals which is good for third-best in a calendar year behind Abby Wambach (31 in 2004) and Michelle Akers (39 in 1991). Morgan has also compiled a team-leading 21 assists in 2012, tied for second-most in a single year.

U.S. SOCCER YOUNG MALE ATHLETE OF THE YEAR: RUBIO RUBIN

U-17 MNT midfielder Rubin took home the Young Male Athlete of the Year award after he finished as the team's leading goal scorer with 11 goals and tied for second in assists with two. His commitment, one-on-one skills, willingness to defend and positive approach to the game help him stand out as a key player for the U-17s as they look toward the U-17 CONCACAF Championship and hopefully a World Cup berth in 2013. A player can only win the Young Athlete award once in his or her career.

U.S. SOCCER YOUNG FEMALE ATHLETE OF THE YEAR: JULIE JOHNSTON

U-20 WNT defender Julie Johnston took home the Young Female Athlete of the Year award in one of the tightest races in the award's history, just edging out her U-20 teammates Kealia Ohai, who scored the winning goal in the U-20 Women's World Cup Final, and midfielder Vanessa DiBernardo. The U-20 WNT captain was instrumental in helping the team win the FIFA U-20 Women's World Cup in Japan, starting all six games on the backline and earning the Bronze Ball as the tournament's third-best player, an extremely rare feat for a defender. The Mesa, Ariz. native also made an impact with Santa Clara, where the junior was the team's leading scorer with eight goals and five assists in 14 appearances.

PRESIDENTIAL GREETING: U.S. Soccer President Sunil Gulati is greeted by FIFA President Sepp Blatter at FIFA House in Zürich, Switzerland.

SUNIL GULATI

PRESIDENT
U.S. SOCCER

Elected U.S. Soccer President in 2006 and re-elected in 2010, Sunil Gulati has more than 30 years of experience at all levels of soccer in the United States and has helped the sport rise to new heights.

The native of Allahabad, India, has played an important role in the development of U.S. Soccer since the early 1980's and has been intimately involved in the rise of the U.S. National Teams to prominence. Gulati continues his mission of improving soccer in the United States by taking an active approach on improving the structure and development of the sport in the country, while also reaching out to broaden the organization's relationships within the international community.

As a highly regarded instructor in the economics department at Columbia University, Gulati balances his academic work with numerous responsibilities within the sport worldwide.

He held the position of Major League Soccer's Deputy Commissioner from its launch until 1999 before becoming the President of Kraft Soccer Properties, a position he served in until 2011. He remains a special advisor to The Kraft Sports Group and the Kraft Family.

Before stepping into his role as President, he served as the U.S. Soccer's Executive Vice President from 2000 to 2006. He has held numerous other positions for U.S. Soccer, including Managing Director of National Teams, Chairman of the International Games Committee, Chairman of the Technical Committee and served on the bid committee for the 1994 FIFA World Cup.

He was also the original Managing Director of U.S. Soccer's Project 2010 and served as Chairman of both U.S. Cup '92 and U.S. Cup '93, two events that helped showcase U.S. Soccer's rise and prepare the federation for the upcoming 1994 FIFA World Cup. Additionally, Gulati served on the Board of Directors of FIFA Women's World Cup USA 1999 and 2003.

Currently, Gulati is a member of the Board for the U.S. Soccer Foundation, the CONCACAF Executive Committee and represents U.S. Soccer as Chairman of CONCACAF National Team Competitions Committee.

At the FIFA level, Gulati has served on the FIFA Confederations Cup Committee, the Strategic Committee, and currently serves on the FIFA Ticketing Subcommittee. In 2011, he was selected to be the FIFA Task Force Football 2014, a 22-member panel that reviews proposals to improve both the attractiveness of football and match control in elite competitions. He was also named to the newly formed Independent Governance Committee, a group which will make recommendations for the governance changes within the FIFA structure.

Gulati graduated Magna Cum Laude from Bucknell University and earned his M.A. and M. Phil. in Economics at Columbia University. He served on the Columbia Economics Faculty from 1986 to 1990 before joining the World Bank through its Young Professionals Program in 1991 and serving as a country economist for the emerging country of Moldova.

Gulati, 53 and his wife, Marcela, have one son, Emilio, and one daughter, Sofia. They live in New York City.

DANIEL T. FLYNN

CEO / SECRETARY GENERAL U.S. SOCCER

As U.S. Soccer's CEO / Secretary General since June 15, 2000, Flynn has taken his lessons learned from the field and applied them administratively at the sport's highest level to help spur the United States Soccer Federation's growth into one of the most respected national governing bodies in the country. Through his tireless efforts, Flynn has been responsible for instilling the groundwork for U.S. Soccer's success in the new millennium.

In his more than 12 years as the organization's CEO, Flynn has overhauled U.S. Soccer's business framework, leading to among other things the development and construction of U.S. Soccer's National Training Center at the Home Depot Center in Carson, Calif., which opened in June 2003. With a renewed focus on National Team and player development, as well as facility development, more and more opportunities are arising for youth players of all ages, highlighted by the addition of a number of Youth National Team programs, an increase in players at the U-17 Men's National Team's Residency Program in Bradenton, Fla., and the creation of the Development Academy Program.

During the summer of 2003 Flynn served as the Chief Executive Officer of the FIFA Women's World Cup USA 2003, putting his strong business background to work in preparing the framework to help the Local Organizing Committee successfully stage the tournament. With attendance peaking above 350,000 despite just four months to organize the event, the tournament was the most financially profitable Women's World Cup ever.

Flynn's career path has included both sports marketing and management positions at Anheuser-Busch, as well as more than 18 years of experience within the sport of soccer at World Cup 1994, the U.S. Soccer Federation and the U.S. Soccer Foundation.

For two years, the 57-year-old Flynn served as Executive Director of the U.S. Soccer Foundation, where he was responsible for the organization's overall management. Prior to joining the Foundation, he played key roles at both World Cup 1994, serving as the Venue Director in Chicago, and at U.S. Soccer, where from 1994 to 1998 he managed the governing body's day-to-day operations at the Federation headquarters in Chicago.

Flynn was a part of the amazing growth of Anheuser-Busch, where he served in numerous capacities both domestically and internationally. He was also directly involved in Anheuser-Busch's sponsorship of the 1986 World Cup in Mexico, which served as the springboard for their future involvement in the sport on a long-term basis.

Dan Flynn learned about winning soccer championships as a product of the famed St. Louis, Mo., soccer scene, eventually becoming a collegiate standout from 1973 to 1977 at St. Louis University, helping guide the Billikens to a 1973 NCAA soccer championship and a runner-up finish in 1974. Born Jan. 20, 1955, in St. Louis, he is married to Cathy and the couple has three daughters (Lauren, Anneliese and Erin).

U.S. Soccer Referee Program

The U.S. Soccer Federation Referee Program's membership ranks among the largest of all FIFA nations with nearly 150,000 registered officials, assessors, assignors and instructors. Officials are registered with U.S. Soccer and work sanctioned games at all levels of the sport including youth, adult, professional and international matches.

Referee Education Resources

U.S. Soccer is committed to producing referee education resources aimed at supporting officials regularly working amateur games at the youth and adult levels. These officials represent the foundation of the U.S. Soccer Referee Program and their training and development is paramount to the success of the program.

A new training curriculum unveiled in 2013 that focuses on targeted training specific to the levels of competition being officiated at the amateur levels. These new materials align with the modern soccer landscape and are designed to improve referee performance by promoting a solid knowledge of the Laws of the Game and emphasizing the importance of practical refereeing.

Professional Referees

In 2012, U.S. Soccer and Major League Soccer created the Professional Referee Organization (PRO) to manage professional and international officials in the United States and Canada. The organization assumed the responsibilities and staff from U.S. Soccer's Professional Referee Department in New York, N.Y., and hired Peter Walton as the General Manager.

The organization's goals are to increase the quality of officiating in U.S. and Canadian professional leagues, develop more professional quality officials at a younger age and produce officials who will represent the United States and Canada in FIFA competitions.

Referee Identification and Training

Referee identification and training continue to be an important part of the Referee Program.

"Identification Teams" scout fields at more than thirty events nationwide, collecting data on hundreds of officials and identifying themes in performance standards and areas for training improvement.

The Selection Panel, a group of former and current elite officials, guides the direction of training and evaluate the standards and performance of high level officials in the program.

In addition, the Platinum Program is an accelerated development training program for select, high-potential officials. Ten officials were named in 2012 as the first class of the program. They officiated in some of the nation's most challenging matches, receiving sophisticated feedback and instruction from top tier evaluators.

U.S. HISTORY & INFO

U.S. Soccer's Coaching Department was established in the early 1970s by famed West German teacher and coach Dettmar Cramer. Each level of U.S. Soccer's National Coaching Programs are designed to meet needs of coaches ranging from the parent coach, who is usually inexperienced in soccer, to the former professional player who desires to coach in amateur, professional and international competitions.

U.S. Soccer's National Coaching Schools continue to provide quality education for coaches in this country, and currently offers seven levels of certification: (A, B, C, D, E, Youth, and GK). We are committed to providing soccer coaches with up-to-date theoretical and practical knowledge so coaches can develop to their full potential. The diagram below shows the current U.S. Soccer National License progression.

The U.S. Soccer National Coaching Schools provide courses in which coaches can earn nationally certified credentials and take advantage of the opportunities and recognition inherent in the attainment of various levels of coaching expertise, a proven curriculum which improves a coach's knowledge of the game and valuable information on current coaching trends and international developments in the game.

Candidates that attend the national coaching schools (for A, B and C licenses) go through a rigorous nine-day schedule of field and classroom sessions, concluding with extensive testing on theoretical and practical applications of the game. The course is conducted in a residential environment that immerses coaches in the culture of soccer and emphasizes field instruction in the areas of technique, tactics and fitness. The course also includes instruction in coaching methodology, team management and sport psychology.

U.S. Soccer has licensed more than 20,000 coaches, in the 40 years since U.S. Soccer's National Coaching Schools were first founded and more than 2,500 coaches have earned the "A" license. Additionally, U.S. Soccer's coaching organization, CoachesNet, currently features 3,000 members.

U.S. Soccer also offers D, E, Youth Modules and Adult Licenses, levels which are available through state associations. While the state associations are responsible for the execution of these courses, the curriculum is developed and overseen by U.S. Soccer's Coaching Education Department. For more information on the courses, downloadable materials are available at ussoccer.com.

On the following page is an overview of U.S. Soccer's coaching education programs and the curriculum for each course offered:

"A" License Course

Length: 9 days – Curriculum Emphasis of the "A" Course:

The National "A" License course is designed to introduce concepts that are targeted toward coaching older players (older junior level and senior level players). The National "A" License focuses on recognizing the principles of the game and its technical applications in 11v11 game format and how these principles influence positional, group and team organization. The course also examines player, team and game management issues as they relate to the senior level player.

"B" License Course

Length: 9 days – Curriculum Emphasis of the "B" Course:

The National "B" License Course focuses on coaches recognizing the principles of the game and its technical applications in 9v9 game situations and develops concepts that are targeted toward coaching players age 16 to college level. Candidates will learn to teach and implement these principles through functional training sessions leading up to the 9v9 game.

"C" License Course

Length: 9 days – Curriculum Emphasis of the "C" Course:

The National "C" License course is designed to introduce concepts that are targeted toward coaching players ages 11 – 14, with a primary emphasis on the close relationship between technique and tactics. The National "C" License course also provides a foundation in the following areas: tactics, technique, methods of coaching and issues in youth player development.

Goalkeeping License

Length: 8 days – Curriculum Emphasis of the Goalkeeping Course:

Premiering in January 2006, the Goalkeeping License is intended for goalkeeping coaches, as well as the more experienced team coach who has never played the goalkeeper position. Candidates will learn how to plan and manage their goalkeeper's development over the course of the season as well as learn in-depth about the technical, tactical, psychological and fitness components of the goalkeeper position.

Youth License Course ("Y" License)

Length: 5 days – Curriculum Emphasis of the "Y" Course:

The National Youth License focuses upon the nature of children and the adjustments adults must make to coach them. The course is an age specific course designed to increase the coaches' knowledge of the physical, psychological and social characteristics displayed by children of specific ages from the ages of U-6 to U-12.

"D" License Course

Length: 38 hours – Curriculum Emphasis of the "D" Course:

The "D" License course prepares coaches to further develop their player's technical abilities and their application within the game, increases their understanding of the Principles of Play and how they are applied in the game.

"E" License Course

Length: 18 hours – Curriculum Emphasis of the "E" License:

The "E" License is designed as an entry-level course to provide general instruction to coaching and organizing your team and covers the elementary principles of coaching.

Youth Modules - Level I, II and III

Length: Varies by level – Curriculum Emphasis of the Youth Modules:

The curriculum of the youth modules is age specific for the age groups of U-6 to U-12. This course focuses on preparing the parent coach who has little or no experience in the game of soccer.

Adult Coaching License

Length: 20 hours – Curriculum Emphasis of the Adult Coaching License:

The purpose of the Adult Coaching License is to train amateur coaches in current coaching methodology, team administration and player preparation for all levels of Adult soccer. This course provides USASA coaches the opportunity to be exposed to topics targeted for their individual team and club needs.

Continuing Education Program

The purpose of the U.S. Soccer Continuing Education Program (CEP) is to provide meaningful educational opportunities for coaches wishing to maintain their "A" License. It is important that coaches stay current with the latest national and international developments involving the growth of the game.

Educational activities or events that are directed, sponsored or co-administrated by U.S. Soccer will be certified as Continuing Education events and CE credits awarded. It is U.S. Soccer policy that all coaches currently holding an "A" License must accumulate eight- (8) CE credits within every four-year cycle in order to maintain the status of their "A" License.

U.S. Soccer recognizes or conducts the following activities or events where CE credits can be obtained. Credit amounts will vary pending duration and/or level of programming.

- Attendance at a regional coaching or player development workshop or in-service program (2-4 credits)
- Attendance at a U.S. Soccer coaching symposium (2-4 credits)
- Attendance at a U.S. Soccer National Coaching School "A" Renewal course (8 credits)
- Successful completion of the U.S. Soccer Goalkeeping License course (8 credits)
- Successful completion of the U.S. Soccer National Youth License Course, effective as of January 2007 (8 credits)
- Successfully completing the National Soccer Coaches Association of America (NSCAA) Premier Course (8 credits)
- Attendance at a U.S. Soccer international workshop (8 credits)

U.S. Soccer may conduct other activity or events that will provide additional opportunities to earn CE credits. These activities are publicized on ussoccer.com and are open to coaches of all levels.

CHICAGO: HOME TO U.S. SOCCER HOUSE

In the tradition of many world soccer federations and the FIFA House in Zurich, the U.S. Soccer Federation took up residence in two refurbished mansions in Chicago's Prairie Avenue Historical District more than 18 years ago. Since dubbed the U.S. Soccer House, the corner of 18th Street and Prairie Avenue now serves as the American home of the world's most popular sport.

Formerly located in Colorado Springs, Colo., U.S. Soccer moved their operational base into the Kimball house at 1801 South Prairie Avenue and the Coleman-Ames house at 1811 South Prairie Avenue in December of 1991.

Dating back to 1873, Soccer House was built by William Wallace Kimball, founder of Kimball pianos and organs; Joseph Coleman, president of a hardware manufacturing firm; and Coleman's wife, Leonora, who served on the board of the Women's Christian Association in 1886.

There was a time when Prairie Avenue, from 16th to 22nd streets, was the "Fifth Avenue" of the Midwest. The area is a testament to the hard work and dedication of the men and women who helped shape the industrialization of the Midwest and in 1979 it was designated an historical district.

Nearly 20 millionaires once resided within Soccer House's six-block area. Families who were influential in the industrialization of the Midwest and called South Prairie Avenue home included: George Pullman (railroad cars), John J. Glessner (farming implements), Marshall Field (retailer), Samuel Allerton (banker) and Philip Armour (meat packing).

Kimball House

Coleman-Ames House

Prairie Avenue Historical District

Construction of Prairie Avenue began after the Great Chicago Fire of 1871 when Pullman became the first millionaire to move to the area, building the grandest of Prairie Avenue mansions in 1873. Friends of Pullman followed his lead and also built extravagant homes on Prairie Avenue. The Marshall Field House was the first in the neighborhood to be electrically lit.

The Kimball House, built of Bedford limestone and topped with a slate roof, has an exterior consisting of numerous large and small turrets, gables, balconies and ornamental iron-railed galleries. The interior of Kimball House is as extravagant as its exterior, with wood abundant throughout. The ceilings are beamed in oak and mahogany, and fireplaces made of onyx warm the parlor.

Neighboring the Kimball House to the south is the Coleman-Ames House built in 1886. Numerous families have resided in this mansion. Coleman, the original owner, lived in the home until 1888, when he sold the mansion to Massachusetts coal merchant Miner T. Ames. Ames resided in the house for just two years before he died in 1890. The Coleman-Ames house is home to U.S. Soccer's coaching, refereeing, accounting and technology departments, as well as the set of Studio 90.

It wasn't until the late 1940s that a connecting link between the Kimball and Coleman coach houses was erected, designed to give the courtyard a unified appearance.

With its historic appearance, Soccer House has been Chicago's home to Hollywood, serving as a location shoot for a number of motion pictures, including extended use for the filming of Richard Gere's "Primal Fear."

U.S. Soccer National Training Center

The Home Depot Center • 18400 Avalon Blvd. • Carson, Calif. 90746
310-630-2280 phone • 310-630-2270 fax

U.S. Soccer's National Training Center at The Home Depot Center in Carson, Calif., stands as one of the great achievements in the organization's almost 100-year history. What started as a vision in 1999 became a reality with its construction in 2003, and is now widely-hailed as the future of the sport in the United States.

The complex is a first-class facility that shows the integration of all the U.S. National Team programs, from U-14 developmental camps straight through to the full men's and women's teams playing in the main stadium.

The Home Depot Center officially opened for U.S. Soccer on June 6, 2003, as the U.S. Under-17 Men's National Team arrived to begin training. The first game at The HDC was played in the stadium one day later on June 7, 2003, as the Los Angeles Galaxy topped the Colorado Rapids, 2-0, in Major League Soccer action.

Located on the campus of California State University, Dominguez Hills, the National Training Center includes four grass soccer fields, two FieldTurf soccer fields and a general training area. The complex also includes three additional practice fields for Chivas USA, the Galaxy and the college, as well as all the necessary team support facilities, including locker rooms, a training room, a weight room and office space for staff. U.S. Soccer has approximately a dozen full-time staff working out of The National Training Center.

In a very short time, The Home Depot Center established itself as the center of the soccer world in the United States, and was the main reason the United States was able to serve as an emergency host for the 2003 FIFA Women's World Cup. The facility hosted early round games, as well as the third-place match and the final on short notice after the tournament was moved from China to the United States.

The stadium has also hosted numerous international and professional tournaments, including the CONCACAF Gold Cup, Champions League, SuperLiga and InterLiga, while also bringing some of the largest clubs in the world for friendlies.

Below is a breakdown of the activity at U.S. Soccer's National Training Center in both 2012 and 2011.

U.S. HISTORY & INFO

Early 1800s: As was the case in England, many American schools and colleges played forms of football, but under rules that varied from place to place.

1862: The Oneida Football Club, made up of Boston prep school students, was organized by Gerritt Smith Miller. The game the Oneidas played was more like rugby than like soccer, but they were the first American team playing any type of football to be organized on a continuing basis, rather than just for the day.

1866: The first game in America using the association football rules standardized three years before in London was played on Oct. 11 in Waukesha, Wis. A team of Carroll College students beat a team of local residents.

1869: A week after they played what has been called the first American football game, teams from Princeton and Rutgers met on Nov. 13 in Princeton, N.J., in a game using association football rules, the first intercollegiate soccer game in America.

1876: Most of the football-playing colleges abandoned soccer in favor of rugby. However, within a few years soccer had begun to take hold in immigrant communities in various American locations such as Fall River, Mass.; Kearny, N.J., and St. Louis.

1883: The first soccer league in America, the Western Football Association, was organized in St. Louis.

1884: The American Football Association, only the second national soccer association outside of the British Isles, but one that was really more regional than national, was organized in Newark, N.J.

1885: The first American Football Association Cup was won by ONT of Kearny, N.J., and a team representing the United States played one from Canada in Kearny on Nov. 28 in the first "international" game in America.

1894: The first attempt to start a pro soccer league in the United States, the American League of Professional Football Clubs, lasted for only three weeks in October. However, a longer-lasting league, the National Association Foot Ball League, began the following spring.

1898: A depression resulting from the financial panic of 1893 caused the suspension of both the American Football Association and the nation's leading league, the National Association Foot Ball League of New Jersey.

1904: A Canadian team won the soccer competition at the Olympic Games in St. Louis.

1905: A 17-game North American tour by the Pilgrims, an English amateur team, helped to revive soccer in the United States. St. Leo's won the first of its 10 consecutive St. Louis Major League titles.

1906: West Hudson of Harrison, N.J., won the first championship of the revived AFA Cup. A year later, it added the first championship of the revived National Association Foot Ball League.

1913: The United States Football Association was founded at an April 5 meeting in New York. FIFA, which had been founded in 1904, granted it provisional membership later in the year and full membership in 1914.

1914: The first National Challenge Cup tournament, the championship of the new USFA, was won by the Brooklyn Field Club (the tournament's name was later changed to the U.S. Open Cup).

1916: The first national team organized by the USFA, named the All-American Football Club, played six games in a tour of Sweden and Norway. The captain, Thomas Swords of Fall River, scored the first goal ever for the U.S. national team, against Sweden.

FIRST TEAM: The very first U.S. Men's National Team squad prepares to take the field in their first match, a 3-2 victory over Sweden in Stockholm on Aug. 20, 1916.

1919: Bethlehem Steel, after sweeping the National Challenge Cup, the AFA Cup and the National Association Foot Ball League, became the first American club to make a European tour when it played 14 games in Sweden and Denmark.

1920: The National Challenge Cup was won for the first time by a team from west of the Alleghenies, Ben Millers of St. Louis.

1921: The original American Soccer League, largely a merger of the National Association Foot Ball League in the Middle Atlantic states and the Southern New England Soccer League, began play. In its first season, it included three teams from Massachusetts, two from New York, two from New Jersey and one from Pennsylvania.

1924: The Fall River Marksmen became the first team to win the American Soccer League and National Challenge Cup titles in the same year.

1925: Archie Stark of Bethlehem Steel scored 67 goals in the 44-game ASL season, setting an American first-division record that still stands.

1926: A game between Austrian first-division team Hakoah and a New York all-star team drew a crowd of 46,000 to the Polo Grounds in New York. Bethlehem Steel won the last of its five National Challenge Cup titles.

1928: The Soccer War, a year-long battle between the ASL and the USFA, began with ASL demands to take over the leading role in administering the sport.

1930: The 1930 U.S. World Cup Team advanced into the semifinals and finished third.

1930: The United States was one of 13 nations to compete in the first World Cup in Uruguay, upsetting Belgium and Paraguay before being eliminated by Argentina in the semifinals. Bert Patenaude of Fall River scored the first World Cup hat trick. Later in the year, the Fall River Marksman, again winners of the ASL and National Challenge Cup titles, made a six-game tour of Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Austria.

1932: Disputes over the definition of an amateur and the costs of long travel distance from Europe caused the elimination of soccer from the program at the Los Angeles Olympic Games.

1933: Two years after the demise of the original American Soccer League, a new ASL, with a scaled-back budget, began play.

1934: Buff Donelli, later a famous American football coach, scored four goals in a World Cup qualifying victory against Mexico. The U.S. Men too part in their second consecutive World Cup, going winless in Italy.

'34 IN ITALY: The U.S. lost their only match of the 1934 World Cup, losing 7-1 to host Italy.

1938: The USFA, citing the gathering threat of war in Europe, declined to send a team to the World Cup in France.

1941: The Kearny Scots won their fifth consecutive American Soccer League championship. The National Soccer Coaches Association was formed by 10 coaches at a meeting in New York.

1944: Billy Gonsalves, playing for Brooklyn Hispano, won the last of his remarkable eight U.S. Open Cup championships.

1945: The U.S. Football Association changed its name to U.S. Soccer Football Association.

1947: Ponta Delgada of Fall River became the first team to win the U.S. Open Cup and the National Amateur Cup in the same year.

1948: The first game in the United States between two leading European teams, Liverpool of England and Djurgardens of Sweden, was played in Brooklyn.

1950: Joe Gaetjens' goal in the 37th minute enabled the United States to score its famous 1-0 victory against England in Belo Horizonte, Brazil. Despite the victory, the United States failed to advance past the first round of the World Cup.

GAME OF THEIR LIVES: The 1950 U.S. World Cup Team shocked the world with their 1-0 upset win over England.

1952: The United States played Scotland in front of a crowd of 107,765 at Hampden Park in Glasgow.

1953: The USSFA assumed administration of the National Soccer Hall of Fame in an agreement with the Philadelphia Old-Timers Association, which had started the Hall three years before.

1959: The first NCAA soccer championship was won by St. Louis University. The United States finished third in the soccer tournament at the Pan-American Games in Chicago.

1960: The International Soccer League, featuring European and South American clubs in their off-seasons, began play in New York. In the first championship game, Bangui of Brazil beat Kilmarnock of Scotland.

THE GOAL: Joe Gaetjens' redirection of a shot from Walter Bahr rolls into the goal, giving the U.S. their historic 1-0 victory over England in Brazil on June 29, 1950.

1961: CONCACAF, the Confederation of North and Central America and the Caribbean of Association Football, was formed at a meeting in Mexico City.

1965: The first college women's varsity soccer team was organized at Castleton State College in Vermont.

1966: Pelé played his first game in the United States, for his longtime Brazilian club Santos against Benfica of Portugal in New York.

1968: The Atlanta Chiefs defeated the San Diego Toros in the first North American Soccer League championship series.

1974: The U.S. Soccer Football Association changed its name to U.S. Soccer Federation.

1975: Pelé, who had retired the year before from Santos, signed for $2.8 million with the New York Cosmos.

1977: Pelé won his only North American Soccer League championship as the Cosmos defeated the Seattle Sounders in the final. A month after the season, Pelé played his final game, changing uniforms at halftime in a match between the Cosmos and Santos, in East Rutherford, N.J. By signing Franz Beckenbauer of West Germany and Carlos Alberto of Brazil, the Cosmos became the first team in world soccer history to field the captains of the last two World Cup-winning teams.

1978: American soccer rode the crest of the attendance surge that followed Pelé's American venture, with the North American Soccer League expanding from 18 teams to 24 and the Major Indoor Soccer League beginning play with six teams.

1982: A European selection played a World selection in the FIFA all-star game in East Rutherford, N.J., but the NASL surge was beginning to fade. The Cosmos won the last of their five NASL championships. North Carolina won the first NCAA women's soccer championship.

1984: A crowd of 101,799, still the largest ever to attend a soccer game in the United States, saw the Olympic final between Brazil and France in Pasadena, Calif.

ALL BUSINESS: Paul Caligiuri is all business after scoring the "Shot Heard Around the World" for the U.S., sending the team into their first World Cup in 40 years.

1985: The North American Soccer League folded, a year after the second American Soccer League had done the same. Three months later, the New York Cosmos folded, after attempting to play a series of exhibition games. The United States men were surprisingly eliminated by Costa Rica in World Cup qualifying, but the United States women's national team played its first game.

1986: FIFA, which five years earlier had rejected a United States bid for the 1986 World Cup, named the United States as host of the 1994 World Cup.

1989: The United States qualified for the World Cup for the first time in 40 years. Paul Caligiuri's famous goal in the deciding game was a 35-yard dipping shot that found the net in a 1-0 upset victory against Trinidad & Tobago Nov. 19 in front of 35,000 red-clad Trinidadians. The U.S. Futsal National Team finished third at the first FIFA World Championship for Futsal.

FIRST OF SIX: The 1990 World Cup marked the first of six consecutive world cup appearances for the U.S.

1990: The U.S. competed in the World Cup for the first time in 40 years. The WSL and the ASL merged to form the American Professional Soccer League (APSL).

NUMBER ONE: Anson Dorrance led the U.S. Women to the inaugural Women's World Cup crown in 1991 in China.

1991: The U.S. Women captured the first-ever FIFA Women's World Championship in China with a 2-1 win against Norway Nov. 30. The women qualified for the world championship by defeating its five CONCACAF opponents by a combined score of 49-0. The U.S. National Team won its first-ever regional championship July 7 when it captured the CONCACAF Gold Cup by defeating Honduras 4-3 in penalty kicks. The U.S. U-23 team won the gold medal at the Pan Am Games in Cuba.

1992: The U.S. Men won the inaugural U.S. Cup '92 in June, defeating Ireland 3-1 and Portugal 1-0, and tying three-time World Cup champion Italy 1-1. The U.S. Futsal Team won the silver medal at the 2nd FIFA World Championship in Hong Kong. The M(I)SL folded after 15 years in existence.

1993: In February, U.S. Soccer held the first-ever Strategic Summit where more than 250 soccer leaders and personalities met in Chicago for four days to plan the development of soccer into the 21st century. U.S. Cup '93 was used as a dress rehearsal for World Cup organizers, officials and volunteers, as well as the U.S. Men. The USA's 2-0 defeat of England made headlines around the world. Attendance and media interest were high, with 286,761 people attending the tournament's six games, and ABC broadcasting the June 13 U.S.-Germany match.

The U.S. Under-20 Men defeated Europe's No. 1 seed, Turkey, 6-0 in the first game of the World Youth Championship in Australia. FIFA officials called the trouncing one of the most extraordinary results in the history of the tournament.

The APSL was declared a Division II professional league. The United States Interregional Soccer League

(USISL) was given Division III status. Plans for Major League Soccer — a Division I league to follow the legacy of World Cup '94 — were presented by U.S. Soccer President Alan Rothenberg.

1994: U.S. Soccer served as host national association for the 1994 FIFA World Cup, staging the greatest event in FIFA history. More than 3.5 million fans flocked to stadiums — still a World Cup record — and soccer fever in the U.S. was at an alltime high. The U.S. team advanced beyond the first round for the first time in 64 years, falling to eventual champion Brazil 1-0 in a July 4 round of 16 showdown at Stanford Stadium in Palo Alto, Calif. On June 4, 91,123 fans jammed the Rose Bowl to watch the U.S. defeat Mexico, 1-0, in its final tune-up prior to the World Cup. Game proceeds netted $1 million in U.S. Soccer contributions to UNICEF/Children's Defense Fund.

The U.S. Women won the Chiquita Cup, a four-team international tournament in which the U.S. hosted Germany, China and Norway. The U.S. went on to successfully defend its CONCACAF championship, qualifying for the 1995 FIFA Women's World Championship by outscoring the opposition 36-1 en route to winning all four qualification matches. Head coach Anson Dorrance announced his resignation and U.S. Soccer named assistant coach Tony DiCicco to succeed him.

STARS AND STRIPES I: The 1994 MNT advanced out of World Cup group play for the first time in 64 years.

1995: U.S. Soccer announced in February its intention to host the 1999 Women's World Cup and began the formal bid process with FIFA. The U.S. Men won the U.S. Cup '95 in June, defeating Nigeria and Mexico and tying Colombia. Later that month, the women placed third in the FIFA Women's World Cup in Sweden, falling to eventual champion Norway in the semifinals 1-0, then defeating China.

In July, the men made international headlines by advancing to the semifinals of Copa America. The U.S. scored its first-ever victory against Argentina, 3-0, and advanced via penalty kicks (against Mexico) into the semifinals before falling 1-0 to defending world champion Brazil. Steve Sampson, who had served as interim coach since April, was named full-time head coach in August.

1996: The U.S. Women won the first women's soccer gold medal at the 1996 Atlanta Olympics, defeating China 2-1 in the championship game. The U.S. posted a 21-1-2 overall record and won the Brazil Cup and U.S. Women's Cup '96. The U.S. Men's Olympic Team narrowly missed advancing to the quarterfinals with a 1-1 record.

Major League Soccer was launched, providing the United States with its first Division I outdoor pro league since the North American Soccer League ceased operations in 1985. MLS averaged more than 17,000 fans per game. The A-League and USISL merged to form a larger and stronger Division II outdoor league.

FIFA awarded the 1999 Women's World Cup to the United States and U.S. Soccer pledged it would be the biggest and most successful women's sporting event ever.

1997: The U.S. Men qualified for a third straight World Cup, completing a 16-game qualifying run with just two losses and advancing with a game to spare. The U.S. Women continued their impressive play by winning their fourth straight Nike U.S. Cup.

The FIFA Women's World Cup Organizing Committee had awarded the '99 games to seven U.S. locations: Boston; Chicago; Los Angeles; New York/New Jersey; Portland, Ore.; San Francisco Bay Area; and Washington, D.C.

1998: A disappointing World Cup finished with the U.S. in last place after two difficult match-ups against Germany and Yugoslavia, and a heartbreaking loss to Iran. Brian McBride scores the team's only World Cup goal. The tournament concludes with the resignation of head coach Steve Sampson, who is eventually replaced on Oct. 27, by Bruce Arena.

The women's team continued their impressive play, losing just twice in 1998 while playing in front of record crowds all across the country. Dr. Bob Contiguglia took over as U.S. Soccer's new president, replacing Alan I. Rothenberg, who had reached the eight-year term limit.

1999: In front of more than 90,000 fans at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif., the U.S. women won the 1999 FIFA World Cup by playing China to a 0-0 tie through regulation and overtime and then defeating them 5-4 in penalty kicks. Soccer hysteria spread through America as the women appeared on every top news program, at the White House and on the cover of Time, Newsweek, People and Sports Illustrated. U.S. Women's National Team head coach Tony DiCicco resigned in November as the winningest coach in U.S. Soccer history with a record of 103-8-8.

In Bruce Arena's first full year at the helm of the U.S. Men, the team records triumphs against Germany (twice), Argentina, Chile and earns third place at the 1999 FIFA Confederations Cup in Mexico. The U-23 Men's beat Canada for the bronze medal at the 1999 Pan American Games in Winnipeg, Canada, while the U-18 Women captured the gold. The U-20 Men advanced to the second round of the 1999 FIFA World Youth Championship in April, with their only two losses coming to eventual finalists Spain and Japan. Taylor Twellman scored four goals and earned the Bronze Boot to become the first American male in the modern era to earn a FIFA scoring award. In November, the U-17 Men extended a record unbeaten streak to 24 games, advancing to the semifinals of the World Championship before losing in penalty kicks to Australia. Landon Donovan and DaMarcus Beasley earned the Gold and Silver Balls as the tournaments top two MVPs.

2000: Bruce Arena's squad continued to advance toward their ultimate goal of qualifying for the 2002 World Cup. The team secured 10 out of a possible 12 points — all shutouts — to win its semifinal qualifying group.

The U.S. Women maintained the momentum from their historic Women's World Cup title with 41 matches in 2000, posting a 26-6-9 record. The U.S. won six tournament titles in 2000, but had to settle for a silver medal at the 2000 Summer Olympics, losing in overtime to archrival Norway in the gold medal match.

The U.S. Men and Women put on an impressive display for the world at the Sydney Games as the only nation to have both its teams advance to the semifinals. The men were the surprise team of the tournament, winning their group and advancing to the semis before grabbing fourth place, the highest Olympic finish for the U.S.

2001: The U.S. Men qualified for a fourth straight World Cup, boosted by four wins and a draw to open the final round of CONCACAF qualifying. For the first time, the U.S. Men clinched a spot in the World Cup at a home qualifier, topping Jamaica 2-1 behind two goals from Joe-Max Moore in front of 40,483 fans at the last soccer match played at Foxboro Stadium.

The U.S. Women played only 10 international matches as the Women's United Soccer Association begins play, with the Bay Area CyberRays winning the inaugural Founders Cup. Mia Hamm was named the first FIFA Women's World Player of the Year.

The Under-17 Men advanced to a ninth consecutive FIFA U-17 World Cup, but were drawn into the Group of Death in Trinidad & Tobago with Japan, Nigeria and France, and were eliminated in the first round. The U.S. Under-20 Men qualified for their third straight FIFA

COMING UP ROSES: The U.S. Women's National Team won the 1999 FIFA Women's World Cup, the most successful women's sporting event ever, in a penalty shootout against China.

World Youth Championship, where the team finished second in their group in Argentina and were eliminated in the second round by Egypt.

The National Professional Soccer League, in existence since 1984-95, merges with the WISL and is renamed as the Major Indoor Soccer League.

SAVED: Brad Friedel saved a penalty kick by Korea Republic as the U.S. preserved a 1-1 draw in their second group game in 2002.

2002: The U.S. Men advanced to the quarterfinals at the 2002 World Cup in Korea/Japan, the team's best World Cup showing since 1930. The U.S. shocked the world with a stunning 3-2 opening game upset of Portugal before eventually finishing in second place in Group D. The U.S. then posted their first victory in the World Cup knockout stage, blanking CONCACAF rival Mexico 2-0 in the Round of 16. The World Cup run ended in the quarterfinals with a 1-0 loss to Germany. Claudio Reyna was named to the All-Tournament Team, while Landon Donovan earned honorable mention. The men began 2002 by winning the CONCACAF Gold Cup in January with a convincing 2-0 victory against Costa Rica for the first Gold Cup title for the U.S. since 1991.

HOME DEPOT DRAW: U.S. WNT legends Michelle Akers and Carin Gabarra took part in the FIFA Women's World Cup USA 2003 Final Draw at The Home Depot Center in Carson, Calif.

The U.S. Women's qualified for their fourth consecutive FIFA Women's World Cup after capturing the 2002 CONCACAF Gold Cup with a 2-1 overtime victory against Canada at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif. The U.S. Under-19 Women topped the host Canadians

1-0 in overtime to win the inaugural FIFA U-19 Women's World Championship. Kelly Wilson won the Bronze Ball as the tournament's third MVP and the Silver Boot, while captain Lindsay Tarpley earned the Bronze Boot.

The U.S. Under-20 National Team qualified for their fourth consecutive FIFA World Youth Championship. The U.S. National Futsal Team played their first home matches in history, defeating Canada and tying Mexico in March in Baltimore, Md., and Washington, D.C., respectively.

2003: Due to the outbreak of Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome, FIFA relocated the Women's World Cup out of China. After a successful bid to host the tournament, U.S. Soccer faced the unprecedented task of hosting the tournament with just four months of preparation. The U.S. Women won Group A and then beat Norway in the quarterfinals 1-0. But Germany stunned the U.S. with a 3-0 victory in the semifinals, which led the U.S. to top Canada in the third-place match. Shannon Boxx, Joy Fawcett and Mia Hamm all earned all-star honors from FIFA.

The U.S. Men, preparing for World Cup qualifying in 2004, finished in third place at the CONCACAF Gold Cup with a 3-2 come-from-behind win against Costa Rica. The Men's Under-17 and Under-20 squads finished their respective World Championships with fifth place finishes after bowing out with quarterfinal losses to Brazil and Argentina, respectively.

GOLDEN GIRL: Abby Wambach was truly golden in 2004, scoring an unfathomable 31 goals, including the overtime winner to clinch the 2004 gold medal at the Athens Olympics.

2004: The U.S. Women won every tournament entered, culminating with the 2004 Olympics. Other tournament titles included the Algarve Cup, the Four Nations Tournament and the CONCACAF Regional Olympic qualifying tournament, as the team set a record with 28 victories on the year.

Under head coach Bruce Arena, the U.S. Men qualified for the final round of World Cup Qualifying for the CONCACAF region. The men finished the year with an 8-1-6 record, losing only to the Netherlands away and going a record 13-games undefeated.

The U-23 Men failed to qualify for the Olympics for the first time since 1976, losing 4-0 to Mexico in Guadalajara after winning their group only match up against the second-place Mexicans in the single-elimination qualifier. The Under-19 Women finished third at the FIFA U-19 Women's World Championship. The Futsal Team won the 2004 CONCACAF Championship and qualified for the 2004 FIFA Futsal World Championship, where the team had a strong showing with a seventh-place finish.

2005: Manager Bruce Arena led the U.S. Men to a first place finish in CONCACAF World Cup qualifying for the first time in 71 years, earning a berth at the 2006 FIFA World Cup Finals in Germany with a 2-0 win against Mexico in Columbus, Ohio. The men also brought home the 2005 CONCACAF Gold Cup, beating Panama 3-1 in penalty kicks after a scoreless draw. The team finished the year with a record 13 wins and .750 winning percentage.

The U.S. Women began a new era, starting off the year with a new coach and a third consecutive Algarve Cup title, their fourth overall. They ended the year undefeated and without allowing a single goal.

The Under-20 Men swept through CONCACAF Qualifying, earning a berth to the FIFA Youth World Championship, where they finished 11th, bowing out to Italy in the Round of 16. The Under-17 Men also had a strong 2005, qualifying for the 2005 FIFA U-17 World Championship and finishing fifth overall after a loss to Holland in the second round.

2006: A disappointing World Cup in Germany for the United States, as the team failed to advance out of the first round despite a gallant, nine-man 1-1 draw with eventual World Cup champions Italy. After eight years in charge, Bruce Arena is replaced at the helm of the U.S. MNT by Bob Bradley, on an interim basis.

Later in the summer, the U.S. Under-20 Women's National Team finished fourth in Russia. The disappointing finish marks the first time a U.S. Women's National Team has finished outside the top three in a FIFA or CONCACAF World Championship event.

The U.S. Women, however, continued their incredible run under Greg Ryan, winning three of the four tournaments they enter. The year concludes with another Women's Gold Cup crown and a berth in the 2007 FIFA Women's World Cup in China.

2007: Bob Bradley became the first Men's coach to win his first three games in charge and was hired full-time to guide the USA through 2010. In the summer of 2007, the MNT won its second consecutive Gold Cup, and fourth total title, by defeating Mexico 2-1 in front of a packed house at Soldier Field in Chicago. With the victory, the MNT gained entry into the 2009 Confederations Cup. The Men also travelled to Venezuela to compete in Copa America for the third time.

After qualifying for their respective World Cups to continue impressive streaks, the U-17 Men and U-20 Men took on the world during the summer in back-to-back tournaments. The U-20 team performed admirably in Canada, and reached the quarterfinals after defeats of Poland, Brazil and Uruguay. The U-17 team, meanwhile, did well to qualify from a tough group in South Korea, before being eliminated by Germany in the Round of 16. The U.S. Women maintained a two-plus year undefeated run, looking to take the streak into the FIFA Women's World Cup. Drawn into the toughest group in Women's World Cup history, the U.S. advanced in first place after three difficult games against Korea DPR, Sweden and Nigeria. The U.S. rolled into the semifinals, but was upended by a quality Brazil side. Eventually, the WNT took third place for the second consecutive World Cup with a convincing win against Norway. Former Swedish National Team player and captain Pia Sundhage was appointed to the position of WNT coach after Greg Ryan's departure from the team.

Wilmer Cabrera was named head coach of the U-17 MNT, replacing John Hackworth. For the first time, U.S. Soccer hired four full-time referees to enhance high-level performance, training and development opportunities for the sport's elite officials in the United States. The U.S. Soccer Development Academy launched in the fall.

GOLDEN AGAIN: The U.S. got revenge for the 2007 loss and defeated Brazil in the 2008 Olympic Final.

2008: Led by Pia Sundhage, the U.S. Women had one of its best years ever, losing only one game, which ironically came in the opening match of the 2008 Beijing Olympics, a tournament the U.S. would eventually win to take home their third gold medal. Overall, the U.S. won all six tournaments it entered to finish with a 33-1-2 record, giving them the most wins and best winning percentage ever in a calendar year (.944).

The U.S. Men was successful in its own right, starting off on the right foot in 2010 FIFA World Cup qualifying with a 9-0 aggregate against Barbados in the second round. The U.S. opened the semifinal round with 1-0 victories in Guatemala and Cuba. Coming back to the U.S., home victories against T&T and Cuba clinched advancement with two games to play.

The U-23 Men joined the U.S. Women by qualifying for the 2008 Olympics in March, but just missed out on the second round once arriving in Beijing. Despite a 1-0 victory against Japan and a 2-2 draw with the Netherlands, the U.S. fell 2-1 against eventual silver medalist Nigeria. On the youth side, the U-17 and U-20 Women's National Teams both made the championship match of their respective FIFA World Cups. In New Zealand, the U-17s went on an impressive run to the final before finally succumbing to Korea DPR in the final, but in Chile their older counterparts were able to exact revenge with a 2-1 victory to bring the World Cup trophy back to the United States for the first time since 2002.

Building off the initial kickoff in 2007, U.S. Soccer's Development Academy wrapped up its first year with a collection of dynamic matches during Finals Week at The Home Depot Center. In the U-15/16 championship, Carmel United topped PDA 1-0, and the Baltimore Bays topped LAFC 4-2 to take the U-17/18 title.

FINALLY: Landon Donovan celebrates his goal against Brazil in the first half of the 2009 Confederations Cup final.

2009: The U.S. Men opened 2009 focused on final round qualifying for the 2010 FIFA World Cup with a 2-0 win against archrival Mexico in Columbus, Ohio. Bob Bradley's squad proceeded to go undefeated at home and clinch a spot in South Africa with a come-from-behind win in Honduras. They finished atop the CONCACAF table with a tie against Costa Rica in Washington, D.C., on the last day of qualifying.

During the summer, the U.S. Men traveled to South Africa to compete in the 2009 FIFA Confederations Cup. The U.S. MNT was drawn into a group with Italy, Brazil and Egypt, and advanced into the semifinals by virtue of a 3-0 dismantling of Egypt in the final game. They kept the nation captivated by beating Spain, the No.1-ranked team in the world in the semifinals before falling 3-2 to Brazil in the final. Tim Howard was awarded the Golden Glove and Clint Dempsey given the Bronze Ball.

Pia Sundhage's women's team had a more relaxed year after their gold medal winning exploits in 2008, and wrapped up the year with a 7-0-1 that included falling in penalties to Sweden in the Algarve Cup final.

Both the U-17 and U-20 Men's National Team competed in their respective FIFA World Cups this year, with the U-17 team advancing out of the group stage in Nigeria before falling to Italy in the Round of 16. A tough group containing Germany, Cameroon and Korea Republic saw the U-20s out of the tournament following the first round in Egypt.

The U.S. Soccer Development Academy completed its second year of competition in 2009, once again concluding the season with Finals Week at The Home Depot Center. In the U-15/16 age group, playoff No.1-seed Derby County Wolves continued their strong season straight through Finals Week with a title. Indiana United Academy defeated D.C. United to take home the U-17/18 championship.

TIES THAT BIND: Michael Bradley celebrates scoring the game-tying goal against Slovenia in the 2010 FIFA World Cup.

2010: The year's most memorable moment came in the U.S. Men's third group game at the 2010 World Cup in South Africa as Landon Donovan scored a last-minute goal for the U.S. to clinch advancement and clinch a group for the first time in 80 years. Following a 1-1 tie with England, a 2-2 tie with Slovenia and a 1-0 win against Algeria, the U.S. was eliminated in the Round of 16 losing to Ghana 2-1. Clint Dempsey became the second U.S. player to score in multiple World Cups, and Landon Donovan had three total goals to become the third to score in multiple World Cups and the all-time World Cup goal leader for the U.S.

After a surprising loss to Mexico in the semifinals of Women's CONCACAF qualifying, the U.S. topped Italy 2-0 in a two-game qualifying playoff to earn a spot in the 2011 FIFA Women's World Cup. The U.S. won its seventh Algarve Cup with the first of two victories against 2011 hosts Germany.

The U.S. Under-20 Women lost in penalty kicks to Nigeria in the quarterfinals of the 2010 FIFA U-20 World Cup, while the U-17 Women became the first U.S. Women's team to fail to qualify for a FIFA World Cup event after not advancing out of the CONCACAF qualifying tournament.

No Division II league met U.S. Soccer's sanctioning standards, so the Federation administered a league called USSF D-2 for one year.

2011: The U.S. Women were on center stage during the 2011 Women's World Cup in Germany. Their dramatic run in the Women's World Cup was highlighted by an electric, come-from-behind victory in the quarterfinals against Brazil, in which Abby Wambach scored the latest goal (six minutes into stoppage time) ever in a World Cup match. The U.S., however, would lose out in penalties to a spirited Japanese side in the final after playing to a 2-2 draw through 120 minutes.

During the summer of 2011 at the CONCACAF Gold Cup, the U.S. advanced to its third consecutive final, scoring two early goals before falling 4-2 to Mexico. The continental tournament would prove to be Bob Bradley's last involvement as head coach of the U.S., with former Germany international and FIFA World Cup winner Jürgen Klinsmann taking the helm of the U.S. Men in August. He earned his first win in Miami against Honduras thanks to a Clint Dempsey strike and later led the team to a 3-2 victory against Slovenia in its last game of the year.

The U-17 and U-20 Men's National Teams both entered another cycle of their respective FIFA World Cups. The U-17 Men reached the knockout round for the seventh time but lost to Germany in the Round of 16. After winning their qualifying group with two shutout victories, the U-20s graduated to the quarterfinals but fell to Guatemala and did not reach the World Cup for the first time since 1995.

2012: The U.S. WNT capped off the 2012 London Olympics with a 2-1 victory against Japan in front of more than 80,000 spectators at Wembley Stadium as the U.S. Women earned their fourth Olympic gold – a first for any country on the men's and women's sides. Carli Lloyd scored both goals for the USA, capping off a tournament that featured a dramatic game-winning goal from 2012 U.S. Soccer Female Athlete of the Year Alex Morgan in the 123rd minute of the team's semifinal victory against Canada.

The U.S. MNT advanced to the final round of 2014 FIFA World Cup Qualifying, defeating Guatemala 3-1 in the final Group A match of the Semifinal Round as Clint Dempsey scored his 29th and 30th career goals to tie Brian McBride for third all-time in U.S. history. The U.S. Men also had some memorable international friendly victories in 2012, including the first win on Mexico's home soil – a 1-0 victory at Estadio Azteca on Aug. 15.

The U.S. U-20 WNT defeated defending champion Germany 1-0 in the 2012 FIFA U-20 Women's World Cup in Tokyo. Kealia Ohai scored the game's lone goal and the Americans earned their third World Cup crown in the tournament's history. The U.S. U-17 WNT competed in the 2012 FIFA U-17 Women's World Cup, and in an extremely rare occurrence did not advance past the group stage despite an unbeaten 1-0-2 record.

FIFA - SOCCER'S WORLD GOVERNING BOARD

Founded in 1904 to provide unity among national soccer associations, the Federation Internationale de Football Association (FIFA) boasts 208 members, rivaling that of the United Nations, and is arguably the most prestigious sports organization in the world.

As organizers of the biggest event in the world, the FIFA World Cup, 204 countries entered the two-year qualifying process to earn one of 31 spots alongside host South Africa at the 2010 FIFA World Cup.

FIFA was established on May 21, 1904, by seven national associations — Belgium, Denmark, France, Netherlands, Spain, Sweden and Switzerland — to “promote the game of Association Football (as opposed to rugby or American football), to foster friendly relations among National Associations, Confederations, and their officials and players, by promoting the organization of football matches at all levels, and to control every type of association football by taking steps as shall be deemed necessary or advisable.”

FIFA's birth was a result of the growing number of international games shortly after the dawn of the 20th century. Soccer leaders in Europe felt that such expanded competition required a governing body, and under the leadership of Robert Guerin, a French journalist, the seven founding members gathered in Paris to shape the future of the sport. Guerin, FIFA's first president, presided over the organization from 1904 to 1906. Seven other men have also served as FIFA president, including Jules Rimet for 33 years from 1921 to 1954.

Currently, Switzerland's Joseph (Sepp) Blatter serves as FIFA president, having been elected originally in 1998. Blatter, the FIFA general secretary from 1991 to 1998, replaced Dr. João Havelange of Brazil in 1998, who was elected to his post in 1974 and served six terms. The current FIFA general secretary is Jérôme Valcke, who joined FIFA in 2003 as Director of Marketing & TV before being elected to his current post in June of 2007.

Under FIFA's governance soccer has become the world's most popular sport, played by more than 150 million registered athletes — including 10 million women — and viewed by billions of fans in stadiums and on television worldwide. An estimated 715.1 million people watched the final match of the 2006 FIFA World Cup held in Germany and the 2010 event in South Africa was broadcast to 204 countries on 245 different channels. Inside the stadiums, a total of 3,170,856 spectators attended the 64 matches an average of 49,670 per match and the third highest aggregate attendance behind USA 1994 and Germany 2006.

As soccer's ultimate administrative authority, FIFA governs all facets of the game: regulating the rules of play, overseeing the transfers of players internationally, organizing international competitions such as the FIFA World Cup, establishing standards for refereeing, coaching and sports medicine, and encouraging soccer's development around the world.

Among the official world championships staged by FIFA are the World Cup, the Women's World Cup, the Under-20 World Cup, the Under-20 Women's World Cup, the Under-17 World Cup, the Under-17 Women's World Cup, the FIFA Beach Soccer World Cup and the Futsal World Cup. Additionally, FIFA oversees the men's and women's Olympic Football Tournament staged under the auspices of the International Olympic Committee every four years. FIFA has also staged the FIFA Confederations Cup, a competition between each of its confederations' champions, and the FIFA Club World Cup, which was held at the beginning of 2000 for the first time in Brazil.

U.S. HISTORY & INFO

THE FOOTBALL CONFEDERATION – ON THE RISE

The Confederation of North, Central America and Caribbean Association Football (CONCACAF) was founded in 1961 and serves as the organizing body for 38 national associations, including the United States, and spans from Canada in the north to Suriname in the south. CONCACAF organizes international competition in a number of events, including the Champions League, qualifying tournaments for all FIFA competitions and the Gold Cup.

The 2012 London Olympic Games proved to be landmark tournament for the confederation as U.S. Women's National Team and Mexico U-23 Men's National Team captured gold, making it the first time in the competition's history that teams from the same confederation stood at the top of the podium.

CONCACAF sent three teams to the 2010 World Cup in South Africa as the U.S., Mexico and Honduras won the three automatic berths allotted to the region, and both the U.S. and Mexico advanced to the Round of 16. In 2006, the U.S., Mexico, Costa Rica and Trinidad & Tobago represented the confederation in the FIFA World Cup in Germany. The 2002 World Cup in Korea and Japan saw the U.S. advance to the quarterfinals, while Mexico won their group in earning a second round berth and Costa Rica was eliminated in a difficult group.

In 2005, CONCACAF saw one of its men's teams win the first-ever outdoor world championship in the confederation's history as Mexico swept through the FIFA U-17 World Cup in Peru.

In 2000, Guatemala hosted the FIFA Futsal World Cup and in doing so became the first Central American country to host a FIFA world championship. And in 2001, Trinidad & Tobago hosted the spectacular Under-17 World Cup, becoming the first Caribbean country to host a world championship. A year later, the first-ever FIFA Women's Under-19 World Cup was staged in Canada in 2002 and won by the United States. After Trinidad & Tobago hosted the U-17 Women in 2010, Mexico welcomed the 2011 U-17 World Cup for men and triumphed as tournament champions.

As the Confederation's premier event, the Gold Cup is traditionally played every two years by the national teams within CONCACAF, and rotated to an odd-year, summer schedule in 2003. Mexico, six-time winner of the Gold Cup, defeated the U.S. in the 1993, 1998, 2009 and 2011 finals and downed Brazil in '96 and again in 2003. The U.S. has won four Gold Cups, the inaugural 1991 event, and again in 2002, 2005, 2007. The 2000 Gold Cup was perhaps the most surprising, with Canada taking home their first major international title as the U.S. and Mexico failed to qualify for the semifinals. In every other edition of the Gold Cup, the winner earns a berth to the FIFA Confederations Cup.

The Women's Gold Cup has also been very successful, with the U.S. winning the first three events in 2000, 2002, 2006. In 2002, it took a golden goal from Mia Hamm for the U.S. to dispatch Canada in the final, 2-1, and in 2000 the U.S. downed guest-team Brazil 1-0 to claim the championship. In the most recent edition of the tournament, the U.S. again prevailed in extra time, this time courtesy of a Kristine Lilly penalty kick in the 120th minute.

CONCACAF competed in the FIFA Club World Cup for the first time in 2000, when Mexico's Necaxa impressed with a third place finish in the 2000 tournament in Brazil. The CONACACAF club tournament, which is contested amongst the 38 nations' domestic league champions, was won by D.C. United in 1998 and 2001. In 2008, CONCACAF unveiled the Champions League to replace the Champions Cup and decide the region's annual club title. Real Salt Lake narrowly missed out on the 2011 title, losing 3-2 (agg.) to Monterrey in the two-legged final.

In 1994, CONCACAF joined Europe and South America as the only confederations to host three or more World Cup finals. Mexico welcomed the world twice, in 1970 and 1986, while the United States staged the event for the first time in 1994.

CONCACAF's headquarters are located in New York City with Jeffrey Webb serving as President.

The U.S. Adult Soccer Association, which relocated their headquarters to Toyota Park, Bridgeview, IL in 2011, is responsible for developing the sport for players over the age of 19. Within the USASA, local clubs are affiliated with leagues which, in turn, are affiliated with their state associations. A competitive and recreational oriented organization, the USASA helps develop adult amateur soccer for both men and women on a national basis.

As part of that development, the USASA stages the annual National Cup Finals, which features champions from each of the four U.S. Soccer regions (Regions I, II, III and IV) squaring off in 6 different competitions. The USASA also organizes national tournaments for Veterans and Co-Ed teams and will be introducing a new Women's National Championships tournament in 2013.

The USASA, in association with the U.S. Soccer Federation, helps stage the annual Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup, the oldest annual team tournament in the United States dates back to 1914, when the Brooklyn Field Club won the first national title by defeating the Brooklyn Celtics in Pawtucket, R.I. In 2013, to celebrate the centennial of the U.S. Soccer Federation, the USASA will be organizing a number of small-sided competitions around the nation.

Approximately 3 million players between the ages of five and 19 are registered with US Youth Soccer, which maintains a network of 55 state associations. Programs are administered with the help of more than 300,000 coaches and 600,000 volunteers.

US Youth Soccer offers both recreational and competitive programs. The recreational programs offer great opportunities for players primarily interested in fun, fitness and friendship. Small-sided games are encouraged for players under the age of 10. For more advanced players, US Youth Soccer offers highly competitive or select leagues including the National Championship Series, Olympic Development Program, Regional Leagues and the National League.

In addition, US Youth Soccer offers TOP Soccer (The Outreach Program for Soccer) for young athletes who are mentally or physically challenged and Soccer Across America for young people living in underserved or economically disadvantaged areas.

Every year the organization also stages the National Youth Championship with different national titles up for grabs in boys and girls soccer for youth players from Under-14 through Under-19. 2013, will mark the addition of the Under-13 Boys and Girls age group. The Under-19 Boys' James P. McGuire Cup is the most prestigious of the competition's trophies, dating back to 1935. First competed in 1980, the J. Ross Stewart Cup for Under-19 Girls is the oldest women's youth trophy.

In the summer of 2005, US Youth Soccer moved their national headquarters to the new soccer complex constructed in Frisco, Texas, where they share office space with FC Dallas of MLS.

Founded in 1964, the AYSO is a national association affiliated with U.S. Soccer and operates soccer programs with more than 650,000 children participating throughout the U.S. AYSO operates programs so young people can learn to develop a positive self-image, self-confidence and other character traits through their interest and participation in the sport.

AYSO's success has been based on the philosophies of "Everyone Plays" and "Balanced Teams," ideas originated more than 40 years ago by founder Hans F.W. Stierle. AYSO requires every player to play at least half of every game and that individual teams are balanced every year to assure fair play. Other AYSO tenets include open registration, positive coaching and good sportsmanship.

AYSO is a volunteer-driven organization of more than 260,000 parents and friends who serve as coaches, referees and team administrators. A full-time staff administers AYSO from the organization's National Support & Training Center in Torrance, Calif.

The Soccer Association for Youth (SAY) is an national affiliate member of U.S. Soccer and was founded in 1967. As SAY is a recreational "Grass Roots" organization with only minimal employees' nationwide, it is able to keep its fees low. SAY's motto of "Kids Having FUN!" is based on the premise that teams are balanced to discourage "blow outs." Every child must play at least half of every game, with an aim toward equal participation. SAY still allows its areas the flexibility to form leagues in a manner that best suits their own organization.

With more than 120,000 players, 36,000 coaches and 3000 volunteer administrators; SAY has mastered the art of "Customer Service" over the years. Hosting a full line of low-cost coaching manuals and supplies, most orders are shipped within 24 hours. SAY membership includes many free items such as rulebooks for coaches and administrative handbooks, as well as Liability and Accident insurance at no additional charge. There are never any additional team fees or sanctioning fees.

US Club Soccer is a non-profit organization committed to the development and support of soccer clubs in the United States.

Currently a National Association member, US Club Soccer has been a member in good standing of the U.S. Soccer Federation since 2001. A nine-member Board of Directors, all of whom must be experienced coaches in member soccer clubs, makes policy decisions for the organization.

US Club Soccer's local and national programs have all been developed with strong input from clubs around the country and with a minimum of rules and restrictions.

Among these programs are the National Premier Leagues (NPL), which have been created throughout the country to provide high-level competition in given geographic areas, and to elevate and change the competitive youth landscape based upon US Club Soccer's fundamental principles. These leagues extend developmental principals espoused by the U.S. Soccer Development Academy into younger age groups and additional clubs, providing a platform for long-term player development.

With the addition of US Club Soccer's National Adult Leagues platform aimed at expanding adult soccer at all levels of play, clubs are able to unite youth and adult programs seamlessly under one organizational umbrella. This follows the successful world model of full integration at all ages and allows for the creation of a "members for life" culture within each club by offering youth and adult player and staff registration, integrated competition platforms at the recreational and competitive levels, as well as a variety of other programming, including the id2 National Player Identification and Development Program, an Olympic Development Program.

Launched on April 6, 1996, Major League Soccer is the U.S. Soccer sanctioned Division I outdoor professional soccer league in the United States. D.C. United, winners of three of the first four MLS Cup titles (1996, 1997 & 1999) lead all teams with four titles adding a victory in the 2004 final. The Los Angeles Galaxy repeated as champions in 2012 for its fourth title after winning in 2011 (2002 & 2005). The other MLS Cup champions include the Chicago Fire (1998), San Jose Earthquakes (2001 & 2003), Houston Dynamo (2006 & 2007), the Columbus Crew (2008), Real Salt Lake (2009) and Colorado Rapids (2010).

Over the past six years, MLS has continued to expanded with Chivas USA and Real Salt Lake joining in 2005, Toronto FC in 2007, and the San Jose Earthquakes rejoining the league in 2008. In 2009, Seattle Sounders FC joined the league with the Philadelphia Union becoming the 16th MLS team in 2010. Expansion continued in the Pacific Northwest as the Portland Timbers and Vancouver Whitecaps joined the league for the 2011 season. In 2012, the Montreal Impact became MLS's 19th team.

In 2012, the league continued to be divided into two conferences (Eastern and Western). Eastern Conference – Chicago Fire, Columbus Crew, D.C. United, Houston Dynamo, Kansas City Wizards, Montreal Impact, New England Revolution, New York Red Bulls, Philadelphia Union, Toronto FC; Western Conference – Chivas USA, Colorado Rapids, FC Dallas, Los Angeles Galaxy, Portland Timbers, Real Salt Lake, San Jose Earthquakes, Seattle Sounders FC and Vancouver Whitecaps FC.

MLS has a unique ownership and operating structure, based on a "single entity" concept. Unlike other professional sports leagues, which are a confederation of independent franchise owners, MLS' "single entity" structure allows investors to own an interest in the league, as well as individual teams. MLS believes that the structure will better position the league for long term success.

National Women's Soccer League (NWSL)

The National Women's Soccer League (NWSL) is an eight-team league organized and administered by the U.S. Soccer Federation that will begin play in the spring of 2013. U.S. Soccer will subsidize the salaries of up to 24 U.S. Women's National Team players while the Canadian Soccer Association will do the same for up to 16 Canadian players and the Federation of Mexican Football will do the same for up to 16 Mexican players. The eight founding clubs are the Boston Breakers, Chicago Red Stars, FC Kansas City, Portland Thorns FC, Sky Blue FC (New York/New Jersey), Seattle Reign FC, the Washington Spirit and the Western New York Flash.

The new North American Soccer League (NASL) was officially founded in November 2009 when a group of 2nd division men's professional soccer team owners banded together to form North American Soccer League, LLC for the purpose of creating a team-owned and operated professional soccer league in the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico.

In February 2011, the NASL received provisional recognition from the United States Soccer Federation as the exclusive second division men's professional league and the inaugural season kicked off on the evening of April 9, 2011, with games in Cary, North Carolina; Atlanta, Georgia; Fort Lauderdale, Florida; and St. Petersburg, Florida.

The NASL is a nine-team league featuring a Spring and Fall Championship. The NASL will crown its champion this season with the winners of the Spring and Fall Championships meeting each other in the NASL Soccer Bowl.

USL has become the largest organization of elite-level soccer leagues in North America by building on the vision, commitment, and passion of players, fans and investors. USL continues to be a driving force in the growth of soccer in the United States, Canada and Caribbean.

From its beginnings as a five-team regional indoor league in 1986, USL has grown to scores of teams competing in seven separate leagues across the country – USL PRO, the MISL, the PDL, the W-League, the Super-20 League, the Super Y-League and the NGS.

USISL, as it was then known, created an amateur outdoor league in 1989 that divided into professional and amateur leagues in 1995 after continued growth. Those leagues would become the PSL and PDL with the A-League joining USL in 1997. The W-League was founded in 1995. The Super Y-League was established in 1999 and has grown to more than 500 teams and includes an ODP identification program. The Next Generation Series (NGS) kicks off in 2013 featuring elite U11-U14 teams. USL PRO is the third level of soccer (a Division III League) in the United States and Canada, while USL purchased the MISL prior to the 2011-12 season.

U.S. SOCCER FOUNDATION THE MAJOR CHARITABLE ARM OF SOCCER

The U.S. Soccer Foundation is a recognized leader in sports-based youth development programs for children in underserved urban communities. Since its inception in 1994, the Foundation has provided more than $55 million in funding to create and sustain innovative programs across all 50 states. Proven to deliver positive health and social outcomes, the Foundation's affordable initiatives offer safe environments for both boys and girls to thrive. Headquartered in Washington, D.C. the U.S. Soccer Foundation is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization.

The U.S. Soccer Foundation's Soccer for Success program is an innovative youth development after-school program that uses soccer as a tool to combat childhood obesity and promote healthy lifestyles for children in underserved urban communities. The Foundation partners with community-based organizations across the country to operate Soccer for Success sites – providing thousands of children, in grades K-8, with free after-school programming.

In 2011, the Corporation for National and Community Service awarded the U.S. Soccer Foundation a $2 million federal grant from the 2011 Social Innovation Fund to use Soccer for Success as a vehicle to promote healthy lifestyles and reduce obesity rates among at-risk youth in urban areas. Currently, the Soccer for Success program serves 8,000 children in 8 cities nationwide and will expand to serve 12,000 children within the next year.

The U.S. Soccer Foundation provides uniforms and soccer equipment to children in underserved communities around the world through its Passback program. New and gently-used soccer gear is collected by individuals, organizations, and teams and then redistributed to groups who need it most. Since its inception, Passback has collected close to 800,000 pieces of equipment and redistributed it to schools, clubs and youth organizations in 127 countries. To learn more about this program, visit passback.org.

In addition to programming, the U.S. Soccer Foundation works to build quality soccer fields that provide children with safe and accessible places to play. The Foundation engages community partners to identify vacant or underutilized space and works with them to build fields that make a positive impact in their communities. Recognizing the lack of space available in many urban areas, the U.S. Soccer Foundation builds smaller sized fields called Mini-Pitches.

Along with helping build quality soccer fields, the U.S. Soccer Foundation has provided over $55 million in grants and financial support to grow the sport of soccer in the United States. Since the first grants were awarded in 1995, the Foundation has supported the development of over 1,100 fields and impacted over 4.9 million total youth players across all 50 states. In 2011, the U.S. Soccer Foundation awarded 63 grants totaling over $2.5 million to non-profit organizations serving youth in 30 states. The 2011 grant awards reflect the Foundation's focus on improving the health and well-being of children in underserved communities.

The Foundation is dedicated to assisting those who serve youth through soccer in urban communities. Each year the Foundation organizes the Urban Soccer Symposium, an event which brings together non-profit organizations that directly support soccer programs and projects to share funding resources, best practices and other technical expertise. The Foundation has laid the groundwork for networking and partnership opportunities among urban soccer programs nationwide.

As part of the Foundation's work in Washington, D.C., it has joined with a bipartisan group of Members of Congress to establish and support the Congressional Soccer Caucus. The mission of the Caucus is to encourage legislation, activities and events that promote the game and issues affecting the soccer community.

NATIONAL SOCCER HALL OF FAME

The National Soccer Hall of Fame came to life in 1950 when a group of former professional and amateur players from the Philadelphia "Old-timers" Association took it upon themselves to recognize the achievements of soccer in America. Sixty years after the "Old-timers" first got together, nearly 300 members have been elected to the Hall of Fame for their outstanding contributions to American soccer, both on and off the field.

Members are elected in three categories – Player, Builder and Veteran (player) – and elections and inductions are carried out annually. The Class of 2013 will be voted on and announced during the first few months of 2013, with the induction coming later in the year.

Voters in the Player category include select members of the media, Hall of Famers, past and present U.S. Men's and Women's National Team coaches, MLS and WPS coaches of four or more years tenure, and a select group of soccer administrators. The Hall of Fame members vote in the Veteran category, and in the Builder category, select national soccer administrators join the Hall of Famers in voting.

With the doors to the museum in Oneonta, N.Y., closing in 2009, inductions will now be held at rotating venues throughout the country based on the U.S. soccer calendar. Soccer House in Chicago now houses the Dewar Challenge Trophy and the 1991 and 1999 FIFA Women's World Cup trophies. The archive and collection has been relocated to Hillsborough, N.C., where it is accessible for research.

The Hall of Fame also possesses an archive of more than 80,000 items, which make up one of the largest collections of soccer artifacts and records in the world. The collection includes such rare pieces as the world's oldest soccer ball (made in the USA) and both the 1991 and 1999 FIFA Women's World Cup Trophy. The collection also includes the North American Soccer League archive, the 1994 FIFA World Cup USA archive, a rare soccer photography collection from New York depression-era photographer John Albok, materials from the U.S. national teams in World Cup competition and artifacts from the American Soccer League of the 1920's and 1950's.

SOCER ON TELEVISION

As the game has grown in the United States, so has the amount of soccer on television. With the amount of coverage increasing almost yearly, soccer fans in the U.S. are able to watch games – in a single weekend no less – from countries in Italy, Germany, England, Scotland, Spain, Mexico, Argentina, Brazil, Australia, Holland, and more.

The 2010 FIFA World Cup was a landmark moment in the history of soccer on television in the United States, with record-breaking viewership across both the ESPN and Univision networks. The notable viewership validated ESPN's decision to increase their attention on the world's game and put impressive amounts of resources towards the FIFA World Cup.

Due in part to those impressive numbers, other broadcasters such as NBC and beIN SPORT have jumped at the opportunity to broadcast U.S. Soccer, Major League Soccer and international league matches across the world. But it was FOX and Telemundo that made the biggest splash with their purchase of the broadcast rights for the 2018 and 2022 FIFA World Cups (see below).

While league rights have changed hands among these high-profile broadcasters in the past few years, the coverage and viewership of the sport continues to be strong. The U.S. viewer has benefited from an overall increase in the number of televised games, whether it is domestic or international matches, and it looks likely there is room to grow in the years to come.

2018 / 2022 FIFA WORLD CUP TELEVISION RIGHTS

In October of 2011, the amazing growth of the sport was demonstrated when a bidding war over the U.S. broadcast rights for the 2018 and 2022 FIFA World Cups played out in Zurich. In the end, a record sum of more than $1 billion was paid by Fox and Telemundo, an increase of at least 147 percent over the combined $425 million that ESPN and Univisión paid for the rights to the '10 and '14 tournaments.

Fox paid a reported $450 to $500 million to beat out ESPN and NBC for the English rights, while Telemundo is said to have paid $600 million to outbid Univision for the Spanish rights.

U.S. Television Rights Fees for FIFA World Cup

Year	Fee	English Network	Fee	Spanish Network	Total Fee
2002/2006	$40M	ABC/ESPN	$125M	Univision	$165M
2010/2014	$100M	ABC/ESPN	$325M	Univision	$425M
2018/2022	$450M	FOX	$600M	Telemundo	$1.05B

2010 FIFA World Cup Television Audience

VIEWING RECORDS BROKEN: The 2010 FIFA World Cup was watched by an estimated 111.6 million viewers for at least six minutes on English or Spanish language networks, according to The Nielsen Company. The figure is a 22 percent increase from the 91.4 million viewers during the 2006 FIFA World Cup.

Things started off with a bang when more than 17.2 million viewers tuned in for the USA's opening match on June 12 against England, including 13.1 million on ABC making it the most-watched FIFA World Cup first round match ever. Two weeks later, that was topped when the USA's thrilling match in the Round of 16 against Ghana became the most-watched U.S. MNT game in history with 19.4 million viewers following on ABC and Univision.

But both U.S. matches finished behind the 2010 FIFA World Cup Final, which garnered a record 24.7 million viewers to watch Spain defeat the Netherlands 1-0, making it the most-watched soccer match in U.S. history.

English Network (ABC/ESPN)

- The 2010 FIFA World Cup was the most-watched World Cup ever on English-language television, with an average rating (2.1) and viewers (3.27 million) up 31 and 42 percent, respectively, compared to the 2006 FIFA World Cup in Germany (1.6, 2.31 million).
- The 2010 FIFA World Cup Final average viewers was 15.88 million, up 23 percent compared to the 2006 FIFA World Cup Final also on ABC/ESPN (12.96 million).

Spanish Network (Univision/Telefutura)

- On Spanish-language, Univision averaged 2.57 million viewers for coverage of the 2010 FIFA World Cup, up 15 percent from 2006 (2.23), and the highest average ever for the World Cup on the network.
- The 2010 FIFA World Cup Final average viewers was 8.82 million, up 49 percent compared to the 2006 FIFA World Cup Final also on Univision/Telefutura (5.9 million).

Combined (English and Spanish)

- The combined average viewers for the 2010 FIFA World Cup were 5.68 million, up 43 percent compared to the 2006 FIFA World Cup.
- The 2010 FIFA World Cup Final combined average viewers was 24.71 million, up 31 percent compared to the 2006 FIFA World Cup Final (18.86 million).

ESPN WORLD CUP COVERAGE: During the 2010 FIFA World Cup, ESPN ramped up its coverage to include more than 230 hours of live original HD programming. All 64 matches were televised live in HD on ESPN (44 matches), ESPN2 (10), and ABC (10). All 64 matches were also produced for ESPN Radio and ESPNRadio.com, as well as on mobile platforms.

In addition to airing all of the tournament games, ESPN instituted 65 hours of live studio programming from a state-of-the-art 2,000 sq. ft. set overlooking Soccer City in Johannesburg. Throughout the duration of the tournament, ESPN featured daily editions of SportsCenter, World Cup Live and World Cup Primetime news/information and highlights. Pre, post and halftime shows were also staples of the network's coverage throughout the 2010 FIFA World Cup.

ONLINE AND MOBILE COVERAGE: Online and mobile users showed tremendous growth during the 2010 FIFA World Cup. Studies found that 10 percent of ESPN users received their World Cup coverage through a medium other than TV. Internet use accounted for 61% of non-TV usage with 54 matches streamed live on ESPN3.com and all 64 matches available on mobile platforms. ESPN also provided users with 2 iPhone apps, 4 fantasy games and a mobile website to access content.

COMPARED TO...

The 2010 World Cup Final combined average viewers of 24.7 million is:

28 percent higher than 2009 MLB World Series average viewers of 19.3 million

375 percent higher than 2010 NHL Stanley Cup average viewers of 5.2 million

36 percent higher than 2010 NBA Final average viewers of 18.1 million

34 percent higher than 2009-10 NFL regular season average viewers of 18.4 million

3 percent higher than 2010 NCAA Basketball Championship final average viewers of 23.9 million.

"The 2010 FIFA World Cup was an overwhelming success for ESPN," said John Skipper, ESPN executive vice president for content.

"We experienced record viewership across multiple platforms, including television, broadband, online and ESPN Audio, and it was evident from the overwhelmingly positive reaction just how much fans were drawn to the spectacle of this global sports event."

We are already looking ahead with great anticipation to the 2014 FIFA World Cup in Brazil."

2013 U.S. SOCCER MEDIA GUIDELINES & POLICIES

Thank you for your coverage of U.S. Soccer and the U.S. National Teams. Please familiarize yourself with the information and policies in this document to make your coverage go as smoothly as possible. These guidelines and policies are enforced by the U.S. Soccer Communications Department. If you have questions about the policies listed here, please do not hesitate to contact U.S. Soccer Communications at communications@ussoccer.org or 312-808-1300.

GENERAL GUIDELINES

Professional Conduct

Media are expected to follow the guidelines set forth in this document, as well as the instructions of U.S. Soccer staff, stadium employees and security, or risk limitation of access or revocation of credentials.

Media credentials are issued with the purpose to provide access to interviews and written, audio and visual accounts of the game, as appropriate. Media member should not use access for autographs, personal photographs or commercial requests.

NO AUTOGRAPHS OR PERSONAL PHOTOGRAPHS DURING MEDIA ACCESS

Media credentialed for access to shoot photographs and/or video are expected to use professional equipment to file photographic or video accounts. Use of equipment such as 'point and shoot' style cameras that are not considered professional equipment could result in access being restricted or rescinded.

Media Services

Press Releases: To be added to the U.S. Soccer media distribution list, please send an e-mail request to communications@ussoccer.org.

Media Guides: To request a current media guide for the U.S. Men or Women's National Team, please send an e-mail request to communications@ussoccer.org.

Interview Requests: Media requesting interviews with U.S. National Team players, coaches or administrators should make arrangements with the U.S. Soccer Communications Department or the onsite press officer with the respective teams. When requesting and conducting interviews, media should identify the organization which they are representing, and provide advance notice if audio or video will be recorded for later distribution. All audio and video interviews are subject to U.S. Soccer's Video Guidelines which are included in this document.

ussoccer.com: Is the official web site of the U.S. Soccer Federation. All press releases – content that includes a dateline – are posted at ussoccer.com, and can be republished by media in their entirety.

Video: Media are welcome to embed videos that appear on ussoccer.com. Visit youtube.com/ussoccerdotcom and ussoccer.com/Multimedia/Media-Center.aspx#video for the latest U.S. Soccer-produced videos.

B-roll & Interviews: At certain events, U.S. Soccer's Communications Department may be able to provide footage and interviews by request. To request b-roll or interviews, please e-mail communications@ussoccer.org to inquire about availability.

Twitter: U.S. Soccer provides updates at www.twitter.com/ussoccer that include breaking news and new content posted to ussoccer.com. Media are welcome to re-tweet ussoccer content, including play-by-play accounts.

Photography Requests

Head Shots: U.S. Soccer maintains a limited number of head and shoulder portraits of select U.S. National Team players and coaches that can be requested by e-mailing communications@ussoccer.org or calling 312-808-1300.

Action Photography: For action photos, please contact Annette Shelby at International Sports Images at 650-906-7753 or at annette@isiphotos.com. International Sports Images serves as the photography manager for U.S. Soccer. Media outlets can also search and preview the photography archive at isiphotos.com.

U.S. SOCCER EVENTS

Credentials

Applications: Media can request credentials for matches online at ussoccer.com. The online application process can be found by clicking on the Media Services link in the footer on the front page of ussoccer.com. Media can also contact U.S. Soccer Communications directly by phone at 312-808-1300 or e-mailing communications@ussoccer.org.

Deadlines: The deadline to apply for credentials to U.S. Soccer events is generally one (1) week prior to the game. There is no guarantee that late applications will be accepted.

Pickup: U.S. Soccer will distribute credential pickup times prior to each game. Credential pickup times generally coincide with media availabilities. For pickup on the day of the game, Media Will Call at the stadium will open at approximately two (3) hours before kickoff. Each media member must show identification in order to receive their credential. An individual cannot pick up more than one credential.

Credential Shipping: If you would like single-game credentials and parking passes (subject to availability) to be shipped, please provide a UPS or FedEx account number at least two (2) weeks prior to the game. Replacement parking passes cannot be provided if lost in transit.

Policies: In addition to the policies listed below, please note that only working media will be credentialed and no one under the age of 18 will be issued a credential without prior arrangements being made.

Season Credential Holders: All media provided season credentials must still inform the U.S. Soccer Communications Department of their plans to attend specific matches to ensure a space in the press box. Please do so at least one (1) week in advance of the match.

Media Facilities

Media facilities, including the press box and photographers' work area, will open approximately two (2) hours before each game.

Press Box: All seats will be assigned. Auxiliary seating arrangements will be made if the capacity of the press box is exceeded.

Photographer Work Room: Where available, a photographer work room will be available at field level.

Internet: Wireless internet access will be provided to media filing on deadline.

Phones: To request a phone line, email communications@ussoccer.org at least two (2) weeks prior to a game. The line will be installed at the cost of the requestor. Pool phones may be provided at some venues, but are not guaranteed.

Game Notes & Media Guides: Game notes and media guides will be placed at each seat and also on a table near the press box entrance.

Lineups: Official lineups are submitted approximately one (1) hour prior to kickoff. Lineups, which will include jersey numbers for each team, will be distributed to the media as quickly as possible.

Media Access / Interviews

There is no pre-game access to U.S. Soccer players and coaches on game days. No "flash" interviews are permitted on the field. All post-game access is in the press conference and mixed zone.

Press Conference: For Men's National Team games, there will be a formal press conference with the head coach and one player shortly after the final whistle. There will typically not be a press conference following Women's National Team games, as the head coach will be available to reporters in an on-field mixed zone.

Mixed Zone: Locker rooms are not open to the media at U.S. Soccer events. All post-game interviews will be conducted in a press conference or mixed zone. Players from both teams will typically be available in the mixed zone. For Men's National Team events, the mixed zone will be near the locker rooms. For Women's National Team events, the mixed zone will be on the field.

Print & Online Media

Live Blogging / Commentary: Live blogging of U.S. Soccer events from either the venue or via the television broadcast is subject to our Live Blogging Guidelines. The guidelines are included in Appendix II of this document.

Video: Please notify U.S. Soccer in advance if your coverage includes video recording. Any video footage, including interviews, gathered by print and online media is subject to the U.S. Soccer Video Guidelines. The Video Guidelines are included in Appendix I of this document.

Audio: Please notify U.S. Soccer in advance if your coverage includes audio recording. Any audio, including interviews, gathered by radio, print and online media is subject to the U.S. Soccer Audio Use Guidelines. The guidelines are included in Appendix III of this document.

Radio - Non Rights Holders

Non-rights-holding radio journalists are welcome to conduct pre-game and post-game reports from the Press Box, but NO play-by-play reports are permitted. Radio non-rights-holders will have access to post-match press conference and mixed zone unless otherwise notified. Radio outlets interesting in purchasing rights should contact U.S. Soccer at 312-808-1300.

Audio: Any audio, including interviews, gathered by radio, print and online media is subject to the U.S. Soccer Audio Use Guidelines. The guidelines are included in Appendix III of this document.

Field Access

Print, online and radio writers and reporters are not permitted on the field at anytime. Media members granted field access must have a working purpose. Representatives from the broadcast media who are not filing reports, but would like to attend as an observer, should inform U.S. Soccer of such when making the application.

Still Photographers

Locations: Still photographers are permitted to shoot U.S. Soccer events from behind the field sign boards in either end zone. At events where space allows, photographers may also shoot on the sideline opposite the benches between the end line and the 18-yard line. The attacking direction of the teams is determined by a coin toss. Following the coin toss, photographers must pick one end of the field to shoot for the entire half. The ONLY time photographers may change ends is at halftime. At no time are photographers allowed on the field of play.

Bibs: All photographers are required to wear an orange bib as provided by U.S. Soccer. The bib is lightweight and designed to be worn outside of outerwear and be visible at all times. Please return the bibs to a photo marshal following the game, or leave them in the press box / photographers' work room.

Pre-Game Photos: Each team's starters will pose for a pre-game photo near the bench area following the national anthems. Photographers should gather in the near-side corners once the teams leave the field after warm-ups. U.S. Soccer will escort the photographers to midfield.

Field Watering: The grounds crew may water the field prior to warm ups and also 10 minutes prior to kickoff. Please be responsible for your equipment during this time.

Non-Rights Holder Video (ENG)

Video Footage: All non-rights holders and ENG crews must follow the U.S. Soccer Video Guidelines for all footage gathered at events. The Video Guidelines are included in Appendix I of this document.

TV Reporters: ENG reporters may stay on the field until 30 minutes prior to kickoff to shoot 'scene sets,' and are not allowed on the field again until after the conclusion of the game. Reporters/anchors will not be issued a bib.

Location: ENG cameras are permitted to shoot U.S. Soccer events from behind the field sign boards in either end zone. The attacking direction of the teams is determined by a coin toss. Following the coin toss, ENG cameras must pick one end of the field to shoot for the entire half. The ONLY time ENG crews may change ends is at halftime. At no time are any media members allowed on the field of play.

Bibs: All ENG camera operators and ENG producers are required to wear an orange bib as provided by U.S. Soccer. The bib is lightweight and designed to be worn outside of outerwear and be visible at all times. Please return the bibs to a photo marshal following the game, or leave them in the press box / photographers' work room.

Field Watering: The grounds crew may water the field prior to warm-ups and also 10 minutes prior to kickoff. Please be responsible for your equipment during this time. U.S. Soccer is not responsible for damage to any equipment.

Live Newscasts: Please contact U.S. Soccer in advance of the event if you would like to broadcast live pre or post-game as part of a newscast from the stadium.

APPENDIX I:

NON-RIGHTS HOLDER VIDEO GUIDELINES

Television Broadcasters

Game Action: Television broadcasters can use footage of U.S. Soccer events obtained either via 1) their own recording or 2) action dubbed from a U.S. Soccer rights holder broadcast with credit only in connection with its regularly scheduled news programming within a week of the game. This footage should not exceed two (2) minutes. Highlights aired as part of a continuous news program should not be longer than one (1) minute per 30-minute segment.

Filming – Game Action: For televised events, non-rights holders / ENG cameras may record the first 15 minutes of each half (from 00:00 to 15:00 and 45:00 to 60:00 on the game clock). For non-televised events, non-rights holders / ENG cameras may record the entire game but are still subject to the aforementioned limits.

Filming – Interviews and Scene Sets: There is no limit to the gathering of footage pre-game, at halftime and post-game. All footage gathered is subject to the usage guidelines indicated in this document.

Previews or Advances: In advance of a U.S. Soccer event, television broadcasters can use two (2) minutes of archival game action to preview an upcoming event. In the local/regional markets, broadcasters should mention the time and location of the game along with their report. Outside of the local markets, broadcasters should mention the time and broadcast information.

Television Broadcasters' Web Sites: Video produced for air as part of regular programming that is simulcast or archived online, must be accompanied by a link to ussoccer.com. Content produced exclusively for the internet is subject to the guidelines for Online Video.

Online Video

Game Action: Online organizations (including print publications that post video online) are not permitted to film or use game action video at anytime time. Game Action includes any footage of the field, teams, etc., following the beginning of the television broadcast window. Only video of off-field activities (i.e. interviews, training sessions) may be recorded.

Non-Game Video: Any video posted online that is recorded as part of media access is limited to the use of eight (8) minutes per day/activity date. Online video may not incorporate integrated advertising and must be accompanied by links to ussoccer.com.

Professional Presentation: Online video is expected to be recorded, edited and presented in a professional manner. Video must be presented/hosted on an organization's web site, and not solely on a site provided by a third-party (i.e. YouTube, Vimio, Facebook, etc.).

Online Video Sites: Organizations who regularly post video to online video sites (i.e. YouTube, Vimio, etc.) may not include advertising with video gathered as a result of media access. Allowing users to embed these videos is not permitted, and the description any video must include a link to ussoccer.com.

APPENDIX III: NON-RIGHTS HOLDER AUDIO GUIDELINES

Radio Broadcasters

Play-by-Play Accounts: Play by play accounts are forbidden by non-rights holders at any time.

Non-Game Audio: Any online audio recorded as part of media access is limited to the use of eight (8) minutes per day/activity date. Audio posted on radio broadcaster web sites must comply with Online Guidelines below.

Online

Non-Game Audio: Any audio recorded as part of media access is limited to the use of eight (8) minutes per day/activity date. Online audio may not incorporate integrated advertising and must be accompanied by links to ussoccer.com.

APPENDIX III: LIVE WRITTEN UPDATES

All Media

Online or text reports (e.g., live blogs, twitter, etc.) concerning U.S. Soccer games while they are in progress ("Live Written Updates") are subject to following:

- While a game is in progress, any accounts of the game must be time-delayed and/or limited in amount so that the game coverage provided cannot be used as a substitute for authorized play-by-play accounts.
- Any suggestion by an individual or entity that live updates are being provided as a substitute for authorized play-by play accounts is strictly prohibited.
- Live updates may not use any audio, video or graphic simulations of U.S. Soccer games.
- Live updates must provide television and radio broadcast information for that U.S. Soccer Game. For example: "Tonight's U.S. Soccer Game is being broadcast live on (name of television/radio station)."
- All entities providing Live Updates must post a link to the ussoccer.com MatchTracker. All entities may also utilize U.S. Soccer's Twitter feed.
- All live updates must be free of charge to readers.

NOTE: This policy does not prohibit the posting of the facts of a game (e.g., goals scored, cards given, game score, and time remaining).
